Molotov to Berlin?

ROME, March 23, Saturday (AP). The Rome radio early today broadcast Berlin reports that Premier-Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov of Russia would arrive in the German capital during the day for a talk with Adolf Hitler on a possible rapprochement between Italy and Russia. The Italian press said Molotov was expected to stay in Berlin two days discussing the situation in the Balkans and the Brenner pass meeting last Monday between Hitler and Premier Mussolini.

[The Berlin propaganda ministry said it had no information on Molotov's reported trip to Berlin.]

The Italian press said considerable attention was expected to be given to Hitler's reported desire to improve relations between Moscow and Rome and perhaps still closer economic coöperation between Moscow and Berlin.

PARIS, March 22.—Paul Reynaud's day old government tonight decided to stay in office despite the fact that it had won the confidence of a reluctant chamber of deputies by a majority of only a single vote. The cabinet's decision was made public after a meeting that lasted an hour and a half.

"Seven Radical Socialist members of the government are standing by Premier Reynaud and in the present grave situation it is the cabinet's duty to remain at its post," said a communique. "The war committee will meet tomorrow."

The government gets a breathing spell until April 2 inasmuch as parliament will be in recess until that day. Reynaud's followers intimated they will use this time to attempt to gain more support for the new régime.

The Official Vote.

Out of 535 votes in the chamber there were 268 for Reynaud, 156 against, and 111 abstentions.

On the basis of actual votes cast, the margin was 112 for Reynaud's government, but because 111 members who were present refused to vote, they had to be counted in opposition to the vote of confidence. Thus Reynaud's absolute majority of those present in the chamber was just one vote.

Last Thursday the government of Edouard Daladier, Radical Socialist leader, resigned after a favorable vote of 239 to 1 with 300 abstentions.

The government emerged from its first precarious day of existence lacking only one man—Jean le Cour Grandmaison, the navy undersecretary. He resigned under pressure from his rightist party, the Republican federation. As if throwing down the gauntlet to the right, Reynaud announced that no one would be named to replace him.

Reynaud Defends Policy.

In a speech to the chamber this afternoon Reynaud—pronounced Rayno as if there were no "d" at the end—vigorously defended his policy in calling on the Socialists to join the government and in increasing the cabinet.

He then read this declaration of policy:

"France is engaged in a complete war.

"A powerful enemy is transforming and concentrating all its human activity into warfare in order to triumph.

"Aided by the treachery of the soviets, it is carrying the fight into all quarters and working out all the blows which it is giving with a sort of genius for destruction that we certainly do not fail to recognize as not only awe inspiring but at the same time hateful.

A "War to the End."

"By this fact alone the state of this war to the end is the whole stake.

"To win is to save everything. To lose is to lose all.

"Gentlemen: Parliament, exhibiting the national sentiment, has measured the terrible realities from every angle.

"Thus the government which pre-

BRITISH DETAIN LINER 13 HOURS; SEEK SCHACHT

Scan Passengers at Gibraltar.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ABOARD THE CONTE DI SAVOIA AT GIBRALTAR, March 22.—Sumner Welles, American undersecretary of state, was held up for 13 hours from dawn to dusk today at the Gates of Hercules while a British contraband control crew searched the Italian liner Conte di Savoia for Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, former German minister of economics and now a member of Adolf Hitler's cabinet as minister without portfolio.

Dr. Hjalmar Schacht.

Agents swarmed over the vessel on its arrival at Gibraltar at dawn. They informed the captain that they were seeking Schacht whom Welles had seen in Berlin and who was reported to be aboard, bound for the United States to improve German-American relations.

Officers Express Regrets.

The captain told the officers that if the German financial wizard were aboard and Italy were well disposed toward him he never would be found, no matter how extensive the search. However, he said he could inform them that the financier was not aboard the vessel. The officers expressed their regrets, but said that duty demanded that they search for Schacht.

Thruout the day they questioned 730 third class passengers, 225 from the second class, and 175 first class passengers. While each passenger was scrutinized and questioned about his travel plans by the officers, sailors and marines searched the vessel from stem to stern and from mast to bilge, looking into lifeboats, funnels, air vents, and other nooks and crannies of the 39,000 ton pride of the Italian merchant marine. Her sister ship, the Rex, was held up only three hours.

The British officers, questioned by newspaper men, admitted the search was the first of its kind in the way of passenger scrutiny. They explained that they might be seeking information or might be desirous of taking some person off the ship.

Welles Not Questioned.

Welles, a career diplomat homeward bound from a fact finding tour of Rome, Berlin, Paris, and London seeking a basis for a sound and lasting peace in Europe, was not questioned by the British. Because of diplomatic courtesy, his passports were set aside and his party was not questioned.

When Welles came to Europe on the Rex, that vessel was held at Gibraltar less than four hours. The 13 hour halt today threatened to delay his arrival for his report to President Roosevelt.

YOUNG WOMAN ENDS LIFE IN 1,000 FOOT DIVE FROM A PLANE

Santa Ana, Cal., March 22 (AP).—Louise Drolet, 24 years old, plunged 1,000 feet to her death from an airplane today, leaving a note saying, "It takes courage to do it, but it is cowardly to live an empty, ill life."

Pilot Joe Hager said the girl, pale and nervous, purchased a $1 ticket for the fatal ride, explaining she wanted to go aloft to win a $5 bet with a boy friend that she wasn't afraid to fly. When they neared a 1,000 foot altitude, Hager felt the plane lurch. Glancing back, he saw the woman about to leap. He attempted to stop her, but she tore from his grasp and lunged into space.

The body landed on a hillside field near Newport Beach, only a short distance from the young woman's Corona Del Mar home. The note was found in her motor car.

Lund Charges 75 Million Is Political Fund

Springfield, Ill., March 22 [Special].—A petition for an injunction to halt the spending of nearly 75 million dollars in state funds was filed today by State Representative Arnold L. Lund [R., Riverside]. Lund's brief, filed with the Sangamon county Circuit court here, charges that many appropriations are unconstitutional. He also charges that the Horner administration has been hiring thousands of unnecessary employés to work in the interest of certain Democratic candidates.

Rep. Arnold L. Lund.

Circuit Judge Lawrence E. Stone set the hearing on the petition for April 1.

If the injunction is granted, disbursements of $74,818,195 in appropriations, passed by the 1939 legislature, will have to await action at a special session of the general assembly. The court proceeding is directed against Gov. Henry Horner, State Auditor Edward J. Barrett, and State Treasurer Louie E. Lewis.

Seeks to Force Economy.

"The holding up of these moneys would not jeopardize the administration of ordinary state functions, but it would bring about some degree of economy," said Lund, who is a candidate for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor.

"Taxpayers will be benefited. Granting of this injunction would prevent the hiring of thousands of unnecessary pay rollers whose only duties will be to ring door bells for votes. It would save millions."

The proposed injunction also would restrain all state departments from using $3,318,195 in travel expense appropriations for buying automobiles.

"The state now owns more than 3,000 automobiles," Lund declared in a statement explaining his petition. "Not one automobile has been appropriated for in the last eight years. Ten years ago the state owned fewer than 100 cars.

Charges Law Is Violated.

"Purchase of thousands of joy-riding automobiles out of the travel expense fund has been in violation of the manner in which state funds may be expended under the constitution."

The complaint points out three different lump sum appropriations totaling $71,500,000 passed at the last session. These sums were allotted for the purpose of constructing, widening, and improving the state highway system, erecting route markers, warning signs, traffic signals, purchasing land, erecting buildings, investigating and reporting automobile accidents.

Lund declared it is plainly stated in the constitution that these items must be specified and the amount to be spent for each should be designated. As it is, there is no limit on the amount the administration can spend for each purpose, he said.

Quotes Article of Constitution.

The basis for the petition is section 16, article 5, of the 1870 constitution, which reads in part:

"Bills making appropriations of money out of the treasury shall specify the objects and purposes for which the same are made, and appropriate to them respectively their several amounts in distinct items and sections."

Lund cited numerous decisions by the Illinois Supreme court, holding that the legislature cannot bestow its power of itemizing appropriations upon any department head.

For more than a year Lund has been campaigning against waste in state tax money. Several months ago he published an analysis of state expenditures which advocated reductions totaling 57 million dollars for the 1939-'41 biennium.

Waste and Extravagance.

"The wastes and extravagances of the administration undoubtedly explain why not a single Democrat in the house voted for my bill to remove the sales tax from food and medicine," Lund said.

"As a result of my five weeks' tour of downstate, talking to people in 101 counties, I learned that the Democratic administration has been hiring thousands of additional pay rollers during the last few weeks. These employés obviously are petty politicians who will do no work except electioneering for their sponsors."

GEORGIA JARRED BY TERROR AND GRAFT CHARGES

14 Men Identified in Floggings.

Atlanta, Ga., March 22 [Special].—Georgia was rocked today by a series of developments in law enforcing circles that included the linking of peace officers to night riding bands of floggers, the indictment of a congressman, and a threat of legislative action in a political feud.

Rep. B. Frank Whelchel.

The activities further accentuated the turmoil in administrative departments caused by the bitter personal war in which Gov. E. D. Rivers called out the National Guard and was himself arrested by a United States marshal in his efforts to override a former political ally.

The Major Developments.

Action on the Georgia front included the following developments:

1. Authorities announced the positive identification of three deputy sheriffs, one a Ku Klux Klan leader, and eleven other persons as members of a band of floggers who have been terrorizing persons in the Atlanta area for more than a year.

2. A federal grand jury indicted Representative B. Frank Whelchel, Democrat, of the Ninth Georgia district, on charges of selling postal jobs.

3. A special session of the legislature was reported about to be called to take action to end the upheaval in the state government caused by Gov. Rivers' efforts to oust from office W. L. Miller, state highway chairman.

Victims Identify Floggers.

The 14 persons named as floggers were identified by witnesses and victims of whippings who appeared before a special grand jury of Fulton county [Atlanta].

John Boykin, solicitor general of the county, said the night riders were accused of beating to death at least one person and kidnaping and savagely lashing more than 20 others.

Altho the solicitor general made public no names, three Fulton county deputy sheriffs whose names had been associated with floggings turned in their badges to the sheriff and wrote identical letters requesting leaves of absence. The three deputies, Herb Eidson, Edward Burdette, and W. W. Scarborough, protested their innocence and declared they would clear their names.

One an Admitted Klansman.

Deputy Eidson previously had been named a member of a band of floggers. Burdette had been mentioned by a county policeman as a member of a suspicious group of men questioned in connection with a flogging. And Scarborough admitted he is exalted cyclops of the Ku Klux Klan of East Point, an Atlanta suburb where many of the whippings have taken place.

Meanwhile, the county grand jury indicted Raymond Bryan of East Point, a city mechanic, on two counts charging assault with intent to murder. He was arrested on a warrant sworn out by a special flogging investigator.

Bryan was charged with beating W. R. Jackson of Atlanta with a leather strap at a woodland spot where he was taken by twelve abductors, and with participating in the beating of James E. Wilkes of East Point during an attempt to abduct him.

Charges Against Congressman.

The indictment against Representative Whelchel charges him with violating federal statutes prohibiting the sale of government appointments. Indicted with him was H. Grady Jones, commissioner of Pickens county.

Whelchel was accused of receiving thru Jones $1,100 for appointing Hulon E. Holcomb as rural mail carrier at Ball Ground, Ga.; $1,100 for naming Paul Grogan to a similar position in the same postoffice, and that

Empires' Deal for U. S. Army Airplanes Near

Washington, D. C., March 22 [Special].—Plans to make available for purchase by Great Britain and France 2,000 of the latest type planes ordered by the United States army were reported to be nearing completion today.

Officials were said to have decided on this program after staff conferences at the war department, which followed earlier discussions on the subject among President Roosevelt, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr., and army officials.

It was reported in New York last week that American plane manufacturers had suddenly suspended their negotiations with British and French purchasing missions after the scheduling of a congressional investigation of the sale of aircraft abroad. However, a few days later Arthur B. Purvis, head of the British-French mission, asserted the negotiations for purchasing the American planes were progressing steadily.

Increase Plane Production.

The reported decision to make the 2,000 planes available to the empires, at an approximate cost of a billion dollars, was said to have been influenced by the conclusion of officials that such a program would so increase American plane production that large reserves no longer would be essential.

In this connection it was pointed out that of the 5,500 planes which congress authorized for construction by next July 1, about 2,000 were intended for use as reserves. With increased production making rapid building possible, it was said, the need for these reserves would be lessened. Therefore it was reported to have been decided that many planes which have been ordered by the army, and on which it has priority, could be made available to the empires.

Planes Obsolete in 6 Months.

When the program for vast expansion of the American air force was launched in 1938, army experts, who had followed developments in Spain and China, estimated 2,000 reserve planes would be necessary to maintain a first line fighting force of 3,500 planes. The program authorized by congress, therefore, contemplated 5,500 planes, including reserves.

Now, however, with American aircraft production increased last year because of foreign buying, the need for so many reserve planes has been greatly reduced, officials contend. They said that planes are becoming obsolete in an average of six months, and because of this they would prefer not to load up with reserve planes.

These officials argue further it would be better to have planes tested under wartime conditions, and improved as a result of these tests, than to get all the authorized planes in a hurry. As long as secrets are not disclosed, they contend, congress scarcely can object if the July 1, 1941 deadline is met on foreign procurements of United States aircraft.

Defense Position Strengthened.

From a national viewpoint, these officials assert, the nation's defense position will be strengthened if the United States can get foreign powers to pay cash for large scale plant expansion.

Still another factor said to influence the aircraft selling program is the obvious desire of President Roosevelt to aid the empires by all measures short of war. Production figures indicate that Germany still is outbuilding Britain and France in aircraft.

THOUGHT FOR EASTER: WEAR YOUR COAT, EVEN IF YOUR SUIT IS NEW

Chicago's springtime-winter weather dipped to 9 above zero at 2:35 o'clock this morning, making it almost certain that tomorrow will be an overcoat Easter. There's one hopeful sign, however. The day will be fair, according to Forecaster A. J. Knarr.

Yesterday's temperatures ranged from 13 degrees in the early morning hours to a high of 20 degrees in the afternoon.

Knarr said the present cold wave extends over the north central section of the country from Alaska to northern Illinois and Indiana. He said the warm rays of the sun were protecting the city from zero and subzero temperatures. The weather man wouldn't predict when the cold wave would end.

Beasts in French Zoos Are Neutrals; They'll Get Meat

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, March 22.—Animals in French zoos will get their regular meat rations despite the country's three meatless days. This was assured today when it was announced that lions, tigers, and other meat eating beasts are regarded as neutrals and will be fed their 18 pounds of raw beef daily, except on Monday. They are not fed on Mondays, war or peace, to keep their waistlines in.

Anna, Stage's Most Beloved Hoofer, Dead

Rockleigh, N. J., March 22 (AP).—Anna, a famous stage and movie horse, died today in her stable. She was 39 years old, nearly double the life span of the average horse.

Anna.

A theatrical "prop" horse until her retirement three and a half years ago, Anna was ridden by the late Rudolph Valentino in the motion picture "The Sheik." For many years she appeared in opera in New York and abroad and on numerous occasions was used by Caruso in "Aida."

Douglas Hertz, owner of the Pegasus Polo club here, bought her from a theatrical property agent in 1936 and placed her in retirement on the club's rolling meadows.

She Didn't Look Old.

Hertz said Anna belied her age. Altho her white coat was thin and her step uncertain, her vision and hearing were good, Hertz said, and she even had a few teeth left.

Two years ago Hertz staged a party for the horse on her 37th birthday. Many notables were there to do her honor.

Anna will be cremated tomorrow and her ashes will be taken to the Metropolitan Opera house in New York on Thursday for funeral services. A hearse drawn by retired work horses, Anna's companions at the Pegasus club, will bring the funeral urn back to New Jersey.

"Never Missed a Cue."

From opera stars came expressions of regret. Elisabeth Rethberg, soprano, said Anna "was a real trouper and in countless performances of 'Aida' she carried off her rôles like a veteran. She never missed a cue and knew her entrances and exits so well that the property man never had to worry."

Ezio Pinza, basso, said he was "sure that here is one animal who will go on to the Valhalla of horses."

Maynard Washburn paid $500 for his appointment as postmaster at Tate.

The congressman also was alleged to have agreed to accept $1,500 to procure appointment of T. L. Harris as postmaster at Ball Ground. Harris did not receive the appointment, the indictment said, but later was named temporary rural carrier at the same postoffice.

The grand jury action was announced by O. John Rogge, assistant attorney general from Washington, D. C., who has been in Atlanta for several days assisting United States District Attorney Lawrence Camp in presenting the charges. The defendants will be arraigned on Monday, Rogge said.

Whelchel, a three term representative from a mountainous area in north Georgia, called the indictments political persecution by publicity-seeking lawyers from Washington. He denied any misconduct and said he would seek reëlection this year in order to receive vindication from his constituents.

Special Session Sought.

Rogge, in a formal statement, indicated that a large scale federal investigation of affairs in Georgia might be forthcoming soon. The federal prosecutor, whose activities in Louisiana were credited with breaking the old Huey Long machine, would not say if Georgia holds the "similar situation" which he had said was slated for federal attention after the Louisiana cleanup.

Reports of a movement to call the legislature into special session were confirmed by Speaker Roy V. Harris of the state house of representatives. Even legislators friendly to Gov. Rivers' administration were said to be desirous of taking some action to end his feud with Miller.

The governor has ignored both state and federal court orders directing that he cease interference with Miller's attempts to return to his job, from which Rivers fired him last December. The governor placed the state highway building under martial law. His defiance of a federal court order resulted in his arrest last week on a civil contempt citation.

SEEK SUBPENAS FOR 6 OFFICIALS FOR SLUSH QUIZ

Springfield, Ill., March 22 (AP).—Circuit Judge L. E. Stone was asked today to issue subpenas for six state employés who failed to appear yesterday at a deposition hearing for questioning in connection with the suit of State Policeman Sylvester Steskal, who is seeking a court accounting of Democratic campaign funds.

Steskal's attorney, Walter T. Day, filed the motion for subpenas, asserting the six witnesses were collectors for the Illinoisans, an organization which Steskal charged assessed 2 per cent of state employés' salaries for political campaign purposes.

Judge Stone deferred a ruling until Tuesday when motions to dismiss the suit against State Finance Director Samuel L. Nudelman and eight other Democratic state officials will be heard. Nudelman declared at a hearing recently that state employés contributed voluntarily to the campaign fund.

GIRL PENS SPRING SLOGAN: TEAM-UP WITH CLEAN-UP

"Team-up with Clean-up" will be the official battle cry of the Chicago Association of Commerce during its annual clean-up, paint-up, and light-up campaign April 22 to May 4, Leverett S. Lyon, chief executive officer of the association, announced yesterday that this slogan was the winner over entries from more than 10,000 elementary and high school contestants.

It was submitted by Irene Murdock, 17 years old, of 2327 Ohio street. She is a junior in the McKinley High school.

"Pick Up! Slick Up!" was the slogan submitted by the Stockton Elementary school. It won first place among elementary school entries, and was second in the city wide contest. A. A. Gray was chairman of the judging committee.

Scores of residents in the neighborhood of Western avenue and 47th place were awakened early today when a sewer cover was hurled high in the air by an explosion of sewer gas.

A GOOD FRIDAY SPELL IS CAST OVER POLITICS

Candidates Observe Day of Restful Quiet.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Political campaigning in Chicago had a lull yesterday because of the observance of Good Friday. No meetings were held by Richard J. Lyons or Wayland Brooks, Republican candidates, respectively, for governor and senator. A delegation of women attorneys called on Lyons and promised support because of his pledge of an adequate state welfare program.

Mrs. Mary Berkemeier Quinn, who headed the group, said only seven other states besides Illinois are not sharing in federal funds now available for aid to dependent children.

Assails Inadequate Laws.

"There are about 70,000 dependent children in Illinois who are eligible for this federal support," she said. "But they cannot get it because our mothers' pension law does not conform with the federal social security act. With only state and local funds available, benefits are restricted to 17,000 children, and allotments average only $19 a month in Cook county and $6.50 downstate."

Lyons told the group he regards reorganization of the welfare program as one of the genuinely important problems for the next governor."

Today Brooks and Lyons are to appear at an organization meeting in the Hotel Sherman at 1 p. m. Later they will attend a women's rally in the hotel, with Mrs. Mabel Krutckoff presiding.

R. M. Adams, chairman of the Lyons for governor citizens' committee, announced a series of radio broadcasts over WCFL to be sponsored by members of the executive committee. The dates are April 1 at 8:15 p.m.; April 2 and 4, at 8:45 p. m., and April 8 at 8:15 p. m.

Justus Johnson Indorsed.

Charles J. Fleck, Cook county manager for Justus L. Johnson of Aurora, Republican candidate for secretary of state, said yesterday that 22 of the 25 members of the Republican state committee have indorsed Johnson's candidacy. In Cook county, Fleck says, many ward and country town organizations are distributing ballots marked for Johnson.

State Senator Earl B. Searcy of Springfield, candidate for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor, said last night that Republicans will have much unscrambling of state affairs to do when elected. He spoke at a 2d ward meeting.

"Let Republicans contemplate the job ahead when we take over next January," said Searcy. "We shall have a complex state structure to simplify, a lot of useless branches to lop off. We shall have to unscramble the present old age dole and make a dignified and bona fide pension of it. We must tackle a confused revenue system and effect economies that will permit a reduction in taxes; we must make vote stealing an impossibility."

JOHN O'REILLY, SERVING LIFE, IS GRANTED PAROLE

Indianapolis, Ind., March 22 (AP).—John O'Reilly, onetime member of the Chicago gang headed by the oft arrested Frankie McErlane, was paroled today from his life sentence for the roadhouse murder of Thaddeus Fancher, Crown Point attorney, in 1924.

Fancher was slain the night of May 4 in a resort known as the "Half Way House," between Crown Point and Cedar Lake. O'Reilly, Alex McCabe, and McErlane subsequently were arrested, the latter two in Illinois.

The Indiana clemency commission record shows that evidence at O'Reilly's trial indicated the McErlane gang was a bidder for the highly remunerative prohibition liquor business in Lake county and that the Fancher killing "indirectly" was the result of its operations.

It was shown also at the O'Reilly trial, the commission said, that O'Reilly did not fire the shot which killed Fancher. McErlane and McCabe were acquitted after two trials. O'Reilly, who was tried first, pleaded innocent.

FATALLY HURT IN TUNNEL.

Edward Whalen, 49 years old, 6411 Kenwood avenue, an employé of the Chicago Tunnel Transport company, 754 Jackson boulevard, was fatally injured yesterday when he was crushed between a moving carrier and a wall in the tunnel in South Water street, just east of Michigan avenue.

SEEK TO LEARN IF SMITH PAPERS ARE CONCEALED

Attorney General Asked About Safe Opening.

An attempt was made yesterday to learn if any of the private papers of F. Lynden Smith, late state director of public works, are being concealed to prevent embarrassment to other Horner administration officials.

John Cassidy.

Attorney General John Cassidy, whose inheritance tax investigators opened the safe in Smith's Pontiac lumber company office Thursday, refused to give any information concerning his agents' intentions or findings.

Smith, former No. 1 adviser to Gov. Horner and head of the administration slush collecting agency, died under mysterious circumstances March 9 in a Springfield hospital. Eight bulky packages of records were reported to have been deposited in his safe a few days before his death.

Why Was Safe Opened?

Attorney General Cassidy was interviewed by a reporter in his office as he was making preparations to go to Washington, D. C.

"Did your men open Smith's safe for the purpose of suppressing any of its contents?" he was asked.

Cassidy flushed.

"Young man, you are violating all the rules of newspaper ethical conduct!" he shouted. "You have no right to come in here and ask such a question!"

"Why weren't the newspapers told the safe was going to be opened?" persisted the reporter.

"There is no reason I should call the newspapers whenever my men do anything," Cassidy snapped.

Public Is Much Interested.

"We think the public is very much interested in the case," the reporter said. "If the newspapers had been notified, suspicions that anything was wrong would have been allayed."

"There was nothing to suspect," said Cassidy shortly. "If you want to know anything about the contents of that safe you will have to go to the Smith family."

Questions about the present whereabouts of the papers and whether they were still in custody of Cassidy's office were met with the same reply, and the information that Cassidy was in a hurry to get to Washington.

"Do your men investigate all private safes and safe deposit boxes in case of death?" the reporter asked.

"It's part of the routine to examine all boxes in the presence of the administrator and members of the family," Cassidy said. "A list is made of all the contents to be appraised."

No administrator has been appointed in the Smith estate. According to reports from Pontiac, Smith's widow, Mrs. Marian Smith, was present when Cassidy's men examined Smith's papers. Paul Sparks, manager of the lumber company, and Mrs. Sparks also were there. Sparks is expected to be appointed one of the administrators. He said no papers were removed from the safe, and that all the papers concerned lumber company business.

Cassidy said he would have a public statement to make on the Smith case Tuesday, when he returns from Washington.

It was incorrectly stated in early editions of yesterday's TRIBUNE that Edwin A. Dayton, a collector for the Horner 2 per cent slush fund, was an employé of the attorney general's office. The misinformation was obtained from a deposition filed at Springfield in connection with a suit to enjoin use of the campaign fund. Dayton is employed in the adjutant general's office.

COLLEAGUE OF DIES LAYS NEW OBSTACLE TO ADMINISTRATION

Washington, D. C., March 22 (AP).—Representative J. Parnell Thomas [R., N. J.], member of the Dies committee, complained today that delay in sentencing Nicholas Dozenberg in New York for passport violation was for the purpose of keeping him from the committee's witness stand.

"Dozenberg is a key to the most startling exposures ever to come before the committee," Thomas said. "Any further delay will have the appearance of one more case of sabotage of the Dies committee by a New Deal agency, the department of justice."

The Dies committee has sought Dozenberg, who pleaded guilty to obtaining a passport by false representations, for questioning about Russian secret activities in the United States. Committee officials tried unsuccessfully to bring him to Washington from New York two weeks ago.

Michigan Officials Fight Chicago Lake Diversion

Lansing, Mich., March 22 [Special].—Michigan officials announced plans today to go to Washington next week to participate in arguments before the Supreme court in opposition to petitions of Chicago and Illinois for permission to increase diversion of water from Lake Michigan into the Illinois waterway. Attorney General Thomas Read said he and James W. Williams, an assistant, would attend the Supreme court hearing.

KEEP AWAY FROM NATIONAL GUARD, POLITICIANS TOLD

Act After Member Tells of Job Threat.

Officers of the Illinois National Guard warned last night that no political interference with the guard membership will be tolerated.

Herbert J. Rost.

Their warning followed an informal complaint by Herbert J. Rost, a company clerk of the 108th Engineers, that he had been threatened with the loss of his clerkship job unless he volunteered to work for the Democratic party.

Rost, 20 years old, lives at 1820 South 49th court, Cicero. He asserted the threat was made by Congressman Anton F. Maciejewski of Cicero, a candidate for renomination. The congressman denied Rost's accusation last night.

Won't Tolerate Politicians.

Maj. Gen. Roy D. Keehn, commander of the 33d division, National Guard, was informed of the complaint. "The National Guard is a citizens' army," he said. "The men have the right to work politically if they wish. They also have the right not to work politically if they wish.

"We frown on any effort to drag the guard as such, into politics. Under no circumstances will we tolerate it. And we do not permit political assessments against our men. Rost need not worry about his clerkship job."

Col. Karl E. Hobart, head of the 108th Engineers, said he would give Rost full protection. He said Rost is a federal soldier, and he could see no way in which a politician could get Rost's job.

Ordered to Two Meetings.

Rost said he received letters to attend two political meetings where Congressman Maciejewski spoke. Both meetings were attended by state employés. Rost asserted he told Maciejewski that he was a guardsman and not a state employé, but that Maciejewski told him to get out and work or he would not have his clerkship job.

"I don't even remember Rost," said the congressman. "I spoke to a group of 130 men. He might have been among them, but if he was and if he had told me he was a guardsman, I would have chased him out."

National Guard officials and others said Rost probably was ordered to the political meetings by mistake. As a company clerk he receives $10 a month from the state and is on the state pay roll. His name, it is known, was included in the lists of state employés ordered to attend rallies.

POLITICS UPSETS LEAH HERSHEY'S ACTIVITY BUDGET

Usually Home, but Finds She's Very Busy.

BY MARCIA WINN.

When Leah Stapleton married Harry B. Hershey in 1912, he was campaigning for state's attorney of Christian county. The Hersheys have a grandson now, another Harry, and Harry B. Hershey is again campaigning.

That is why Leah Hershey feels she knows politics. But from the sidelines, she adds, for that is where she has viewed it always. The present campaign, in which her husband seeks the Democratic nomination for governor, has affected only one phase of her budgeted activity, her reading. It is an important phase.

Campaign Makes Inroads.

"See what this campaign has done to me?" She picked a copy of a new French novel, "Valparaiso," by Rene Jouglet, from a table in the homelike living room of her comfortable brick and stucco house in Taylorville, Christian county. She ruffled its uncut pages. "This came in December. I haven't had time to open it yet."

Several years ago Mrs. Hershey decided she would have to slow her personal merry-go-round. One son, Auguste, now 27, was married and a chemical engineer for the Standard Oil company in Baton Rouge, La. The other, Richard, now 23, was studying at Harvard Law school. To fill the gaps she had entered into a whirlwind of club and philanthropic duties.

"I soon discovered I was doing too much," she says, "so I began to budget my activity. I needed some leisure to enjoy life and read. Now I almost have it."

Essentially a Housewife.

Mrs. Hershey says she is essentially a housewife. Her house, which she and her husband designed, is a one woman house, built so she can care for it in as little time as possible. She always has done most of her housework and still does.

She is a talented musician and a fine conversationalist. She is quick, birdlike and wiry, has big brown eyes, shining behind spectacles, and dark brown hair wound close to her head. Her hands are delicate and nervous, dexterous at the piano or needlework, but inept with a deck of cards.

She attributes most of her tastes, her love of music and her talent at handiwork [her home is full of it—crocheted antimacassars on every chair, needlepoint on the piano bench, hooked rugs on the bedroom floors, a crocheted popcorn spread on a bed] to her Gallic extraction. Her grandfather, Auguste Cazalot, followed La Salle's course down from Canada and settled at Assumption in 1860, where she was born.

Her French mother trained her from infancy in needlework and thrift but it was her father, Joseph H. Stapleton, a grain dealer and lumber merchant whose family had migrated westward from Virginia, who insisted that she have a fine scholastic education as well.

Meets Husband at School.

That is how she met Harry Hershey. The Assumption High school was not accredited, so she went 15 miles away to Taylorville where Harry, one year her senior, lived. Later she went to the Illinois State Teachers college for a year, to Oberlin college for two years and to Smith college, where she received a B. A. degree. Along with it all, she studied piano.

Finally she came back to Assumption to teach English. Harry, whom she had seen only on her vacations, had in the meantime become city attorney of Taylorville. He decided to run for state's attorney and a bride at the same time, and won both. They moved to Decatur then, where they remained until 1920.

"He hasn't run for public office since 1920," Mrs. Hershey says, "for which I have been very thankful, but he was active in every political campaign. I? O, I usually have stayed right here at home. I'm really very busy."

SENATOR ASSERTS CROMWELL WILL RESIGN AS ENVOY

Washington, D. C., March 22 (AP).—A senator who is in close touch with foreign affairs predicted today the resignation of James H. R. Cromwell, United States minister to Canada, who was reprimanded by Secretary of State Cordell Hull for making a pro-empire address in Toronto Tuesday.

This senator, who asked that his name be withheld, said that Cromwell, soon after resigning, probably would announce his candidacy for the Democratic senatorial nomination in New Jersey. Senator W. Warren Barbour [R., N. J.] is seeking reëlection there this year.

Meanwhile, at Somerville, N. J., where Cromwell is visiting, a spokesman said the minister has no intention of resigning. Cromwell expects to come to Washington early next week to confer with President Roosevelt, the spokesman added.

Bystander Shot During Quarrel of WPA Workers

Frank Sadrick, 36 years old, 1926 South Springfield avenue, was shot and seriously wounded yesterday by one of two colored WPA workers who were quarreling over a 50 cent debt in front of 5528 South Elizabeth street. Sadrick, also employed on a WPA paving project, was standing by when the gun was discharged accidentally. Its owner fled.

BARRETT LEADS G. O. P. RACE FOR ATTY. GENERAL

Party Chiefs Give Credit to Aggressive Campaign.

BY PARKE BROWN.

As the result of his aggressive, incessant campaigning over a nine month period, party leaders claim a decided lead for George F. Barrett in the race for the Republican nomination for attorney general of Illinois.

George F. Barrett.

These leaders, including some who are not supporting him, were asked yesterday for their views on this contest. They said that not only was Barrett the one candidate for this office who has made an active, statewide campaign, but that Barrett had put up one of the best single handed campaigns ever seen in the state.

Pledge Cards Come Back.

The candidate himself said that since starting out last June he has traveled 41,000 miles by automobile, has covered 93 of the 101 downstate counties, and has visited more than 300 cities, towns, and villages, in most of which he made speeches. In addition to this he has sent out approximately a million pieces of printed campaign material, including pledge cards.

"The pledge cards are coming back now at the rate of several hundred a day," said Barrett when he was asked about tangible results from his work.

Inquiries indicated that the marked sample ballots used by Cook county organizations will be marked with a cross before his name by probably 45 of the 50 ward committeemen and about 25 of the 30 township committeemen.

As has been known generally, Barrett admitted that he had kept his own candidacy clear of the battles over the nominations for governor and United States senator.

Fights Vote Frauds.

While observers ascribe much of Barrett's campaign success to his aggressiveness, they say also that his efforts have been well received because of his personality and his platform. Altho a premature sparsity of hair is deceptive, Barrett's 37 years make him one of the youngest important aspirants to major state office in recent years, and he is an accomplished speaker of considerable polish.

His platform starts with a plank particularly applicable to the attorney generalship—"Stop vote frauds!" and he has hammered at this subject as an expert qualified by several years of service as a member of the Cook county central committee. Other planks call for investigation of the "Little New Deal," for fair play administration of the sales tax, and for putting an end to 2 per cent political assessments and graft and corruption among state employés.

None of the other five candidates for this nomination has approached the speed and energy displayed by Barrett. The three considered important entrants when they filed were Former Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom, Charles W. Hadley, a candidate in former years, and Edward A. Hayes of Decatur.

It was young Lin's second marriage. His first wife, Anita Zabala Howard, divorced him in Reno two years ago.

MACFADDEN OUT FOR U. S. SENATE FROM FLORIDA

Miami, Fla., March 22 (AP).—Bernarr Macfadden, magazine publisher, announced tonight that he would seek the United States senate seat now held by Charles O. Andrews [D., Fla.].

Macfadden said he would fly his own plane to Tallahassee tomorrow to qualify for the Democratic primary May 7. Other candidates include Andrews, Charles Francis Coe, the writer; Gov. Fred P. Cone, and three others.

Macfadden said, "I am definitely against every form of socialism, and much of the New Deal is just socialism under a new name."

BOSSISM ROUSES DOWNSTATE IRE, SAYS ADAMOWSKI

Housecleaning Wanted, He Finds During Tour.

State Representative Benjamin S. Adamowski borrowed a phrase yesterday from Gov. Henry Horner's war talk of 1936 when the Democratic state machine was battling the Chicago machine.

"The prairies are afire!" he said. He has just returned from a campaign tour downstate.

Adamowski is a candidate for United States senator on the insurgent Democratic ticket with Lieut. Gov. John Stelle, running for governor, and State Auditor E. J. Barrett, who is seeking renomination. He was asked to describe the conditions he found downstate and he used the same sentence Horner chose four years ago under similar circumstances.

Pleased with Response.

"Not only have we been pleased but also surprised at the temper and attitude of our audiences three times a day," Adamowski asserted.

"The evidence is conclusive that voters are aroused to the necessity of a Democratic house cleaning and elimination of the boss rule that now imperils our party."

Adamowski said he and his associates appeared at 51 meetings during their tour and that they will speak at more than 150 meetings in Cook county during the two weeks remaining before the primary.

Gutknecht Rakes Courtney.

In the tenth of his series of radio speeches as a Democratic candidate for state's attorney, Municipal Judge John Gutknecht last night attacked the incumbent of that office, Thomas J. Courtney, as not being squarely for President Roosevelt and the New Deal.

"Since 1932 no one has ever heard you say one word of praise for Roosevelt until last Monday when I smoked it out of you," said the judge.

"You are today half-heartedly—it is true—on the Roosevelt bandwagon because you were told I intended to emphasize your continued failure to give true credit to our Democratic leader. You got in office as I did in 1932, on Roosevelt's coat tails.

No Aid of "Magic" Name.

"And again in 1936 you got in on Roosevelt's coat tails while I led the ticket in 1938 by tens of thousands without having the magic of Roosevelt's name on the ballot.

"Besides, I have become known thruout the country as an ardent supporter of humanity in office and a new deal for the masses.

"I came out for Roosevelt for a third term months ago when you dared not mention his name—and what is more I have lived the New Deal in my official work while you have played the old deal."

FOUND HANGED IN HOTEL.

A well dressed man, about 37 years old, was found hanged yesterday in his room in the Dasher hotel, 1632 Belmont avenue. He had registered the night before as J. Jill Oak Park.

4 STRONG G. O. P. RIVALS OUT FOR LIEUT. GOVERNOR

Five Seeking Nomination for Treasurer.

[This is one of a series of informal sketches of the leading candidates for state offices in the April 9 primaries.]

BY PERCY WOOD.

Rival political ambitions have thrown a field of four strong candidates into the contest for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor at the April primaries. In the race for the G. O. P. nomination for state treasurer only one fairly well known name appears.

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR

The candidates for lieutenant governor are:

STATE SENATOR EARL B. SEARCY of Springfield, 52 year old veteran of almost 20 years' experience in the legislature. Born in Palmyra, Ill., he was a statehouse newspaper reporter before the war, leaving his job for the army. He served as a sergeant in the 311th infantry, with front line fighting in St. Mihiel and the Argonne.

After the war Searcy entered politics, following in the footsteps of his father, the late Representative James B. Searcy. He was elected to the house in 1920, taking the seat once held by Abraham Lincoln. In 1922 he advanced to the senate, has been reelected every four years since, and is now serving his fifth term in the upper chamber.

Searcy fought the Len Small machine to win his senate seat and continued fighting it after his election. In succeeding years he also fought the dry law as bigoted, the New Deal as dictatorship, and the Horner organization as squanderers.

A large, friendly man with a good platform presence, Searcy is one of the best speakers in the legislature. He is a fair and cool debater, and an attentive observer of senate procedure. As floor leader during the 1937 session he watched the Democrats closely.

BRIG. GEN. JOHN V. CLINNIN of Glencoe is a big, rugged man of 64, with an impressive military record extending over 25 years. Enlisting in the old "Dandy First" infantry regiment—now the 131st — in 1894, he served in all grades from private thru colonel, and was retired as a brigadier general in 1922.

He fought at Santiago de Cuba in the Spanish-American war, commanded the 130th infantry in the Somme offensive, and at St. Mihiel and the Argonne in 1918, and was wounded at Consenvoye about a month before the armistice.

Gen. Clinnin holds the distinguished service medal, the purple heart, and the silver star medal for valor. He is a lawyer, and between military tours of duty has held several political offices, including the chairmanship of the Illinois Athletic commission.

At present he is minority member of the state civil service commission by appointment of Gov. Horner. In prior years he was chief deputy recorder of deeds, assistant corporation counsel, and first assistant United States attorney. Gen. Clinnin ran for the lieutenant governorship nomination in 1936 but was defeated by George Hatzenbuhler. He was born on a farm in Kane county.

SPEAKER HUGH CROSS of the Illinois house of representatives is a resident of Jerseyville, where he was born 43 years ago. At the opening of his fourth term in Springfield last year he was selected as speaker, in which difficult post the Legislative Voters league said he "displayed fairness, moderation, judgment, and abilities which made him one of the outstanding figures in the legislature."

The speaker wielded a soothing gavel, rapping down quarrels whenever he could and seeking a workmanlike performance from the 153 representatives he ruled. He made far more friends than enemies by this course.

Above medium height, somewhat reserved and prematurely gray, Cross has a sober exterior but a well developed sense of humor. He is a graduate of the University of Illinois Law school, is married, and has two children. Besides practicing law, he operates an abstracting company and has farm lands.

STATE REPRESENTATIVE ARNOLD L. LUND of Riverside, who declares another series of economy recommendations would save Illinois $57,000,000 if the statehouse Democrats would follow them, went farther in politics during this, his first term in Springfield, than do most members. He was so active that he won frowns from old-timers who thought a freshman should be seen but not heard. Lund wasn't that kind of freshman.

He introduced a bill to repeal the sales tax on food, and created another stir by demanding an investigation of the Illinois commerce commission after it was revealed that while Senator James M. Slattery was its chairman his daughter invested $25,000 in utility stock and made a profit. Lund failed at both these efforts, but he made himself known.

Lund is a young man [only 36], tall, watches his weight, and is a winning handshaker. He is both a lawyer and operator of motion picture theaters.

Also running for the lieutenant governorship nomination are Guy C. Crapple, 163 North Long avenue; William Jerome, 3111 Nottingham avenue, and Charles Hindley of Peoria. They do not have strong organization support.

STATE TREASURER

In the race for the nomination for state treasurer are:

WARREN WRIGHT of Springfield, best known of a field of five. Formerly a resident of Jacksonville, Wright was for four years chairman of the Morgan county central committee and later served on the state committee. He was the nominee for congress in the 20th district in 1934, and also tried for congressman-at-large in 1936, falling each time.

DR. HOWARD W. TROVILLION is a dental surgeon practicing in Alton and a member of a well known political family in the southern part of the state. He formerly lived in Peoria, where he served on the city and county central committees. Dr. Trovillion is a graduate of Washington university in St. Louis, and is making his first try for important office.

ACQUILLA CORNELIUS LEWIS of Oak Park was born in Harrisburg, Ill., is 52 years old, and graduated in law from the University of Michigan. He practiced in Harrisburg before coming to Oak Park in 1931, and was for five years an assistant attorney general under Oscar E. Carlstrom. At one time he was attorney for the United Mine Workers, but says he is no relation of either John L. Lewis, boss of the U. M. W., or of Loule E. Lewis, state treasurer.

Other candidates in this race are James A. Dayton, 430 Pine avenue, and Frank J. Storc, 2440 North Washtenaw avenue, both politically unknown.

JUDGE TO DECIDE APR. 3 ON PAPER'S CONTEMPT CASE

St. Louis, Mo., March 22 (AP).—Arguments in the contempt of court proceedings against the Post-Dispatch and three members of its editorial staff were completed today and the case was taken under advisement until April 3 by Circuit Judge Thomas J. Rowe.

The judge had cited the newspaper and its employés to show cause why they should not be punished for contempt because of editorial criticism of the dismissal in his court of extortion charges against John P. Nick, former head of the Motion Picture Operators' union, and State Representative Edward M. Brady. Judge Rowe also is hearing the case.

Jacob M. Lashly, of counsel for the Post-Dispatch, declared in his closing argument that the general rule in law was that a newspaper publication criticizing the actions of a judge in a concluded case did not constitute contempt of court, even tho libelous. William R. Gentry, appointed by the court as special counsel, made the closing argument in support of the citation.

The three Post-Dispatch employés cited by Judge Rowe are Managing Editor Ben R. Reese, Ralph Coghlan, editor of the editorial page, and Daniel R. Fitzpatrick, cartoonist. A motion for dismissal of the citation against Reese has been made on the ground he had no connection with or responsibility for the editorial comment.

Judge Hermes Frees Saltis, Prohibition Beer Runner

Joe Saltis, beer runner during prohibition days, was freed yesterday by Judge Joseph B. Hermes in Stockyards court on a charge of disorderly conduct. Saltis was arrested Wednesday for investigation. Police said yesterday Saltis is not wanted in connection with any crime. Saltis said he is living at 9859 South Bell avenue.

HERMES FREES 4 AND REPRIMANDS COP THEY INJURED

One Is Political Worker in Judge's Ward.

Four defendants, one of them a political worker, were freed of charges of disorderly conduct yesterday by Judge Joseph B. Hermes in Stockyards court. At the same time the judge delivered a stern reprimand to the policeman who arrested the four men.

Judge Hermes is one of 12 Democratic Municipal court judges seeking renomination in the April 9 primary.

The defendants were accused of resisting arrest so strenuously that the policeman suffered a dislocated shoulder in the mêlée. Judges Hermes smilingly dismissed them with the comment that they were good boys and all residents of his ward, the 14th.

Wanted for Robbery Quiz.

Policeman James Prendergast of the New City station testified he had arrested the four men early on March 17 as they sat in a car in front of 4731 South Ashland avenue. He wanted to question them about a robbery which had been committed a short time before.

The four resisted. Prendergast drew his gun and blew his whistle, summoning a squad car in which were Policemen William Milton and Alfred Majeske. Prendergast said that as they drove up and he put his gun away, two of the men knocked him to the ground. His right shoulder was dislocated and his lip cut.

At the station the four identified themselves as Thomas Bako, 4759 South Ada street, a city alley inspector and 14th ward Democratic worker; Henry Piasecki, 5007 South Bishop street, an insurance clerk; Walter Szymanski, 4846 Throop street, a watchman; and Thaddeus Sypniewski of 4748 South Elizabeth street, a janitor.

Made Me Mad, He Says.

In court Piasecki was indignant. He told Judge Hermes that when Prendergast announced he was going to question them, "it made me so mad I lost my head and went after him." Piasecki complained his eye glasses had been broken. Judge Hermes turned to the policeman.

"You're just like a wild man when you get started," admonished the court. "I know you from other cases. If they got mad, they had the right to do so." [There was no mention of what the other cases were or what they had to do with the one on trial].

"I know these boys," continued Judge Hermes. "They live in my ward. They're good citizens. I know they're all right. All charges are dismissed. I suggest you pay for Piasecki's glasses, Prendergast, but I can't order you to do it."

Judge Hermes lives at 5426 South Bishop street. The Chicago Bar association recently polled its members on the qualifications of the 12 judges who are candidates for reëlection this year. With 100 as a perfect score, Judge Hermes ranked 10th of the 12 with 36.92 points.

2,000 AT SPRINGFIELD CHEER AS GREEN HITS KELLY-NASH MACHINE

Springfield, Ill., March 22 [Special]. An audience of 2,000 persons gave Dwight H. Green, Republican candidate for governor, an enthusiastic reception tonight at the Springfield Elks club. They cheered his attack on the Kelly-Nash Democratic machine and his promise to "destroy its strangle hold on the people of Illinois."

"Illinois must be rescued for her people, and only her people can perform the rescue," Green said. He likened the state to a giant "bound hand and foot by the spidery web of petty, pigmy politicians."

"We need more than a doctor—we need a consultation of doctors," he declared, "and I can suggest no better date for that consultation than Tuesday, April 9. We can put Illinois well on the road to recovery by our collective action on that date."

JUDGE MANTON'S AID STARTS HIS TERM IN PRISON

New York, March 22 [Special].—George M. Spector, insurance man, convicted with former federal Judge Martin T. Manton of obstructing justice and defrauding the government of the impartial services of a federal jurist, today was taken to the Northeastern penitentiary, Lewisburg, Pa., to serve a sentence of a year and a day. He has paid a $5,000 fine.

Spector was taken to the prison by United States deputy marshals with 24 others convicted of federal offenses.

Manton already is in Lewisburg prison serving a two years' sentence. He also paid a $10,000 fine. He paid for the privilege of going in a private automobile with a marshal.

PHILLIPS LOSES FIGHT TO BLOCK OKLAHOMA DAM

Gates Closed and Water Begins Rising.

Disney, Okla., March 22 (AP).—Gov. Leon C. Phillips' "states' rights war" arrived at a Waterloo today. The massive gates on the Grand River dam clanged shut and muddy waters began rising in the 52,000 acre reservoir.

Closing of the gates under cover of darkness early this morning—at whose order the Phillips-appointed dam authorities professed not to know—climaxed the fiery chief executive's attempt by use of National Guardsmen to obtain $889,275 damages from the government for roads and bridges which would be flooded.

As word of the coup reached the capitol, Phillips, for the first time since launching his fight March 10, did not threaten further action.

Refers to Mailed Fists.

"I don't figure it will hurt me to be knocked down by the mailed fists of the burocrats in Washington if the people of Oklahoma know what it is all about," Gov. Phillips said. "Public sentimen' and the courts will take care of the situation."

Informed capitol sources believed the governor was ready to drop the fight and refer residents of the area who might complain about a lack of roads to Oklahoma's senators, who have criticized Phillips' stand.

Two Observers at Dam.

Workmen released the drop gates as two National Guard observers stood by. They were the remnants of a detachment sent to the dam March 14, after the Public Works administration, which put up the cash for the project, said it was standing by a previous state administration's agreement to waive damage claims in return for construction of a $350,000 bridge across the reservoir.

Phillips declined to recognize the agreement or submit the claim to the courts. Water flowing thru the open gate is to serve Muskogee, Wagoner, and Choteau.

The construction contract called for completion of the 20 million dollar hydro-electric project by March 30.

Phillips accepted service today in a federal suit to restrain him from interfering with completion of the dam.

CHARGES GOONS LEAD STRIKERS IN ST. CHARLES

Company to Demand Full Protection of County.

Walter MacNeille, secretary of the St. Charles Manufacturing company, charged yesterday that experienced sluggers are leading the labor terrorism that has harassed his employers for more than six weeks. He said he will demand immediately that Kane county authorities halt the violence.

Sheriff Elmer Hoffman

The strike was called on Feb. 8 by two American Federation of Labor unions — the International Association of Machinists and the International Brotherhood of Blacksmiths, Drop Forgers, and Helpers. Intimidation began at once. MacNeille asserted. The strikers gathered at the plant, just outside St. Charles, to threaten loyal men, he added.

Five Sets of Arrests.

There have been arrests on five occasions, involving more than 30 men. None of the cases has been tried and one has been continued four times. Two strikers, Louis Greviskis and Walter Vander Pluym of Batavia, have been arrested repeatedly.

MacNeille, who was injured Thursday night when three carloads of men halted his car in Du Page county, near Wheaton, named among his attackers two men who he said were not employed at the company. His brother, Robert A. MacNeille, president of the concern, had charged previously that many of the terrorists are outsiders.

On Feb. 15 Judge Frank W. Shepherd, in the Kane county Circuit court at Geneva, issued a temporary injunction restraining pickets from intimidating employés who wanted to work. At this Sheriff Marcus Damisch withdrew squads of deputies who had been guarding the plant.

The previous day a gang had waylaid and beaten Robert Stern, 30 years old, as he was returning from work. Four men, including Pluym and Greviskis, were arrested. Their case was set for Feb. 24 before Police Magistrate Harry Olson of St. Charles. It was continued to March 5, then to March 15, to March 20 and now is set for March 29.

Again Arrested at Plant.

Early this month Greviskis was arrested at the plant. It is charged he had invaded the property, intimidating workers. This case also is set for March 29.

Eighteen men were arrested March 18 on charges of violating the injunction. Greviskis and Pluym were among them. They appeared yesterday before Judge Shepherd, who granted the defense five days in which to file an answer.

When the case is called next Wednesday an early hearing date will be asked. The MacNeilles believe that if there is some court action against the men under arrest it will serve to diminish the violence.

On March 20 Sheriff Elmer Hoffman of Du Page county arrested four men, including Pluym, and charged them with assault in connection with an attack on a truck of the St. Charles company near Wheaton. Two colored men, Asa Lee and Walter Rouse, the truck crew, were cut by flying glass when the attackers smashed the windshield. The four accused will be arraigned Monday at 11 a. m. before Justice of the Peace W. H. Johnson of Wheaton.

Ask Sheriffs' Convoy.

On Thursday the St. Charles company asked Sheriffs Damisch and Hoffman to convoy a Chicago bound truck loaded with the steel kitchen cabinets and other fixtures which the company manufactures. Sheriff Damisch's men escorted it to the Du Page line where Sheriff Hoffman was waiting.

Northwest of Wheaton three carloads of men halted an automobile carrying MacNeille and three employés, who were trailing the truck and its convoy. The sheriff did not see the incident because of ice on the rear window of his car and because the crown of a viaduct partially obscured his vision.

The windows of the MacNeille machine were smashed with rocks and bricks. MacNeille was cut on the head. The three men with him were beaten and the attackers tried to overturn the car. At this instant a tear gas cartridge was fired from within the machine and the driver forced an opening in the barricade.

Seize Nine of Attackers.

When they had overtaken Sheriff Hoffman he blocked the road and arrested nine men in two of the cars which pursued MacNeille. Among them were Greviskis and Pluym. Two other men who were seized, Matt Silis and Nick Frohling, are not employés of the plant, MacNeille asserted. The nine will face Justice Johnson Monday with those arrested on March 20.

Prince Louis Ferdinand, son of former Crown Prince Wilhelm, at one time was a mechanic in a Detroit automobile factory. He now is in active service with the air force.

MADE HOMELESS BY NEW DEAL, HE COMMITS SUICIDE

Evicted Farmer Hurls Self Under a Train.

Herrin, Ill., March 22 [Special].—The long opposed flooding of the government's Crab Orchard lake bed, begun this week, was blamed today for the suicide of one of the numerous farmers who had been forced to give up his home to make way for what has been termed "another New Deal brainstorm."

A coroner's jury found that Herman Saul, 53 years old, had leaped in front of an Illinois Central coal train yesterday. He had been despondent since he was compelled to leave his home in the lake area.

Protests are in Vain.

Many of the farmers thruout the 25,000 acre area to be taken for the project had protested without success against the seizure of their property. They claimed that in addition to being compelled to give up long cherished homes, they were not being paid enough money to buy comparable property elsewhere.

Some of the helpless farmers complained they virtually would be rendered destitute because, as a result of the maze of litigation involved, the government forced them to move before paying even the low price placed on their land.

One farmer said he was told by a government agent that he should not think about himself or his family, but should consider his sacrifice as a benefit to the nation. The farmer asked what benefit to any one would be derived from an unneeded lake that will become only a mosquito breeding paradise.

Despite these protests, the last obstacle to completion of what is intended to be Illinois' largest lake was removed a month ago when a federal court ruling gave the government the right to transfer bodies from five privately owned cemeteries in the lake bed.

Charles E. Hamilton, manager of the project, said today that relatives of the dead have been given until April 5 to make known their intentions concerning the bodies. He said the government would move the dead to any specified cemetery within 15 miles of the lake if the burial plot were furnished by relatives. If no such request is made by April 5 the government will move the bodies to a 15 acre cemetery now being prepared.

The locks of the dam were closed this week so water can be impounded during the spring rainy period. The water has now spread over about 3,000 of the 7,000 acres which the lake eventually will cover.

ORDERS DEAF MUTES TO PAY FOR BREAKING FALSE TEETH IN FIGHT

A set of false teeth 10 years old was assayed at $15 yesterday at a hearing before Judge William V. Daly in South State street court. All the principals in the case, involving an assault and battery complaint, were deaf-mutes.

Defendants were August Kopsian, 838 Grand avenue, and Victor Gazzardo, 510 Aberdeen street. They were arrested on warrants obtained by Thaddeus Chabewski, 2815 Logan boulevard. He charged they broke his false teeth in a fight in a loop restaurant Feb. 15.

In sign language the defendants claimed Chabewski had insulted Gazzardo's wife, Katharine [also in sign language]. After considering the wear and tear of the years on Chabewski's $45 store teeth, Judge Daly told the defendants to pay him $15, and dismissed the charges.

SEES PROBABILITY OF COMPROMISE ON INDIA ISSUE

Dr. Krishnalal Shridharani, noted Indian author and associate of Mohandas K. Gandhi, said yesterday that there is a probability of a compromise between the British government and India's nationalists, who are resisting the English crown while nominally India supports the war against Germany. He spoke before the Council on Foreign Relations in the Palmer House.

India is wholeheartedly behind the British on moral and ideological grounds, Dr. Shridharani said, but the country is not interested in fighting in behalf of a democracy denied to her.

Both the nationalists and the British, he predicted, could benefit by compromise. The Indians could avoid civil war and achieve an orderly power transition period; the British could feel secure on the far eastern front and create a favorable impression of their war aims in neutral countries.

GERMAN BOMBER, HIT BY BULLETS IN RAID ON CONVOY, RETURNS

BERLIN, March 22 (AP).—A German bomber, which the high command gave up for lost in Wednesday's raid on a British convoy off Scapa Flow, managed to return to its home port after a precarious flight over the North sea with only one motor functioning efficiently, D. N. B., official news agency, reported tonight.

The agency said the exhausted crew reported sinking the "tenth" ship, a vessel of about 6,000 tons, in the convoy assault. The high command previously reported other planes of the scouting group sank nine naval and merchant vessels of the convoy. [The British have denied that any ships were sunk in this raid.]

The crew told of a fight with three British pursuit planes. The radio operator was seriously injured by a bullet in his head. Other bullets damaged the motors.

70 TON BOMBER FOR ARMY SOON WILL TAKE AIR

2 New Artillery Weapons Are Announced.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 22.—Announcement of early flying tests for the world's largest plant, a 70 ton superbomber, and adoption of powerful new artillery, was made today by the war department. Both planes and guns are described as of vital importance in the army defense equipment.

In making the announcement the army lifted the veil of secrecy surrounding the uncompleted bomber, intended to be capable of making a round trip Atlantic flight with tons of bombs without landing.

The new guns are a 90 millimeter antiaircraft gun and a 105 millimeter howitzer. Their adoption as standard equipment for the army won acclaim from military experts, who long have advocated that artillery power be stepped up.

Cost Set at Million.

The fact that the new bomber, to be known as the B-19 and to cost approximately $1,000,000, will have to be moved out of doors soon to attach its wings, spreading more than 210 feet, is believed to have prompted the war department to reveal a partial description of it.

The army's largest aerial weapon, which will dwarf in size the 42 ton Pacific Clippers, the army's "flying fortresses" and will be half again as big as Germany's 112 passenger DO-X, is expected to be delivered to the army by the Douglas Aircraft corporation, Santa Monica, Cal., soon. It is slated for its first experimental flights in early spring or summer and to be subjected to further tests by air corps officials.

Wing Spread 210 Feet.

The general description of the superbomber was released by the war department as follows:

Gross weight, approximately 70 tons, including a useful load of some 28 tons. Wing spread, over 210 feet. Speed, over 200 miles an hour. Engines, four, totaling 6,000 horse power. Range, more than 6,000 miles. Propellers, 16 feet in diameter, 3 blade, constant speed. Landing gear, retractable, tricycle type.

The bomber will be similar in appearance to the "flying fortress." It will have heated and ventilated cabins and sleeping quarters for a crew of 10 men. Complete radio, navigation, and signaling equipment will be installed. The sleeping quarters, radio department, and navigator's compartment have been soundproofed to permit more efficient operation.

Largest Built in Country.

"This airplane," said the war department, "represents a further step toward solving the question of the best combination of size, speed, range, weight, and carrying ability, in view of the latest requirements for bombardment airplanes, and is larger than any airplane, military or commercial, heretofore constructed in this country.

"The progress toward the realization of the best airplane for a specific purpose is principally due to three things: the wide experience of the aircraft industry in the design and construction of a long line of commercial and military all metal, multi-engined aircraft; the exhaustive flight testing by the army air corps of earlier similar models, and the fact that the army air corps is constantly investigating new discoveries and inventions which show promise of improving the efficiency of its airplanes."

Details Carefully Guarded.

Details of the new guns were carefully guarded as military secrets and the exact number to be purchased was not disclosed. But the new 90 millimeter antiaircraft gun is more powerful than the present 3 inch gun and is to be used to augment the fire of the latter weapon, which has been criticized as woefully weak compared with the more powerful weapons now used in Europe against high bombing planes.

Military experts have complained that the 3 inch gun was incapable of reaching modern bombers. The French, acknowledged to have the best artillery in the world, have adopted the 90 millimeter antiaircraft gun and the German army uses an 88 millimeter gun for the same purpose. Both have been considered far superior to the American 3 inch weapon.

The war department said that some of these new guns will be procured in place of the 3 inch weapon now under manufacture. The gun and mount were designed and built by the army ordnance department.

Both Built by Army.

Ammunition for the new 90 millimeter gun also has been standardized.

The new 105 millimeter howitzer and carriage also were designed and manufactured by the ordnance department. Proving tests brought a recommendation by the chief of field artillery that the howitzer and carriage be standardized. The war department said:

"The general characteristics of this weapon indicate a superiority over similar types. The facility with which it can be placed in firing position is a predominating characteristic. In line with the army's modernization projects, the carriage has pneumatic tires and its maximum speed is the maximum speed of the truck which is used as a towing vehicle.

Mobile Supporting Weapon.

"The 105 millimeter howitzer is to be used by the field artillery as a powerful mobile supporting weapon for the 75 millimeter field gun. It may be used by direct sighting against hostile installations which are masked from direct vision by hills or wooded areas."

The army will not disclose actual numbers of various types of artillery, which are considered military secrets, but they include 155 millimeter guns and howitzers, 240 millimeter howitzers, 6-inch guns, 8-inch guns, 10-inch guns, 10-inch howitzers, and 12, 14, and 16-inch guns. Anti-aircraft weapons are of .30 caliber, .50 caliber, 37 millimeter, 3-inch, and 90 millimeters.

FLAWS IN NEW RIFLE

Washington, D. C., March 22 (AP).—A growing controversy over the army's new semi-automatic rifle, now the subject of a secret study by a house committee, broke into the open today with statements that both the cavalry and marine corps have found flaws in it.

The National Rifle association made public an editorial from the forthcoming issue of its magazine, the American Rifleman, asserting there was a division of opinion within the army both as to the wisdom of adopting any semi-automatic rifle for general issue to the troops and specifically as to the practicability of the new Garand rifle as a battle weapon.

"As a result of experience in the field the cavalry board has already felt it advisable to undertake experiments to improve the methods of lubricating the rifle and to develop a protecting breech cover," the editorial said, "while the marine corps is working on a modification of the front sight."

Because of the undercurrent of criticism of the rifle, adopted by the infantry board as the army's official shoulder weapon but not yet in the hands of all troops, the house military appropriations subcommittee has been giving the matter exhaustive study behind closed doors.

The Inventor's Reply.

Springfield, Mass., March 22 (AP).—Reports that both the cavalry and marine corps have found flaws in the army's new semiautomatic Garand rifle were discounted tonight by Inventor John Garand.

Garand explained that all types of machines required minor refinements as experience shows defects.

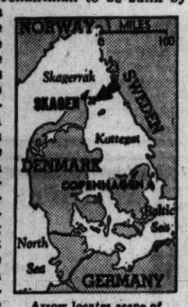
BRITISH TORPEDO GERMAN VESSEL; FIRST IN THE WAR

Submarine Strikes Eight Miles Off Denmark.

LONDON, March 22 (AP).—The first German merchantman to be sunk by a British submarine since the start of the war was added to Anglo-French sea conquests today while British sources accused Germany of torpedoing without warning one Norwegian and six Danish vessels in the last 48 hours.



Arrow locates scene of British torpedo attack.

Admiralty announcement that the 4,947 ton German freighter Heddernheim had been torpedoed off Denmark was regarded in some quarters as indicative of a British campaign to cut off Scandinavian ore shipments to Germany.

The admiralty merely gave the location of the sinking as eight miles off the Danish coast, but unofficial reports said it occurred in the Kattegat, entrance to the Baltic sea, shortly before last midnight.

Given Time to Leave Ship.

In Denmark 35 members of the German merchantman's crew, rescued from small boats by a Danish coast guard cutter, said they had been given 15 minutes to leave the ship before the British torpedo was launched.

The captain slipped into one of the boats and the other crewmen told the British he was "dead"; thereupon, the crewmen said, the British took the Heddernheim's first engineer aboard the submarine.

Tonight reports from off the Norfolk coast said a German plane had attempted to bomb the Cromer Knoll lightship during the day.

Despite this quickened tempo of the war, even British munitions workers took a Good Friday holiday. Hundreds of thousands of Britons thronged to the country and seaside for Easter vacations.

Current intensification of the German "strafe and starve England" drive increased to 13 the neutral or British ships sunk or damaged within three days.

Denmark Heaviest Loser.

The heaviest neutral loser in this burst of warfare at sea is Denmark, from which Britain normally imports large quantities of food. Danish exports to Britain in 1938, consisting mostly of barley, bacon, beef, butter, ham, and eggs, amounted to the equivalent of $154,468,800.

Denmark's losses in the last two days, all attributed to German torpedoes, amount to approximately 11,000 tons of shipping and close to 70 lives.

Included in these losses are the Christianborg, 3,270 tons, with one life lost; Charkow, 1,206 tons, 20 lost; Algier, 1,654 tons, 4 crewmen and a woman passenger lost; Minsk, 1,229 tons, 11 men missing; Bothal, 2,109 tons, 15 missing, and the Viking, 1,153 tons, 15 missing.

British sources also listed among the victims of German submarines the Norwegian freighter Svinta, previously reported damaged by air attack.

Another Norwegian steamer, the Tora Elise, arrived at an English port today with three dead crewmen, killed during a German plane attack on the vessel while it was traveling in a British convoy.

32,694 Tons Sunk, Nazis Say.

BERLIN, March 22 (AP).—A high command communique said today that sinkings of enemy merchant vessels and of neutral vessels "useful to the enemy" in the last three days totaled 32,694 tons.

D. N. B., the German official news agency, claiming that a Swedish vessel and three German steamers had been attacked by British planes in the last few days, said that Britain apparently had instructed her pilots to bomb unarmed merchantmen. The news agency said all the attacks were unsuccessful.

[A British air ministry official denied the German charge.]

Norway Protests Sinkings.

OSLO, Norway, March 22 (AP).—Norway has protested to Germany against the "unnecessary" sinking of ships plying between Norway and neutral ports and neutral ships carrying supplies to Norway, authoritative sources said tonight.

Shatters Dream

HEDY LA MARR.

New York, March 22 (AP). — Fritz Mandl, former husband of Hedy Lamarr, film star, was pictured today as having been dreaming of home, fireside, and even a nursery at about the time his wife was thinking of a divorce.

The situation was indicated in an action filed in Municipal court by Walter Sobotka, former Viennese architect, who is seeking $500 from Mandl, former Austrian munitions magnate, for designs and sketches of a $25,000 wing which he said was ordered in the fall of 1937 for Mandl's hunting lodge in the Austrian Alps, near Vienna.

The plans specified a nursery as part of the proposed wing, Sobotka said. Miss Lamarr now is the wife of Gene Markey, Hollywood producer and writer.

I. R. A. PARADES IN BELFAST; DEFIES EASTER TIME BAN

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, March 22 (AP).—About 1,000 adherents of the outlawed Irish Republican army paraded in the misty dawn today in defiance of a government ban on Easter-time demonstrations.

Authorities said they were ignorant of the whole affair and explained no policeman was on the beat so early.

The paraders marched to mass in St. Peter's church and then went to the former home of Joseph McKelvey, Republican leader executed by the then Irish Free State government in 1922.

TURKEY ORDERS 9 SHIPS HOME TO CARRY WAR GOODS

ISTANBUL, Turkey, March 22 (AP). —The government today summoned nine Turkish freight steamers home from the Mediterranean to carry military supplies between Turkish ports. The order coincided with an announcement that Turkish military attachés thruout the Balkans had been ordered to speed to Aleppo, where Turkish, British and French army chiefs are mapping plans for coördinated effort in the near east.

FRENCH CABINET HANGS ON; WINS BY ONLY 1 VOTE

Deputies Assail Regime of Premier Reynaud.

sents itself before you has no other reason for existence and wants no other than this: to raise and direct all French energies to fight and win and to crush treason from whatever angle it comes.

"Thanks to your confidence and your help we will accomplish this task.

Praises Valor of People.

"If it were necessary to have another comfort we would only have to count on the immense resources of our country and our empire. We would have only to look our admirable allies [Britain] straight in the eyes. We would have only to remember the valor of our people, the efforts of our workmen and of our farmers, the strength of our armies, the ardor of our soldiers and the bravery of our leaders.

"We would only finally have to think of the eternal spirit of France."

There was scattering applause as Reynaud without further explanation took his seat. Then the fireworks started.

Two Radical Socialist deputies, supporters of Daladier, had given notice earlier in the day that they would interpellate the government on the composition and organization of the new cabinet.

Objects to Socialists.

Lucien Galimand, the first critic, objected to bringing Socialists into the cabinet and against extending the size of the cabinet to 35 members, including undersecretaries. He said he thought the cabinet was too big to take effective action.

Vincent Badie, the second critic, praised Daladier and called on Reynaud to carry out the same policies as his predecessor.

Then two deputies of the extreme right, Louis Marin and Fernand Laurent, charged that the cabinet's large size would not work and could not be counted on to take rapid decisions.

Reynaud at this point mounted the tribune to defend his cabinet.

"My main purpose is to win the war," he said. "This time the whole nation is at war."

Promises War on Communism.

The premier promised to wage a relentless war on communism.

"It [the communist party] is an organization of treason," he said. "It acts against the country. We will crush it."

When Reynaud finished, former Premier Leon Blum, Socialist leader, took the floor to meet the objections raised by the right against the inclusion of Socialists in the cabinet. He said there was no question of any double play in the Socialists joining the government. He said it means a closer contact with the working classes.

Blum was followed by a half dozen other speakers, all of whom expressed reservations about the new ministry. Reynaud again took the tribune to defend his action in including Socialists on the ground that "the government must be the nation's image."

URGES AN INDIA OF HINDU AND MOSLEM STATES

Asks Autonomy to End India's Problems.

LAHORE, India, March 22.—Division of India into "autonomous national states" if the country is to be spared civil war was advocated today by Mahomed Ali Jinnah, Indian Moslem leader, as the only solution of the Hindu-Moslem differences. Any constitution thrust on the Moslems without their approval and consent would be resisted, he said.

"If the British government really is in earnest and sincere in its wishes to secure the peace and happiness of the people of this subcontinent," Jinnah said, "the only course open to us all is to allow the major nations separate homelands."

Jinnah spoke before 100,000 persons at the annual session of the Moslem league.

Friendlier Solution Seen.

His suggestion, he continued, would lead all to an easier and friendlier settlement of the minorities question "by reciprocal arrangements and adjustments between Moslem India and Hindu India, which will safeguard far more adequately and effectively the rights and interests of the Moslems and various other minorities."

Fears Democratic System.

Hindus and Moslems brought together under a democratic system forced on the minorities would only mean Hindu overlordship, he said. The democracy favored by the All-India congress high command would mean complete destruction of what was "most precious" in Islam, he said.

"We have had ample experience in the workings of the provincial constitutions in the last two and a half years," he said, "and any repetition of that type of government must lead to civil war and the raising of private armies."

Jinnah said that cessation of British rule would lead to chaos in India and end the "artificial unity maintained by British bayonets."

NAZIS IMPROVE BULGARIAN PORT TO SPEED UP OIL

Lay Foundations for Two Big Storage Tanks.

ISTANBUL, Turkey, March 22.—Germany is reported to be developing Bulgaria's Black sea port of Varna as a further step in the effort to improve communications with Russia and facilitate access to the Caucasus oil regions.

Foundations are being laid for two land storage tanks which will have a capacity of 10,000 tons each. The reich also intends to improve train communications between Varna and the Danubian port of Russe, whence barges can take the oil to Germany.

The German idea, it is believed, is to build a system whereby more than 50,000 tons monthly may be shipped from the Black sea to Russe, and to operate six trains daily of 30 tank cars each. Experts believe the plan is impractical at present because of the limited capacity of the single track railroad as well as storage and loading problems.

Deny Ultimatum to Rumania.

LONDON, March 22.—Reports received here early tonight that Germany had delivered an ultimatum to Rumania were received with considerable skepticism in informed circles. Late this evening Reuters [British news agency] modified its report from Bucharest, substituting the words "the German note was couched in most extreme terms" for "ultimatum."

The Rumanian legation in London told inquirers there was no truth in the report an ultimatum had been delivered by the German legation at Bucharest. A report circulating in London that the Rumanian cabinet had resigned also was denied.

Reds Assail British, French.

MOSCOW, March 22 (AP).—The soviet press lashed out today at the activities of "British-French imperialists" in northern Europe and emphasized Russia's own "peace loving" policy toward the small nations of the north—particularly Finland, Norway, and Sweden.

"Anti-soviet lies" was the way Pravda, organ of the communist party, described what it called reports of "imaginary soviet claims for free ports addressed to Sweden and Norway" and which the newspapers said were being bandied about chiefly by the British and French press.

Trud, organ of soviet trade unions, emphasizing the importance to Finland, Sweden, and Norway for trade relations with Russia, commented:

"The soviet-Finnish peace treaty is vivid proof of the peace loving policy of the U. S. S. R."

GERMANS DOWN BRITISH PLANE ON DUTCH SOIL

AMSTERDAM, March 22 (AP).—A British pursuit plane crashed in flames on Netherlands soil today after an aerial battle between German and British flyers above the German frontier. The plane fell in a marsh about a mile west of Lobith, where the Rhine enters Holland. Netherlands soldiers, because of the nature of the terrain, were unable to reach the wreckage immediately. It was presumed, however, that all the crew were killed.

Arrow locates plane crash.

Witnesses said that the battle started when four British planes, flying rather low, were attacked by six or seven German craft. They were uncertain whether the fighting began over German or Netherlands territory.

The British planes quickly climbed to about 20,000 feet and three of them streaked off in a northwesterly direction and disappeared. Accounts differed as to how many German planes attacked the lone British plane which was brought down. Two German craft, however, were seen to drop a smoke curtain, and a big German plane was believed to have scored a direct hit with a small cannon.

GERMAN PATROLS FIGHT FRENCH IN BRISK EXCHANGES

PARIS, March 22 (AP).—German patrols scouting east and west of the Saar river engaged French outposts in lively exchanges of fire, but were repulsed, French military sources said today. They said there were no French losses. Aerial forces of both sides reconnoitered over the front lines.

The French night communique said "nothing to report" after the morning communique had reported "a calm night on the whole of the front."

German Air Force Active.

BERLIN, March 22 (AP).—The German high command communique today said:

"In the west, no special events.

ALBERTA SOCIAL CREDIT FORCES LEAD BALLOTING

Complex System Holds Up Vote Returns.

EDMONTON, Alta., March 22 (AP).—The appeal of the social credit government for a renewal of its mandate in Alberta still was wrapped up in the complications of the voting system of the province tonight.

Premier Aberhart.

Twenty-four hours after the polls closed the régime of Premier William Aberhart had been conceded victory in only 15 of the province's 57 legislative seats. However, it still led a strong independent "down with social credit" opposition coalition, whose candidates had captured eight seats.

Aberhart Reëlected.

There were indications that second counts would be necessary in 31 constituencies.

The Alberta voting system, unique in Canada, demands that candidates in the 47 single-member constituencies obtain a majority of all the votes cast. In the five-member constituencies of Calgary and Edmonton a fixed quota of the total vote must be obtained.

Premier Aberhart, who was elected by a landslide vote in 1935 on the strength of a program proposing $25 a month "credit dividends" for adults, and three of his cabinet ministers were conceded personal reëlection.

May Win 11 More Seats.

With the complete vote unreported in several districts, social crediters were leading in 17, independents in 15, the coöperative commonwealth federation in one, and labor in one.

Advocates of social credit's monetary theories appeared to have a good prospect of winning 11 of the doubtful seats and the independents eight.

REVEALS 63,235 AMERICANS STILL LIVE IN EUROPE

Washington, D. C., March 22 (AP).—The state department said today that 63,235 Americans still were living in Europe on Jan. 1 despite the war. A year earlier the number was 84,603.

The department's records show 19,561 Americans living in Italy, 7,514 in Great Britain and northern Ireland, 5,927 in France, and 5,274 in Germany.

The number of American residents in Great Britain compares with 10,522 on Jan. 1, 1939. An even smaller decline since the war's outbreak was registered for Germany, where 5,787 Americans were living on Jan. 1 of last year. The figure for France, however, represents a sharp decline from 12,964 a year earlier.

RED-FINN PEACE TREATY IN FORCE; BOTH APPROVE IT

HELSINGFORS, Finland, March 22 (AP).—President Kyosti Kallio decreed today that the new Russian-Finnish peace treaty was in force following an exchange of ratification documents in Moscow.

COMPLETE PLANS FOR JAP PUPPET REGIME IN CHINA

Wang Holds 3 Positions; Faces Opposition.

NANKING, China, March 22 (AP).—Chinese peace advocates meeting in this Japanese army stronghold today completed plans for the establishment on March 30 of a Chinese central government friendly to Japan with Wang Ching-wei, ex-premier of China, as president, premier, and minister of a virtually nonexistent navy.

Wang Ching-wei.

The new government is scheduled to take office next week with only limited support from the regional puppet régimes which it is to absorb, in spite of a scornful repudiation by Chiang Kai-shek's government and in face of a Tokio warning that even the setting up of a Japanese sponsored régime will not deter the Japanese army from carrying on as before in China.

Backers of the new régime, who closed their preparatory council session today, decided to pattern it after the Chungking government they have repudiated. There will be five state councils—executive, legislative, control, judicial, and examination—and 14 ministries under the executive council.

Commands Two Gunboats.

Wang Ching-wei was named president of the government. As executive council president he will act as premier. As navy minister he will command two gunboats, possible nucleus of a Yangtze river flotilla.

The vice premiership and foreign affairs portfolio have been assigned to Wang's brother-in-law and former nationalist official, Dr. Chu Min-i. Cheng Kung-po, former minister of industries and Wang lieutenant, will be president of the legislative council. Wang supporters will get about half of the remaining 23 top jobs in the régime.

Wang Keh-min, head of the Peiping puppet régime and chief pro-Japanese Chinese until Wang Ching-wei fled from Chungking 15 months ago, has no place in the new Nanking lineup and is reported to be considering retiring, but his chief assistant, Wang I-tang, has been named president of the control council [empowered to impeach and censor public officials]. Others on the new Nanking roster are relatively obscure or retired politicians.

Denounced by Chungking.

Spokesmen of the recognized Chinese government at Chungking today served warning that it would not be responsible for any acts of the Nanking "traitors" and that no treaties they might conclude would be binding on China.

Doubts about North China's wholehearted acceptance of the new Nanking régime's authority were reflected today in the Japanese owned papers in Peking. The consensus of Peking press opinion was that North China's special political status—under Japanese military domination—would be continued. A new council, it was said, would be organized to control Hopeh, Shansi, and Shantung provinces. Japan's control over these would be more direct than over the rest of conquered China.

WE KNOW HOW WAR IN EUROPE WILL END—JAPAN

Arita Retorts to Plea of Aid for Nazis.

TOKIO, March 22 (AP).—Members of Japan's diet [parliament] posing the question as to whether Japan should not take some positive rôle in support of Germany and Italy, were informed tonight by Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita that Japan already was certain of the way the European war would come out.

The matter, Arita added, is too delicate to talk about further. However, he did say that "Japan will not put any obstacles in Germany's way by joining hands with Britain or America" during the European conflict, altho Japan's entry in the western war is inadvisable since she is concerned solely with the construction of a "new order" in Asia.

Badgered with Questions.

Arita was badgered with such leading questions as these:

"Don't you think Japan should discard her policy of uninvolvement and openly side with Germany and Italy?"

"Why, while mouthing phrases about uninvolvement, has Japan promised Britain not to transport German nationals or armament to Germany?"

"Since both Germany and Italy appear to have recognized Japan's aims in East Asia, should we not take some positive measures to coöperate with them?"

"Were not the expansion of the United States navy and the recent tour of Europe by Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles of the United States predicated on the assumption that the allies would be defeated?"

Japan's Eyes "Wide Open."

To Arita's somewhat evasive replies, Admiral Zengo Yoshida, the navy minister, added this:

"We are going to dispose of the China incident with our eyes wide open to the world situation."

Earlier, Gen. Shunroku Hata, the war minister, had assured the budget committee of the lower chamber that Japan was going to continue its efforts to crush Chiang Kai-shek, who he said still has 2,000,000 Chinese soldiers in the field.

Hata also insisted that Japanese military operations could not be restricted by the nine-power treaty, because Japan's ultimate purpose in China "transcends" any such pact.

Thus neither the nine-power treaty nor the formation of the Japanese sponsored Wang Ching-wei régime in China, he insisted, would halt the "holy war."

At the same session Arita acknowledged America's latest credit to China [of $20,000,000] was "disagreeable" to Japan, but said there would be no countermeasures.

PROTEST ATTACK ON 3 BRITONS IN JAP RULED AREA

The Britons were Vice Consul D. J. B. Robey and United Church of Canada Missionaries Dr. E. B. Struthers of Galt, Ontario, and the Rev. Mr. G. K. King of New Brunswick.

CAPONE WEAKER AFTER CAR TRIP, DOCTOR REVEALS

Miami Beach, Fla., March 22 (AP).—Al Capone's physician said tonight the former Chicago gang leader's condition was "considerably weakened" by a hurried automobile trip from Baltimore to his Palm Island home.

A brother, John Capone, acting as spokesman, said, however, that Al was able to sit in a yard chair for an hour or so at a time and was "tickled to death to be back home." He weighs 230 pounds now, compared to 268 in former years.

"We arrived last Wednesday night after driving straight thru in about 28 or 30 hours," John Capone said. "We left secretly because we didn't want anything to happen that would aggravate Al's condition."

The physician, who asked that his name be withheld, said the ex-gang chieftain was "suffering from a chronic nervous system ailment, the continued treatment of which has not as yet been decided."

"His physical condition following the trip may be regarded as being considerably weakened," the physician said in a written statement handed out at a press conference. "For the present he must be kept isolated and free from contact with any one except his immediate family."

The doctor declined to amplify the statement other than to say that Dr. J. Earl Moore, noted Baltimore syphilologist, had told him in a telephone conversation that all reports Capone was suffering from paresis, a brain disorder, were based "entirely on speculation."

The physician declared he had not received a file on the case from Dr. Moore, but had examined the patient.

INCOMPREHENSIBLES

By CALEB

I HAVE just finished one of the "must" books on any informed modern's reading list—Science Marches On, by Walter Shepherd. The adventure has left me both spiritually breathless and mentally illuminated—likewise inclined to warn the prospective reader!

For when Science (as in this book) seizes hold on the universe we live in and goes soaring—hang onto your equipoise, friend! You'll be a dizzy passenger, embarked on a plunge of spirals, loops, "falling leaves" and Immelmann turns such as no airplane has ever executed!

Size, weight, distance, energy: so long as these concepts stay inside the commonplaces of daily experience, they are old familiars. But wait till you emerge from some of the playful juggling of those same terms indulged in by the scientist! Ask him, for example, the weight of this earth on whose wrinkled rind nations are now skipping about in internecine delirium. He calmly tells you to set down the figure 6—then trail it with twenty-one ciphers! "Tons," he adds, laconically. Six sextillion tons! Are you any the wiser after that answer? . . . Neither am I!

Or ask him how many stars man can now see through the largest telescope. He replies, "One billion, five hundred million." Incomprehensible? Of course it is. Even to count them all, one per second . . . any idea how long that would take? Pausing neither for food nor sleep, you would finish only at the end of fifty years.

Or suggest, casually, that the nearest star except the sun cannot be very far distant from ourselves. "Only 25,000,000,000,000 miles," he remarks. "And that is merely as far as light, which travels 186,326 miles per second, would have to go for four years, to reach it." Remember—the nearest star!

Or suggest that the sun's size must be enormous, since it not only holds eight other planets in leash, but lights and heats our own. He nods, absently; then remarks that Sirius, the well-known "Dog Star," which hangs under Orion, is sixty times as big—or that the nebula in Andromeda, seen by the eye as a faint blob of mist in the sky, "consists of thousands of millions of stars rotating about a common center." . . .

You shut the book; you come back to earth. Important YOU has become an insignificant pigmy. And yet—more incomprehensible than any of these paralyzing facts of space is another fact: that, one and all, they found their way into Science through a few cubic inches of grayish substance, housed in man's own uncomprehending head!

FEAR ARTIFICIAL MILK PRICE WILL FLOOD MARKET

Collapse Threatened This Spring, Hearing Is Told.

Witnesses at a public hearing yesterday predicted that artificially high milk prices imposed on the Chicago area by the federal marketing administration would almost certainly bring surpluses this spring sufficient to cause a milk market crash.

The hearing, held in the Stevens hotel, was called by the department of agriculture, which is considering proposed amendments to the regulations under which the local administration is operating. It began on Wednesday and probably will be completed today.

Federal Rule Set Up Last Fall.

The federal dictatorship was established last September. Under it the farm producers in the area are paid a so-called blended price for all they produce for Chicago consumption. Milk sold for fluid consumption commands the highest price, and there are two other classes that return lower prices. Class II includes milk marketed as ice cream and related products, and Class III. that used for other purposes, including butter and cheese making.

Much of the testimony yesterday, as on the previous days, was designed to show that high retail prices—the delivered price of milk has risen from 11 cents a quart to 13 cents since the market dictatorship was established—was a deterrent to consumption, and that only a reduction in the farm price would make possible a fairer deal for consumers and increase consumption enough to absorb the expected huge surpluses.

Farm Price 4½ Cents a Quart.

Retail prices are not set under the marketing order, but are directly related to the farm prices. Since September. the fluid milk price to producers has varied between $1.94 and $2.08 a hundred pounds [46.5 quarts], or roughly a little less than 4½ cents a quart, on the average. With much of the retail sales in stores at 8½ cents, dealers maintain they can't make any money even with the 13 cent home delivered price.

Paul Potter, executive secretary of the Associated Milk Dealers, Inc., testified yesterday that the high farm price was so attractive that 1,400 new producers had been attracted into the Chicago market and that they were aiding in building up surplus.

"It is probable," he said, "that milk production in the next six or eight months will be the largest on record."

Seeks Cut in Farm Price.

Another witness was Frank Baker, milk administrator under one of Secretary Henry A. Wallace's former efforts to control and establish a firm dictatorship over milk here. Baker is now connected with the Borden-Wieland company.

"If the farmers would reduce their prices 10 per cent now," he said, "they might save a major operation, certain to be a painful one, later." He asserted the Borden-Wieland plants already were handling 10 per cent more products than they were a short time ago, and that there was much worry about outlets for products.

A large quantity of surplus milk is converted into powder form. Frank M. Bremner of the Bowman Dairy company said supplies were so great that powdered milk prices had fallen 50 per cent since the Wallace market order went into effect. At this price, he said, the product is not profitable.

Predicts Increase in Surplus.

Bremner also said that surplus milk—that left after fluid milk and cream needs had been satisfied—now constituted 27 per cent of total production in the Chicago area. This probably will increase, he indicated, when the May-June period of maximum production arrives.

M. J. Metger, another Bowman official, asserted that milk prices are too high compared to other farm products, and that grain and live stock men were encouraged to get into dairying and thus add to the glut of milk products.

Dr. R. W. Bartlett, economist from the University of Illinois, said that while the milk prices to producers are excellent now, he was fearful of the surplus possibilities.

Comments on Cream Prices.

On Thursday, R. G. Thoke of the Hydrox corporation asserted that under the marketing order, a 10 gallon can of cream containing 33 pounds of butterfat would cost $15.51 in Chicago, but could be bought in territories outside the marketing area for $11.88.

It was reasoned that this had two bad effects. One is that farmers who sell cream at the high price here can sell skim milk for powder at extremely low prices, the Chicago consumer thus subsidizing businesses outside. The second is that local manufacturers are at an unfair disadvantage compared to ice cream makers outside.

So far, retail sales in the Chicago area have held slightly above the figures of a year ago. This is attributed in large part to store sales at low prices and to reduced prices for milk in gallon and half gallon containers.

Fear Price Setup Will Crumble.

Secretary Wallace himself has said that the only way to keep surpluses down is to increase consumption. Apparently he has hopes that distribution of supplies to relief clients will be a factor in an increase. At the same time, by pegging the price of butter at 28 cents by government buying in the open market, he is keeping up prices of all dairy products.

The fear among the dealers is that eventually the milk surplus will become so great that they will be unable to find any way to sell their products except at greatly lowered prices and that the farmers will awake to find their price structure house falling on the whole trade.

Producers Fight Change.

This view is not universal. Arthur Hartman, a representative of the Pure Milk association, the big producers' group, said prices are "more uniform" now than at any time in the past and that farmers had the power to stabilize the market.

"They are planning to even out production to prevent heavy spring surpluses," he asserted. "We want no radical changes in the present setup."

N. J. Cladakis, market administrator, has estimated the area's production in May and June at 200 million pounds a month. The January production was 160 million pounds.

Supported by Farmers.

The present market control was established after the farm producers had voted overwhelmingly in favor of it. Dealers have never agreed to its provisions, but were forced under the law to coöperate. Their payments for milk are pooled and distributed to farmers on a basis determined by the administrator.

Two previous controls failed. The first attempted to fix retail as well as farm prices. It was established in July, 1933, and broke down because of the impossibility of enforcement the next January. A new rule, over farm prices only, took its place. It lasted until March, 1935. There was no further attempt to dictate milk prices until last summer.

Model Wins Divorce

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

MRS. ESTHER KOSTER.

Mrs. Esther Koster didn't mind it a bit when her husband, Edward, flicked water at her. She just flicked some back at him. But she did mind it, she told Judge Joseph Sabath thru her attorney, Harry X. Cole, when her husband tied her ankles so she couldn't get away and then doused her with a glass of water. This bit of testimony yesterday helped Mrs. Koster get a divorce on a charge of cruelty. Judge Sabath granted her $10 a week for support of a daughter, Nancy, 1 year old. Mrs. Koster, a model, lives at 1135 West Patterson avenue.

SEIZE PROMOTER IN ALBUQUERQUE FOR STOCK FRAUD

W. McNeil Kennedy, Chicago regional administrator of the securities and exchange commission, announced last evening the arrest in Albuquerque, N. M., of Harry J. Mallon, western mining promoter, on charges of selling $190,000 in fraudulent securities to Chicagoans. Mallon has been sought several months. He was named here last week in a suppressed indictment returned by the federal grand jury, Kennedy revealed.

The government alleges that Mallon sold stock in the Santa Cruz Mining company in New Mexico, using as his chief selling point the claim that he had spent large sums for equipment. Actually, Kennedy said, the expenditure was less than $1,000.

In Albuquerque Mallon was said to have been living in a $175 a month apartment and traveling about the country in airplanes and fast automobiles.

STOCK HANDLERS' UNION GETS NEW WORK CONTRACT

The Union Stock Yard and Transit company and the Stockhandlers' union, local 44, have entered into a new wage contract for the present year, it was announced yesterday by Henry Johnson, assistant national director of the Packinghouse Workers Organizing committee of the Congress of Industrial Organizations. The contract embodying the features of the old agreement, which expired March 1, will be in effect until March 1, 1941. It provides the same 40 hour week, with broader latitude in seniority rights and vacations with pay. The agreement affects about 650 employés.

HOTEL PICKETED AFTER DISCHARGE OF TWO WORKERS

Strike After Owners' Relatives Get Jobs.

Union pickets walked back and forth yesterday in front of the 15 story Dearborn Plaza hotel at 1030 North Dearborn street. Deliveries of laundry and milk to the hotel's 500 guests were cut off.

Thirteen housekeeping employés of the hotel—both men and women—went on strike at 6 a. m. yesterday in support of the Elevator Operators and Starters' union which is engaged in a dispute with the hotel owner, Max Stein. The dispute centers on Stein's dismissal of two Filipino elevator men, members of the union, to make room for a cousin and a nephew he has been supporting.

Admitted Last Year.

The cousin is Siegfried Porhorille, 21 years old, a refugee from Vienna. According to Stein's attorney, Carl Devoe, Porhorille was admitted to this country Dec. 21, 1939, when Stein guaranteed he would not become a public charge.

The other relative is Norman Jacobs, 20, a nephew of Mrs. Stein. Devoe said Stein had been supporting the Jacobs family in the east, and two months ago brought them here in the hope that Jacobs, his father and brother could find jobs.

When both Jacobs and Porhorille failed to get employment, Stein decided to use them as elevator operators. He said he did not know the Filipinos he dismissed were members of the union.

Strike Follows Refusal.

The elevator union, headed by Mathew Taylor, demanded the Filipinos be put back to work as the first condition of negotiations. Stein refused. The pickets appeared and the housekeepers walked out. The latter are members of the Miscellaneous Hotel and Restaurant Employés union, headed by James Crowley.

Both unions are affiliated with the Trades and Crafts council and the American Federation of Labor. The president of the Laundry Drivers' union, William J. Donovan, is an officer of the council.

RED CAPS' UNION APPROVES PLAN TO ABOLISH TIPS

The Illinois Central railroad's plan to abolish red cap tipping and begin paying the porters wages on April 1 was approved yesterday by the United Transport Service Employés of America, a union to which many of the red caps belong.

Spokesmen for the union, declared, however, that the company should bear the entire cost of paying the porters 30 cents an hour instead of shifting this cost to the public. Under the new plan passengers will pay a fee of 10 cents for each item of baggage handled by porters.

The union maintained that a California federal court had ruled that when passengers paid for a ticket they also paid for the handling of luggage. When the plan was announced, several porters protested that they would lose money by being paid in wages instead of tips.

GEORGE JESSEL IN ROMANCE WITH 15 YEAR OLD GIRL

New York, March 22 (AP).—Comedian George Jessel, who'll be 42 years old next month, and Lois Andrews, pretty showgirl who'll be 16 on Sunday, are going to wait a while before making up their minds about getting married.

Today both asserted, in effect, that "it all depends on mother"—Mrs. Geraldine Andrews—who arrived by plane from the west coast.

Tonight Jessel released another communique which said Mrs. Andrews "requested us both to wait a short while before making a decision. We have both decided to obey her wishes."

Dismiss Murder Charge Against Slain Man's Widow

Judge Jay A. Schiller of the Felony court yesterday dismissed a charge of murder against Mrs. Rose Cope, 42 years old, a tavern singer, whose husband, Arthur, 47, a piano player, was shot and killed March 4 in their apartment at 4558 Oakenwald avenue. Assistant State's Attorney Francis T. McCurrie said evidence indicated the shooting was accidental.

SUES TO REGAIN A FORTUNE PAID OUT IN ALIMONY

Trustee Files Action Against a Widow.

In a suit filed yesterday in the federal District court a trustee demanded that a large sum [estimates run to $100,000] paid as allmony to the former wife of a banker be paid back and used for the benefit of creditors of a bankrupt firm.

Defendants are Mrs. Martha B. T. Rose, 168 East Pearson street, and the First National bank of Chicago. The complainant is John H. Chatz, trustee in bankruptcy for the Metropolitan Investment company, which went into voluntary bankruptcy in June, 1937.

Divorced in 1911.

The Metropolitan company was wholly owned by Landon C. Rose, who died in 1931. Rose was president of the North Avenue State bank and a former vice president of the Central Trust company, and was reputedly a millionaire.

Chatz related that Mrs. Martha Rose, first wife of the banker, diverced him in 1911, and under terms of the decree received alimony of $10,000 a year. This, he said, was paid by Rose from 1911 to 1925. In the latter year, it was asserted, Rose put 150 shares of Virginia Insurance company stock in trust with Metropolitan Investment, the income to be used in paying the alimony.

It was asserted further that in 1928 it became apparent the insurance stock would not produce the necessary returns and Rose transferred a total of $140,000 of assets of Metropolitan to a trust fund set up with the First Trust and Savings bank [later absorbed by First National].

Trust Assets Sold.

The next change came in 1932, according to Chatz and his attorney, Morton B. Hochberg. In that year, it was said, the assets of the trust were sold and $60,000 was realized and used in purchasing annuities, which have since furnished Mrs. Rose with income.

In 1937, when Metropolitan Investment went into bankruptcy, its assets were listed at $70,212 and liabilities at $732,492. The case is still pending before Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan.

Chatz contended that the transfer of assets from the investment company to the bank, as trustee of the trust fund, was illegal. He requested that Mrs. Rose be enjoined from disposing of any of her property and that the bank be enjoined from paying any further annuity receipts to her. He demanded a full accounting since 1926 and repayment of all sums given the widow since that time.

OPPOSE REVIEW OF WRIT AGAINST MILK PICKETING

Arguments were filed with the United States Supreme court in Washington yesterday opposing a requested review of lower court rulings forbidding the Milk Wagon Drivers' union of Chicago to picket 500 cut rate milk stores. This case has been fought thru the courts for two wears and involves a dispute between rival unions.

The Milk Drivers' union appealed to the high court after the United State Circuit Court of Appeals denied a rehearing two months ago of its ruling that the union had violated antitrust laws by picketing the cut rate stores.

Yesterday's arguments were filed by Attorney Arthur R. Seelig. He represents the Lake Valley Farm Products, Inc., and the Lake View Coöperative of Watertown, Wis., which supply milk to cut rate stores, and the Amalgamated Dairy Workers' union, local 819, affiliated with the Congress of Industrial Organizations. The Milk Drivers' union is an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor.

Seelig's brief charged that the A. F. of L. union tried illegally to control price and eliminate competition by "boycott, violence, intimidation, fraud and other illegal and criminal methods," all as part of a conspiracy to prevent the cut rate sale of milk in Chicago.

SENATE PASSES FARM BILL FOR OVER A BILLION

May Boost Debt Limit or Increase Taxes.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 22.—The senate late today passed the agricultural department appropriation bill, providing funds of 923 million dollars in cash and 90 million dollars in loans from the Reconstruction Finance corporation. The bill was passed without a record vote and without audible dissent. It now goes back to the house for consideration of the many increases added by the senate.

Including the loan authorizations, the total of the bill is now 300 million dollars in excess of the amount voted by the house, and it wipes out all the congressional economies thus far effected by slashing President Roosevelt's budget recommendations in other appropriation measures. Excluding the loan authorizations, which will not be reflected in the treasury deficit for the next fiscal year, the senate bill exceeds Mr. Roosevelt's farm budget recommendation by 202 million dollars.

Menaces Debt Limitation.

Unless the 202 million dollars can be saved by slashing other budget estimates, this amount will have to be met by new taxes or the 45 billion dollar statutory national debt limit will have to be increased.

The President's budget for the fiscal year 1941 contemplates remaining under the legal debt limit by 62 million dollars only if congress levies new taxes of 460 million dollars and does not exceeu the budgeted expenditure estimates; and, provided further, a total of 700 million dollars can be recaptured from the capital funds of government lending agencies.

The senate farm subsidy boosters, including Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, contended that the increases of some 300 million dollars could be accommodated by a reduction in the cash working balance of the treasury, without the painful necessity of raising the legal debt limit.

President Gets There First.

However, Senator Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.] demonstrated the treasury's working balance was no solution of the problem, because Mr. Roosevelt got there first. In an effort to keep within the debt limit, the senator declared, the President's program contemplates a reduction of 1 billion, 150 million dollars, which will bring the cash working balance down to 514 million dollars by June 30 of this year.

Senator Byrd's calculations were confirmed today by a letter from the general accounting office, which he presented to the senate. He presented also a letter from Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. saying that "the estimated working balance of the treasury on June 30, 1940, as contemplated by the President's budget, will be about as low as it can be permitted to go."

Senator Byrd's demonstration that the treasury has scraped the bottom was not challenged by the administration leadership.

Principal Cash Increases.

The principal cash increases in the senate bill are 212 million dollars for so-called parity payments to producers of corn, cotton, wheat, tobacco, and rice, and 85 million dollars for the administration's crop surplus disposal program, including export subsidies and the food stamp plan of relief distribution.

The parity payments will be made only in amounts necessary to give producers of the five basic commodities a price equal to 75 per cent of parity, which is defined as a price that will give the farmer a purchasing power equivalent to the 1909-1914 base level.

In addition to these subsidies the bill makes available $438,560,000 for soil conservation payments to farmers. A total of $498,560,000 in soil conservation payments are to be distributed, but $60,000,000 of this amount was put into a deficiency bill so it would become available immediately.

In addition to the 85 million dollars for surplus disposal subsidies approximately 100 million dollars is available for this purpose under section 32 of the agricultural adjustment act, which allocates 30 per cent of customs receipts for surplus disposal.

The loan authorizations include 40 million dollars for the rural electrification administration and 50 million dollars for assistance to tenants in purchasing their own farms.

Reject Byrd Sugar Amendment.

Just before passing the bill the senate rejected, by a vote of 46 to 23, an amendment by Senator Byrd to limit benefit payments under the administration's sugar control program to $10,000 for any one producer. It rejected another amendment by Senator Byrd to limit such payments to $50,000.

Senator Byrd presented a table from the agriculture department showing that many large plantation owners and sugar producing corporations in Puerto Rico, Hawaii, Louisiana, and Florida receive benefit subsidies running into hundreds of thousands of dollars. These huge subsidies, the senator explained, are financed by the sugar processing tax, which is passed on to the American consumers of sugar.

Senators from both the cane and beet sugar states fought the Byrd amendment, arguing that it would result in refusal on the part of the large producers to coöperate with the control program and hence wreck it. The bill appropriates $46,675,000 out of the treasury for sugar benefit payments.

SECRET REPORT ON LABOR BOARD BROADENS SPLIT

Members Disagree on Interpretation.

Washington, D. C., March 22 (AP).—Disclosure today of a confidential report on the National Labor Relations board, drawn up by a committee of the board's own officials, further emphasized the sharp differences existing within the board.

William M. Leiserson.

Contents of the report, made last fall, were divulged by the Smith committee, the house group currently investigating the labor board. Among other things, the report said that the board's administrative division was insufficiently organized and ineffective.

Contrasting Viewpoints.

This, said J. Warren Madden, chairman of the board, merely meant that the administrative division needed a larger staff. But William M. Leiserson, a board member, said it "showed plainly" that Nathan Witt, board secretary, "did not have ability or imagination enough to analyze the mass of work that came to the secretary's office, or to organize and manage it on an efficient basis."

Madden's statement was made today. Leiserson's was made after the report's existence was known but before its contents were made public.

Four regional directors, A. Howard Myers, G. L. Patterson, W. M. Aicher, and Edwin Amelliott, formed the committee which was set to work on the inquiry last October after Leiserson had criticized Witt and his work and demanded that he be relieved of his duties.

The committee compiled a report of 10,000 words, recommending a series of administrative changes and reorganization steps, but these, well informed sources said, did not meet the demands of Leiserson for a complete reorganization. One of the recommendations, already complied with, was the appointment of an official to handle Witt's personnel duties.

Findings Summed Up.

The committee summed up its findings in eight conclusions described as showing some of the major causes of conditions which have evoked intense and widespread criticism of the board. These conclusions were:

1. The administrative division was insufficiently organized.
2. Because of lack of organization the administrative process has suffered in effectiveness.
3. Too many functions were centralized in the secretary's office and there was too little delegation of responsibility.
4. Overcentralization had overburdened the secretary's office.
5. There was too little coördination between various Washington divisions.
6. There was too little coördination between Washington and the regional offices.
7. A definite personnel policy was lacking.
8. The board itself was participating in too many administrative details.

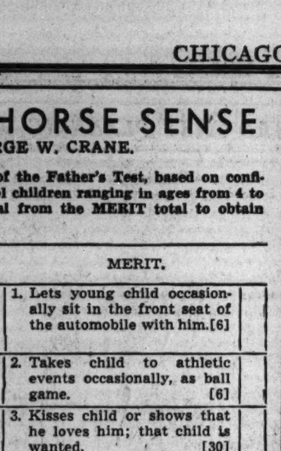
Five Recommendations.

The report's recommendations were then summed up as follows:

1. Creation of a new division to afford a contact between Washington and regional offices.
2. Creation of a personnel officer.
3. Reorganization of the secretary's office to delegate more authority.
4. Creation of a permanent administrative committee, composed of division heads, to analyze administrative problems.
5. Delegation of more of the board's administrative responsibilities so that "more time can be devoted to judicial and policy making functions."

Madden said that the committee's recommendations had been under consideration before the survey was made. He called the report "excellent."

Bride-to-Be



VIRGINIA ANDERSON.

A Northwestern university campus romance will lead to the altar for Miss Virginia Anderson, 1938 Syllabus beauty queen, and Richard G. Wells, son of Harry Wells, vice president of the university.

Miss Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William O. Anderson, 7929 Elizabeth street, is a physical training instructor at New Trier High school. Wells is in the investment business. They met while students at Northwestern, where he was a member of the football team.

ALICE FAYE GETS A DIVORCE FROM CROONER MARTIN

Los Angeles, Cal., March 22 (AP).—Alice Faye, blonde film actress, was granted a divorce today from Tony Martin, screen and radio crooner, on her testimony that he had been guilty of mental cruelty. Miss Faye said they separated last Jan. 8.

Martin suggested she should have married somebody else — somebody "more settled" than himself, the actress told Superior Judge Samuel R. Blake.

Whenever she wanted him to be with her, she said, he would be some place else. If they had a social engagement, black haired Tony would get home late from a golf game. Her testimony was corroborated by Mrs. Helene Smith.

There was no request for alimony. It was understood a property agreement had been reached previously.

The couple was married Sept. 4, 1937, after an elopement to Yuma, Ariz., shortly after Martin had appeared in a minor rôle in Miss Faye's picture, "Sing, Baby, Sing."

PREJUDICED TRIBUNALS.

Congressman Walter, a Pennsylvania Democrat, has introduced a bill to protect American citizens from the free play of burocratic prejudice. His bill has been well called a measure to regulate the regulators. It was favorably reported by the judiciary committee; more than a month ago the rules committee gave it the right of way. Since then little has been heard of it.

It is no exaggeration to say that this is the most important piece of legislation with which the present congress will deal. The provisions have been considered long and carefully. At the last session a similar bill was passed by the senate but later recalled. The rapid multiplication in recent years of quasi-judicial tribunals with the power of life and death over the various elements in the nation's economy has focused attention upon the unsatisfactory manner in which this authority is exercised and the need for restraining it if the worst abuses of totalitarian government are to be avoided.

Mr. Walter would not abolish a single regulatory commission. Everything that is now regulated would continue to be regulated. The labor board would still have the right to hear complaints of unfair labor practices. The secretary of the interior would continue to fix the price of coal, the secretary of agriculture to oversee the commodity exchanges, the Securities and Exchange commission to supervise the conduct of stock exchanges and investment bankers, etc., etc.

All of these functionaries, and all the others like them, however, would be required to observe regulations intended to promote fairness. The regulators would be required to publish their rules with a view to preventing a change in the middle of a hearing. The right of appeal to the courts would be expanded and any ambiguities on this point would be removed. The right of an interested person to intervene in a case which affected him would be established.

The bill is a moderate one. It accepts the premise that special tribunals must be established to deal promptly with intricate economic relationships. Many citizens will question the premise and no doubt the time will come when it will be reëxamined in the light of experience, but Mr. Walter does not open the larger question. He confines his measure strictly to the business of promoting impartiality. He wishes not to abolish a method of government but to improve it.

Like many other citizens, he has seen the administrative tribunals responding to political pressure and deciding cases from prejudice rather than from the evidence and the law. He has read the outraged findings of the appellate courts and seen many of them overruled by the Supreme court on the ground that the courts may not interfere in such matters. The abuses are already grave and unless checked they will grow until the government of this country will be scarcely distinguishable from that of Russia or Germany.

Only those who favor the Nazification of the American government will oppose the Walter bill. Citizens who believe in government by law rather than by executive whim will indorse it.

THE ARMY MEETS AN INVENTOR.

Lester P. Barlow, an inventor, has a new explosive made by mixing liquid oxygen with carbon which he asserts is more powerful than TNT or any other accepted military explosive. By bringing his claims to the attention of a congressional committee he has forced an agreement by the navy and war departments to participate in a test of his bombs.

Barlow's explosive may or may not be all that he claims for it. Use of liquid air or liquid oxygen in explosive mixtures is not new. That is not the point. The point is that altho Barlow has standing as an inventor—he prosecuted a claim for the appropriation of some of his inventions during the world war and won a $700,000 judgment—he was unable to get the service departments to test a weapon of possibly great value until he brought pressure of publicity on them.

Regardless of the merit of his invention, the treatment of Barlow looks suspiciously like another instance of jealousy by army and navy officers toward any suggestions of a military nature from civilians. The army and navy are naturally regarded as technical experts on defense. They seem to think, however, that to defend that status it is necessary to belittle and ignore any new technic that is not originated within their own charmed circle.

Their record is against them. They have always been reactionaries, not in the social sense but in their opposition to new ideas. The navy clung to wooden ships long after ironclads had demonstrated their superiority. It clung to sail when the rest of the world had turned to steam. That eminent mossback, Admiral Porter, once suggested, in the 1880s, that captains' pay be docked if they used coal when they could have proceeded under sail. Long after other navies had turned to rifled guns, ours stuck by smoothbore cannon.

The army was just as reactionary, opposing mechanization as long as it dared. Its treatment of Christie, the American inventor of the modern tank, was shabby, to say the least. This attitude, in both services, is largely the result of the monopolization of most of the commissions by the graduates of the military and naval academies. Under the law of averages it is inevitable that most of their graduates will be mediocrities, patriotic and well mannered, but still mediocrities.

They cannot stand the competition of exceptional men, and so they band together to disparage them and to discourage outsiders from venturing into the fields they have marked off as their own.

OUR PRESSES SAY IT WITH FLOWERS.

The turn of the season came with the first robins arriving in a snowstorm, which is usual—our customary introduction to spring—and with the odor of roses, lilacs, cape jasmine, honeysuckle, and blossoming thorns in your CHICAGO TRIBUNE, which is unusual. Three paragraphs on the first page told the reader that the breath of spring which pervaded the breakfast room with the coming of THE TRIBUNE was wafted from the page ad of the Allied Florists' association and was supposed to be the scent of carnations.

This was secondarily for your information; primarily it was intended to protect the men in the Tribune pressroom when they got home from work. If the pressmen were quick enough in flashing the paper the family could read about them almost as soon as the family smelled them, and they could clear themselves of suspicions which would be natural in the instance of a heavily scented head of a household otherwise not accounted for.

THE TRIBUNE has always prided itself on the working conditions in the plant and has endeavored to be first with the latest. It has air-conditioned offices to promote comfort and health. Health of the employés is further protected by medical and dental services, and social security has been taken care of by a satisfactory retirement plan. The Tribune home builders have access to a building fund. The Tribune employés are covered by group insurance, and everything that can be done to promote welfare and security in the Tribune establishment has been undertaken. But the pressroom outdid even Tribune traditions when it undertook to mix the breath of spring and some of the full fragrance of summer into printer's ink and send your morning copy out smelling as if it had come from a greenhouse or a blooming hillside rather than from the deepest inwards of a newspaper plant.

Nature collaborated by contributing a sharp winter wind and a bright January sun, which may have mitigated the intensity of the scent of blooming gardens. When in excess of one million copies of this flourishing and flowering newspaper were shaken into the air the total effect might have been in a way cloying if the day had been moist and warm. We cannot have everything in the advent of spring hereabouts, but we do get nearly everything, including the spring song of the cardinal in a driving snow, the meadow lark coming in for winter sports, and THE TRIBUNE issuing from an isle of violets.

To the families of the pressmen who worked in these scented gardens to produce the paper we may recommend a song in John McCutcheon's Island Song Book, entitled "My Love Works in a Greenhouse." The refrain of this masterpiece, as we recall it, gives the reason of the maiden for choosing between two suitors whose employment is indicated by the line:

"For a greenhouse has an odor that a livery stable hain't."

ARRESTS THAT COME TOO LATE.

Judge Frank M. Padden observed the other day from the bench in the Safety court that there seems to have been an increase in wild driving recently and perhaps some jail sentences would help. He then sent half a dozen drivers to jail on charges of reckless or drunken driving.

All but one of these drivers had hit another automobile. The one exception while drunk picked a telephone pole. Presumably occupants of their own or the other cars suffered minor injuries, at least.

The thought is neither new nor original, but would not public safety have been better served if police had picked up these drivers before they hurt some one? Accidents rarely result from the first exhibition of recklessness. They usually catch up with a driver after repeated incidents of careless driving and speeding. If he were caught and punished the first time he is guilty of such an offense he would be better off and every one else on the street would be safer.

At Chicago's doorstep Evanston demonstrates year after year what real enforcement of traffic laws can do to promote highway safety. When a sign on an Evanston street says 27 miles an hour is permissible, it doesn't mean 35, and the driver who goes 35 miles an hour normally finds himself in court. In consequence, Evanston wins safety awards more or less regularly, and its citizens can venture on its streets without risking their lives.

Elsewhere in the state regulation of motor traffic by police has wavered for years between nonenforcement of the law and blackmail of offending drivers. The authorities have been either unable or unwilling to undertake honest, sustained traffic regulation in the interest of saving lives. Such regulation, to be effective, will require real effort by a firm hand, but experience elsewhere proves that it will be worth the effort.

AFTER ALIMONY RACKETEERS.

[Detroit Free Press.]

State Senator Edward J. Coughlin, a Brooklyn Democrat, has started a little racket busting campaign by introducing at Albany a bill under which [to use the senator's words] "any female having been divorced once, and, after remarrying again sues for divorce, will be prohibited from making any application whatever for alimony."

We think the senator has something. As he puts it: "Every woman is entitled to one mistake, but when you have a woman casting aside her second or third husband, you find she is doing it because she is seeking a better bargain in the form of larger alimony allowances. . . . You will invariably find that each succeeding mate is wealthier than his predecessor, and consequently a better contributor to the alimony racket."

The Senator Coughlin is, perhaps, a little eloquent and a little sweeping and overinclusive in a part of his statements there is a great deal in what he says.

Alimony has its proper place in the adjustment of domestic schisms. Some women are entitled to it as a matter of common right, common justice, and in the interest of public morality.

But the alimony racket which the senator excoriates is a different matter. It is of a piece with the breach of promise and alienation of affections rackets now outlawed in several states, including Michigan.

As sometimes worked, it is about on a plane with cold-blooded, sordid, and carefully planned robbery.

It seems to us that Senator Coughlin has aimed a shrewd blow at an evil abuse.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

MR. PEPYS ON PARADE.

23d March—Am prepared for the Eastertide with a new suit that has never been worn, gray with a pencil stripe of white, most becoming; so tomorrow I must not sleep late according to my custom, but arise betimes to join the Easter parade, tho without hope of getting my picture into the public prints with the other gallants of the town, for I have no high hat to lure the photographers. Once I did have such a tall and glistening hat, which I cherished as a symbol of gentility, but I never wore it; and after many years I searched for it, but, lo, it had disappeared, and I think it had been given, without my knowledge, to the janitor. Lord, but I did storm about the house upon discovering its loss, and yet it had been of no use to me whatever.

This Easter, methinks, cometh too soon, for there is snow on the ground and the air is wintry, and Nature in this region has not yet felt the stirring of resurrection. But a late Easter is not to my taste either, and I agree with the thinkers who have for years been trying to fix the date of this high religious festival as the second Sunday in April. That would be a good time from every point of view, for I have heard wise men say that the date of the Crucifixion was most likely Friday, April 7, in the year of Our Lord 30.

Curious to see how my ancestor, Samuel Pepys, spent an Easter Sunday, I did find this entry in his diary for the year 1662:

"Up, and this day put on my close kneed colored suit, which, with new stockings of the color, with belt, and new gilt handled sword, is very handsome. To church, where the young Scotchman preaching, I slept a while."

A woman's lot: travail and giving birth,
Exacting trivialities of household cares,
Appeaseless longing for a kindlier earth,
The lilting exultation of the mind
At sight of greening grass or rain-sweet sky,
And strange disquietude of womankind
Who seek the unattainable unflinchingly.

Your pity hallows bitter pain and loss;
And sorrow holds an infinite hope since one
Who once stood weeping at the cruel cross
Beheld the resurrection of her Son.
The suffering you bore all women bear;
The joys you knew all kindred souls may share.

A Mother of Twins Speaks.

The reason there are so few famous twins may be that there is such a close bond of love and companionship between them that much of the frustration, bitterness, and hardships which goad many persons to success and fame is lacking in the lives of twins.

Many people entertain the idea that twins are slower and less intelligent than the average, but this is not so. Babies are born imitators and twins, instead of imitating the older people about them, imitate each other. Naturally this retards their progress.

After cutting out your paragraph about the manner in which fathers of twins consider themselves supermen [to be placed where another self-styled superman will be sure to see it], I cannot refrain from remarking that these proud daddies would soon reverse their opinions if, for one week, when their twins were between the ages of 1 and 2, they could have complete charge of their delightful offspring and the housework as well!

SUNDAY MORNING BREAKFAST.

(Suburban Soliloquies.)

O, Sunday morning breakfast
Is a leisurely affair;
The girls are dressed for Sunday school
And Sonny's combed his hair;
There isn't any hurrying—
No early train to make,
And crispy, sizzling sausages
Go fine with coffee cake!

There's sunshine in the window
And a nuthatch flies away
From where he's found his breakfast
On the outdoor feeding tray;
And another cup of coffee
There is ample time to take—
Another crispy sausage, please,
And a bit more coffee cake.

O, God has planned it very well,
This rest one day in seven,
And Sunday morning breakfast time
Is very close to heaven,
With time for love and laughter
And sunshine as we wake,
And crispy, sizzling sausages
And golden coffee cake!

All Bets Are Declared Off.

May I attempt, in my broken English, to point out that I never wagered the good Mr. Baude [March 14]. I do not know the good Mr. Baude. I never heard of the good Mr. Baude. I bet you, the Linemaster. Read the squib again [March 13]. Does it run, "Bet Al Baude"?

The Pied Typer [March 20] is like the Harvardian who spoke of a cylindrical earth-aperture. He means well.

Alias Keegan Lynch.

[The Linemaster presents his compliments to Mr. Lynch and confesses that if he had taken the bet he would have lost, altho he has seen the statue of Dr. Greene Vardiman Black, on the southern boundary of Lincoln park, at least 200 times in a partly misspent lifetime.]

FOOD FOR LANKY YOUNGSTERS.

WHENEVER we see a child who is thin and pale and who appears undernourished, the chances are that the fault lies with poor absorption or an out of balance menu. Most of our youngsters are able to obtain plenty of food but the assortment may be inadequate or improper. Occasionally cooking destroys the very constituents which we desire to preserve. As a matter of general principle, the shortest time that edibles can be heated—with resulting tenderness and palatability—the better.

Most growing boys and girls demand more calories than many an adult. They must be provided with ample nourishment not only to replace energy burned up in play but to build strong bones and supple muscles. Then, too, we must not forget that the heart, the lungs, and other vital organs are increasing in size—and a considerable proportion of all that is eaten must be allotted for this purpose.

The reason why we regard milk as important is because it is so rich in a variety of calcium that is easily assimilated. Furthermore, it contains proteins as well as minerals. A lad can take a large amount of lime by mouth and absorb but a minute fraction. A pint of milk will furnish 10 grains, all of which will be taken up by the body. But this quantity is not sufficient and this explains why we prescribe a pint and a half per day [including that used in cooking]. At least 15 grains of calcium—better 20—can be utilized. To the criticism that so much fluid will spoil appetite, the reply may be made that if sweets are not used excessively no difficulty will be encountered. There are so many dishes with which milk may be given—gelatine, sliced bananas, custards, rice, or bread pudding—that there should be little trouble in persuading the boy to take his full quota.

Physicians have observed that milk is well digested by some; not so by others. In the first place, the liquid should not be ice cold. Pain in the forehead will follow gulping a glass of frigid beverage of any sort. If it can be sipped slowly with a crust of bread or a bit of toast, more benefit will result. Then, midmorning and midafternoon portions will enhance absorbability over the usual three meals per day.

The problem of iron may be met by scraped beef or liver. Meat of some kind gives us protein in the form best assimilated and it is of greater value to the growing child than that which is offered by beans and peas. We have long since got over our notion that glandular organs are unfit to eat and sweetbreads, even kidneys, will afford useful substances. But there is no substitute for baked or broiled meats. About the least desirable type for the children is an already cooked, highly spiced, sausage mixture. Fish must not be forgotten, as here we have both vitamins A and D and—at least twice a week—fresh supplies are available in most communities.

Eggs, too, are desirable, and every tot—as soon as he reaches the age of 15 months—should have one soft boiled or poached egg each day. Here we find vitamins, a little calcium, phosphorus, and proteins. Now and then a youngster will be found who does not react favorably, whereupon some substitute will be called for.

Fruits—including the humble prune—should be employed. There are many sources of vitamin C and, in addition, we may serve stewed or baked apples because of their mineral and vitamin content. Sugars are needed, but not to the exclusion of other carbohydrates. Nevertheless, honey, jellies, and jams will fortify the child's ability to gain weight and resistance.

I have no patience with the "no breakfast" habit. In many respects this should be a substantial meal—one egg, a slice or two of bacon, toast, fresh fruit, and milk—and the eating period must not be hurried. There must be time enough for thoro mastication, with an interval of at least a half hour before Johnny and Sue troop off to school.

HYGIENE IN THE HOME.

Mrs. R. writes: Last year, when my mother had the flu, our physician advised me to wear a gauze mask, covering my mouth and nose, when I entered her room. He also recommended separate drinking glasses, towels, etc., in the home. We have carried out this plan and since then no member of the family has caught a cold from others.

I was taught since childhood not to kiss children on the mouth, but on the cheek. If a friend tries to kiss me on the mouth I turn my cheek.

REPLY.

Even the Bible says to turn the other cheek. Kissing on the lips, the use of the common drinking glass and towel, and careless coughing account for the spread of many of our infectious diseases. A gauze mask offers substantial protection in the sickroom.

HEARS PULSE.

A. P. writes: 1. How can a person prevent himself from hearing his pulse? 2. How can a person keep from becoming nauseated by strong smells?

REPLY.

1. This is a common experience when one lies on the side with an ear buried deeply into the pillow. With those who suffer from high blood pressure, the sound is likely to be louder. In most instances, however, it is a harmless manifestation. Change your position.

2. Neutralize the odor with perfume or an antiseptic. Sometimes it is a matter of self-control.

WHERE FARMERS ARE HARD UP.

Chicago, March 20.—I am only a housewife and don't know much about politics, but I have something to say to Observer, who thinks this "poor farmer stuff" is all the bunk.

Yes, he is right about most of the Illinois farmers enjoying the advantages he mentioned, but there are farmers in other states besides Illinois. And I wonder if he would be surprised to hear these facts about the Nebraska farmers, where my parents live. Illinois farmers, listen to this, and realize how lucky you are:

My father owns a half section of farm land out in northeastern Nebraska. Ever since the depression began they have had drouth and grasshoppers, too. In 1935, after a full year's hard work, my father harvested just exactly 15 [yes, 15] bushels of grain from a planting that would ordinarily have yielded over 5,000 bushels. A nice income, wasn't it, and he had to pay his taxes and interest that year the same as ever. The years since have been a little better, but without the government payments Observer mentions they would have had to give up long ago.

Seventy-five per cent of the farms out there are now owned by the Federal Land bank because the farmers couldn't keep up the payments on the loans as a result of crop failures year after year. Up until 1932 that country was a veritable Garden of Eden; now it is a sad place to see.

FORMER STANTONITE.

THE HAPSBURG CLAIM.

Chicago, March 19.—In behalf of the American Jugo-Slav Legion, many organizations of American citizens and world war veterans of Jugo-Slavian extraction, we protest most emphatically against any support to be given on American soil to Otto Hapsburg and the reactionary aims of a crumbled dynasty against which rose all nations that for centuries suffered in darkness and slavery under its subjugation.

The world war was set ablaze and rivers of blood were shed because of the unbearable conditions that existed in central Europe and which the Hapsburgs now wish to revive in the form of a Danubian federation. The liberty loving American democracy should not support nor tolerate any propagandistic action of those who exploit its freedom for their own nefarious ends.

Freedom is for those who know how to love and respect it and not for those who trample upon it for centuries. For this freedom of America and Jugo-Slavia, we, as loyal American citizens, have shed our blood and we are prepared to defend these principles against any one who tries to destroy them again.

THOMAS BLAZINA,
National Adjutant, American Jugo-Slav Legion.

MR. CROMWELL'S REMARKS.

Chicago, March 20.—Poor Jimmy Cromwell! To think that we are causing him mental anguish by closing our eyes "to avoid the horrid sight of the bloody and seething world revolution which threatens to overwhelm us all."

It's about time our fireside warriors were put to bed and their toy soldiers packed away in the attic. They are becoming boresome with their stories of the bogey man and awful things to come if we fail to take sides openly in the current European "war to end wars."

JAMES HOWARD.

CORRECTING DR. CRANE.

Chicago, March 20.—Please inform Dr. George W. Crane that he needs to study zoölogy because it is quite apparent he does not know an insect from an animal. I find the answer to his first question [March 20] is insect. Any high school zoölogy student will be able to inform him that a centipede is not an insect; neither is a spider.

TODAY IN HISTORY

March 23, 1775.

Patrick Henry delivered his famous "Give me liberty or give me death" speech in the second revolutionary convention of Virginia. Henry regarded war with England as inevitable, and made the speech in support of a resolution to arm the Virginia militia. An idol of the common people, he later served as governor of Virginia but declined election to the senate and appointments as secretary of state under Washington, chief justice, and envoy to France.

MR. ROOSEVELT'S SILENCE.

Chicago, March 18.—Should Mr. Roosevelt so far forget himself as to take the public into his confidence and state positively he would not run, business would show an unprecedented pickup. Should he say he would accept the nomination, business would at once go into reverse. So, in either case, the longer he can keep his intention from the public the longer he will keep the G. O. P. from using either result for political kindling.

SWAPPING HORSES.

Chicago, March 20.—In 1860 this country was on the verge of a civil war, and yet, to mix the metaphor, the people swapped horses in the middle of the stream. They swapped the mediocre Buchanan for the great Lincoln. Again in 1932 this country was in the throes of another great crisis, but, nevertheless, the people did not hesitate to use their sovereign power to make a radical political change. And now, once more, the time has come for still another change in parties, administrations, and policies, emergency or no emergency.

DOWER RIGHTS.

Chicago, March 20 [Legal Friend of the People].—Please tell me [1] does a man have a dower right in his wife's property? How much? My wife died intestate and our property [real estate] is recorded in her name. My son [a minor] and I are the only heirs. There is a mortgage on the building [a rooming house] in which I live.

If I do not make interest or principal payments and the mortgage is foreclosed [2] will the property [or estate] have to be probated?

3. Can the foreclosure and probate proceedings go thru court at the same time as [4] one or two procedures?

5. Can the mortgagee attach other real estate? Securities, which were registered in my wife's name, have, since her death and with the permission of the attorney general, been transferred to me and are now registered in my name. These securities have a par value of $2,000 and a market value of about $600.

6. May I sell these securities and use the returns?

7. May I charge medical, hospital and undertaking bills to the estate?

8. Getting back to the mortgaged property—may I live in the house during the court proceedings?

J. C. W.

1. Yes, as to her real estate.
2. If the property is taken away from you by foreclosure then no probate would be necessary as to this property.
3. Yes.
4. They would be separate.
5. This is possible.
6. We see no objection on the facts that you state.
7. Yes.
8. Depends on whether a receiver is appointed and on whether you can make satisfactory arrangements with the receiver if one is appointed.

B died a few years ago and property has reverted to A and C. C is married and separated but not divorced. C's wife lives in one of the buildings. Both building have small mortgages.

1. Does A now own 50 per cent of each building?
2. Can A sell his share of buildings with or without consent of C?
3. Can A make a will leaving his share of buildings to some one else?
4. Can A transfer his part of buildings to some one else with C's consent?
5. Can building in which C's wife lives be sold without her consent?
6. Can other buildings be sold without C's wife's consent.
7. Is C's wife entitled to a share of C's part of each building?
8. Is C's wife entitled to more of a share in building in which she lives?
9. Will mortgage interfere if A can make any of the above changes? H. B.

1. Yes.
2. Theoretically yes, but as a practical matter he would not be able to find a purchaser who would pay half of the full market price for such an undivided share.
3. No.
4. Yes.
5. If her husband should be the surviving joint tenant, and she survived him, she would have a dower interest.

THOUSANDS JOIN HOLY LAND RITES ON GOOD FRIDAY

Procession Moves Along 'Saddest Street.'

JERUSALEM, March 22 (AP).—Pealing churchbells and sunny weather invited thousands of Holy Land natives and pilgrims to worship today on the day of Christ's passion.

In the early hours of the morning Christians of many nationalities gathered at Pontius Pilate's court for a devotional procession along the Via Dolorosa, "the saddest street in the world."

With the war's concentration of thousands of British troops Holy Land disorders between Arabs and Jews have almost disappeared, and the air of dignity and orderliness here, where the Nazarene, burdened with the cross, walked to Calvary, was typical of all Palestine.

The ancient Church of the Holy Sepulchre was an animated scene of devotion, despite the fact few civilians were permitted to enter the edifice, now under repair. The service, nevertheless, lost none of its solemn splendor.

Pope at Special Mass.

VATICAN CITY, March 22 (AP).—In a special Good Friday mass in the Sistine chapel, Pope Pius today stepped out of his slippers, knelt thrice, prayed and kissed the crucifix. Thirteen shoeless cardinals went thru a similar rite after Cardinal Rafaele Rossi, camerlango of the sacred college of cardinals, celebrated mass.

Myron C. Taylor, personal representative of President Roosevelt, was among the spectators of the diplomatic corps.

French Services.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, March 22.—A comparison between France's wartime sufferings and the passion of Christ, by Cardinal Jean Verdier, archbishop of Paris, was read in the churches today to those attending Holy week services.

"We are all of us living thru a veritable Good Friday," declared the message, which predicted still harsher sacrifices to be followed by a lasting peace. Emphasis was given to the cardinal's words by sandbags protecting the façades and interiors of the chief churches, which were unusually crowded during the day.

German Stores Close.

BERLIN, March 22 (AP).—Germany observed Good Friday today in a quiet deepened by the war. Offices and stores were closed. Sermons were not especially influenced by the war altho the tone in many Nazified German Christian churches in the last few weeks has been "fight to victory."

Since the start of the war pastors and priests have been avoiding sermons that could be construed as political — always a sore point with Nazis.

Danes Mourn Lost Seamen.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, March 22.—Good Friday is the deepest religious holiday in Denmark. Flags fly at half staff thruout the country, but today the tradition took on an added meaning because of the many Danish seamen killed in the last two days during German attacks against shipping.

BIG VANDERBILT YACHT MAY GO TO A CANADIAN

Washington, March 22 [Special].—Cornelius Vanderbilt of New York proposes to sell his steam yacht Winchester to B. Pearson McCurdy of Halifax, N. S., with transfer to Canadian registry, the maritime commission announced today.

The Winchester is a 219.6 foot steel yacht with a speed of 16 knots. It was built at Bath, Me., in 1916, and has a gross tonnage of 411 tons.

Vanderbilt was reported to have left Miami a few days ago for a cruise on a chartered yacht. No information was available as to whether the Winchester is desired by the Canadian buyer for pleasure or other purposes. During the world war the vessel was purchased by the United State government for patrol duty. Outfitted with depth charge, listening devices and antiaircraft guns, the Winchester could be useful for coastal patrol.

British May Buy Singer Yacht.

White Plains, N. Y., March 22 [Special].—The 204 foot, 730 ton yacht Xarifa, owned by the late Franklin Morse Singer, may be sold for war wor kto the British government. This became known today when Surrogate Charles D. Millard here accepted a compromise settlement of Singer's $8,000,000 estate and admitted his will to probate. In the compromise the widow, Mrs. Emilie Maigret Singer, renounced her legacy to the yacht, valued at $350,000, and accepted $125,000 outright.

19 Injured by Explosion in U. S. Army's Arsenal

Dover, N. J., March 22 (AP).—Two workers at the army's Picatinny arsenal were admitted to Dover General hospital today and 17 others were treated for injuries received in the detonation of a five pound container of tetryl, a high explosive powder used in shells. Col. A. S. Byer, in charge of assembly operations, said the powder exploded accidentally while it was being compressed into pellets.

Dorothea Jaeger poses with Angel's Trumpet flowers at Garfield park.

Persons who have never seen an Angel's Trumpet may do so today, or practically any time until April 7, in the Garfield park conservatory. The trumpet will be shown as part of the Chicago Park district's 28th annual Easter and spring flower show which opens at 8 a. m. today. The trumpet is a large white flower about eight inches long and is related to the tomato and to the deadly nightshade. A similar show is being held in the Lincoln park conservatory.

EASTER SHOPPERS CHOOSING SIMPLE LINES, GAY COLORS

Hats Big or Little—All in Style.

Chicagoans engaged in a volume of pre-Easter buying yesterday that heartened merchants. Large crowds moved thru the loop and outlying business districts and surged about store counters. Children were out of school and went shopping with their parents. The youngsters added spice and sparkle to the throngs which impeded motor traffic at busy downtown intersections.

"Our big sales are in women's accessories," said David Mayer Jr., president of the State street council. "Because Easter comes so early this year and the weather has not been good, much of the heavier merchandise—suits and coats—will have its boom after the holiday."

Parade to Be Colorful.

There won't be any lack of color in the traditional parade. Navy blue and black suits and coats are popular as always, altho tweeds and plaids also are in demand this season.

Gowns are simple in line and color; many of them have lace adornments at cuffs and collars. Hats are very large or very small—and very gay. Breton sailors, of felt or straw, were popular items yesterday.

"They're picking every color of the rainbow in hats," said one saleslgirl.

Navy blue and black predominate in purses, but red, too, is in surprisingly high demand. Suedes, leathers and gabardines are the desired materials. Gloves follow the color scheme of purses. "Nude" shades in hosiery and the wedge type of shoes are on the crest of favor.

Men! A Sentence For You.

As for the men, some will sport plaids and heather tones in their suits and many a sedate fellow will have a glint of color in otherwise sober apparel.

Perfumes and books lead in the selection of gifts, for, merchants say, the shoppers are more practical this year. Boutonnieres and lapel jewelry are also in demand.

Flower sales are divided between lilies, roses, carnations, snapdragons, jonquils, tulips, sweet peas, and violets. Candy stores are featuring the usual chocolate coated Easter eggs.

WPA TO REMOVE CLAMS PILED ON JERSEY BEACHES

Washington, D. C., March 22 (AP).—President Roosevelt today instructed the Work Project administration to employ 473 men and spend $35,000 for removal of clams swept up on the Ventnor, N. J., and Margate, N. J., public beaches, by recent storms at sea.

Col. F. C. Harrington, WPA commissioner, said he would send to the White House a third application for similar assistance received from Longport, N. J., requesting the services of 123 WPA workers and $10,000 of federal funds to which the city proposed to add $3,700.

Officials said the clams were piled up several feet deep on the threshholds of the two communities and because of decomposition had created a public emergency.

WORLD WAR VET DIES.

Genoa, Ill., March 22 [Special].—Lawrence M. Duval, 48, world war veteran and operator of a grocery store here since his return from service in the war, died last night at a Sycamore hospital after an illness of two weeks. Funeral services will be held Sunday.

A Correction

We recently advertised a new Thor ironer and renewed Thor washer combination at $29.00 and coupon. In some instances salespeople gave excuses for not demonstrating the washer and discouraged customers from buying it.

We also advertised and illustrated new and used Apex, Thor, Maytag, Easy, and Hans washers $34.95. Some of these were not available at the advertised price.

We regret these errors and sales methods and have taken appropriate measures to remedy them. We pledge they will not recur.

SORROW OF GOOD FRIDAY GIVES WAY TO EASTER HOPE

Loop Theaters Thronged for Services.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Lent ends and Easter eve begins this afternoon. And with the arrival of this new day thousands of Chicagoans will turn from the somber meditations of their Good Friday devotions to the coming brilliance of the Easter festival of eternal life.

But the Good Friday reflections remain today to form the contrasting background for the fulness of tomorrow's hope. The Rev. Dr. John Timothy Stone, retiring president of Presbyterian Theological seminary, preaching in the Chicago Church federation three hour service yesterday at Chicago temple, referred to one aspect of this contrast.

Worshipers Throng Theaters.

"Envy, jealousy, anger, strife are all human qualities," he said, "but forgiveness and love are divine qualities and overcome all human weaknesses. An elderly English pastor once prayed: 'May this Easter season teach the world a new forgiveness and may it warm my heart to love my enemies'."

Worshipers thronged loop theaters where Good Friday services were conducted, and it was remarked last night that heavy attendance at Good Friday devotions in nearly all churches of the city may forecast increasing Easter congregations tomorrow. This afternoon is favored in many churches as the proper time for the administration of the sacrament of baptism when those baptized are symbolically "buried with Christ in His death."

The Volunteers of America will distribute Easter breakfast baskets this morning to needy families from the Ballington Booth Community center, 2841 West Washington boulevard.

Ready for Sunrise Service.

Harry G. Saulnier, chairman of the Easter sunrise service committee, announced all in readiness for the 6:30 trumpet call to worship in Soldiers' Field. He said he expects 60,000 worshipers this year to hear Dr. John Zoller of Detroit preach the Easter sermon. The Chicago Motor club predicted that 10,000 automobile loads of out of the city people will attend the Soldiers' Field service. More than 100,000 invitations to the service have been distributed to loop pedestrians by scores of young women in colored cellophane costumes.

The Easter service tomorrow morning in Rockefeller Memorial chapel, University of Chicago, will be held as a benefit of European refugee students at the Midway. Prof. John Knox, of the university faculty, will be the Easter preacher.

The 10 a. m. mass tomorrow at St. Patrick's church, 718 West Adams street, will honor the men who died for Ireland's freedom in the 1916 Easter week rebellion. Many Irish societies will attend the service.

JURY SUBPENAS 6 TO BACK JUKE RACKET CHARGES

State's Attorney Courtney announced yesterday that subpenas had been issued requiring six operators of juke boxes—automatic nickel in the slot phonographs—to appear before the grand jury Monday and testify regarding their allegations that the juke industry is falling into the hands of racketeers.

The men named are Joseph J. McNicholas, 1616 Granville avenue; Ben Eichell, 2109 Cornelia avenue; Carl A. Goertz, 1909 Lawrence avenue; George Pierantoni, of Wilmette; William Boreman, and H. J. Tindall, both of 5711 Wayne avenue. Five of the six are members of the Associated Phonograph Owners, Inc., but complained as individuals. They operate a total of 225 phonographs.

Their complaint was sent to the Chicago crime commission and relayed by that organization to Courtney. It related that policemen and state officers were harassing tavernkeepers to force them to put in jukes belonging to large companies.

BAND OF JOLIET HIGH SCHOOL TO TOUR FAR WEST

Music Educators Honor Famed Group.

The nationally famous concert band of Joliet Township High school will leave Monday for a 16 day tour of the far west as guests of the Music Educators' National conference, which has chosen it the outstanding school musical organization of the central west.

A. R. McAllister.

The band, under the direction of A. R. McAllister, who founded it 25 years ago, has won top honors nationally year after year. It has permanent possession of the two grand trophies offered by the National High School Band association, having won each three consecutive times.

Scored at Music Festival.

Its trophy gallery contains many other prizes captured during the years. Ferde Grofe, noted composer and conductor, chose Mr. McAllister's boys to play the world première of his arrangement of George Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue." The première was presented at the ninth Chicagoland Music Festival in Soldiers' field on Aug. 20, 1938.

The band's first stop will be in El Paso, Tex., for a concert; then it will cross the border into Mexico for an appearance in Juarez, Chihuahua. After another concert at Pasadena, Cal., the boys will go to Los Angeles to play at several high schools, the University of Southern California, Hollywood, and in Beverly Hills.

The nation will have an opportunity to hear them at 10:30 a. m. Sunday, March 31, when they broadcast from Los Angeles.

To Play at Conference.

On Tuesday, April 2, the Joliet bandsmen will make the appearance for which they were invited to the west. They will play before the annual convention of the Music Educators' conference in Philharmonic hall, Los Angeles.

On April 5 the band will leave for Las Vegas, Nev., where a concert will be played in the city park.

After visiting the Mormon temple in Salt Lake City, Utah, on April 7, the bandsmen will go on to Omaha for another concert. They also will be heard by the young citizens of Father Flanagan's Boys' Town, near by. April 9 will find them back in Joliet.

Mr. McAlister is taking 92 musicians ranging in age from 13 to 19 years.

AIRPLANE'S FATAL CRASH INTO LAKE BLAMED ON ICE

Icing of instruments and subsequent motor failure apparently caused a Chicago-bound plane to plunge into Lake Michigan Thursday, O. W. Young, senior inspector for the civil aeronautics authority, said yesterday. One of the three men aboard was drowned. Young said there was no evidence that any safety precautions had been violated. He said the pilot, William Conrad, had done an excellent job in bringing his land plane down on water without crashing.

Conrad and a passenger, Merle W. Hogan, were slightly injured. They were saved by the crew of a tugboat near which Conrad landed the monoplane. The third man, Orville Rose, 48 years old, drowned before he could be rescued. All are Detroiters.

The plane left South Bend, Ind., on the last leg of a Detroit-Chicago flight and soon ran into freezing weather. Conrad told Young and Perry Hodgden of the air safety board that he decided to land on the lake when his motor died, revived, then began sputtering again. He brought the plane down about 10 miles east of the loop.

PETITIONS TO SET UP A TELEVISION UNIT IN CHICAGO

Washington, D. C., March 22 [Special]. — The National Broadcasting company applied today to the Federal Communications commission for authority to construct three new television and five frequency modulation broadcasting stations. The television stations will be established in Washington, Philadelphia, and Chicago; the high frequency stations in Washington, Cleveland, Chicago, Denver, and San Francisco.

Today's action, according to N. B. C. officials, implies that the company is pushing plans for a television network. The first link will be between New York and Philadelphia. If it proves satisfactory, Washington probably will be the next city to get television.

The FCC recently announced that tho the new medium still was in its preliminary stages, the time had arrived when commercial operation should be permitted.

He went from the train to the W-G-N studios, where he was interviewed by Quin Ryan on his afternoon News program. Pasternak, who "discovered" Miss Durbin, predicted that her greatest days in movies are still to come.

He figured in the news in 1926 as the fiancé of Vera, the countess of Cathcart, whose admission to the United States was contested on grounds of moral turpitude. He later collaborated with the countess on her play, "The Ashes of Love," which had an unsuccessful run on Broadway and in which she starred during the shore time she remained in this country.

Lehman, Alfred E. Smith, and leaders of the bench and bar were among the 500 mourners. Members of the family included Mr. Untermyer's daughter, Mrs. Stanley Richter, and his two sons, Justice Irwin Untermyer and Alvin Untermyer. Nearly 800 orchids, grown at Greystone, were on the coffin as Rabbi Dr. Abba Hillel Silver of Cleveland conducted the services.

Club Luncheons Will Follow Easter Parade

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE weather tomorrow is of paramount importance to all those who are looking forward to being in, or being onlookers at, the traditional Easter parade. With Easter so early not even the most optimistic could hope to wear a spring coat or suit, but every one is counting on wearing a new Easter bonnet, and trusting that galoshes or rubbers will not be in order.

Up and down Michigan avenue the church-goers will parade, if the day be fair at all. The usual crowds will assemble at Delaware place and Michigan avenue to watch the worshipers at the Fourth Presbyterian church go in and come out. Why the public has chosen that particular church as the one at which to watch the fashionable world on Easter, we do not know, for there are several others whose congregations are just as fashionable and wealthy.

Easter Luncheon at Casino Club.

Casino club members and their families will assemble after the Easter parade at the smart little one-story club in East Delaware place to partake of spring lamb and other seasonal delicacies and to hear the same Hungarian Gypsy orchestra that has furnished the music at the previous Easter luncheons at the club.

The party will be a sort of a farewell for the club president, Mrs. I. Newton Perry, for she and her husband and their daughter, Miss Sally, leave fairly soon for a trip to the Philippines. Just when they will leave is indefinite, for the ship in which they were to have sailed on April 5 has been delayed and probably will not sail until a week or more after that.

The Casino luncheon will welcome home a past president, Mrs. Frank Hibbard, for she and Mr. Hibbard arrived at home on Thursday night from a trip to Palm Beach and Boca Grande. The Hibbards will be among Mrs. A. H. Patterson's guests tomorrow. Others who are entertaining, in addition to the Perrys and Mrs. Patterson, are Count and Countess Bolognesi, Harold Swift, Dr. and Mrs. James Herbert Mitchell, Mrs. Jacob Baur, the G. Cook Kimballs, and Mrs. Harry M. McIntosh.

Mrs. John C. Murphy has been in charge of arrangements for the luncheon.

Mrs. Crane May Arrive to Attend Luncheon.

Mrs. Patterson is hoping that her sister, Mrs. Richard T. Crane, will be at home in time to attend the luncheon party. Mrs. Crane is expected soon from a trip south which included stops at Natchez, Miss., Coconut Grove, Fla., and Sea Island and Jekyl Island, Ga. Mrs. Crane has a house on Jekyl Island, but it has not been open since Mr. Crane's death some years ago.

Harlow D. Higinbotham, who motored south with his sister, is remaining in Richmond for a visit with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Skelton Williams. Mrs. Crane and Mr. Higinbotham visited the former Florence Crane and her

On the House

If you would like a bit of outdoor beauty reflected in your home, try placing a mirror panel at some strategic point where it will capture an outdoor picture. The mirror will bring both beauty and color into a room. It will make your room seem larger and lighter. LOUISE BARGELT.

Thru the LOOKING GLASS

We've had books on how to win friends, on how to relax, on how to live. Why doesn't some one write, for the special benefit of the busy woman, a little book on how to choose and take and make the most of a bath? It's really quite a subject.

We know, for example, that with hot and cold running water and a bottle of our favorite lemony friction lotion, you can do yourself an amazing amount of good. And there are special baths for special requirements; the right kind can tide you over the worst of almost anything, from a hangover to a bad case of the blues.

If you want a leisurely luxury bath, devote about an hour to it. It's a grand way to spend the time. Have the water warm, load it with the lemony scented lotion, and relax while you scrub. Toward the end of your allotted time, cool the water a bit and after you step out have a nice rubdown with the fragrant, stimulating liquid.

When you've been out late at night and just can't bear the thought that bosses and buses wait for no career women resist the temptation to loll in the tub. Grope your sleepy way to the shower, take one minute of warm water and then turn the regulator until you've had one minute of cold water. Then a quick, brisk rubdown. You'll feel as tho you had your good eight hours of sleep—all full of pep.

And this same friction lotion is marvelous for quick pickups during the day. It deodorizes, mildly but very pleasantly, and it will make hand and face washing a refreshing rite.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

"'Louise' is not 'Grand' opera, dealing with the ways of upholstered kings and queens, but the simple story of the simple people of yesterday, today, and tomorrow, now retold in terms of their favorite medium, the screen. . . ."

This title, by Deems Taylor, commentator par excellence on musical matters, who has written all the English titles for this French dialog film, is a prologue evidently intended to allay the apprehensions of worriers who fear that this first opera to be screened intact may prove too highbrow for them.

I shall leave talk of nuances, arpeggios and the like to Mr. Barry, who knows all about them and who will, undoubtedly, see this picture and comment on it in his own inimitable fashion. At any rate he SHOULD do so—for it's right up his alley. . . . My review is only for folks like myself who don't know much about music, but DO know what they like.

I liked "Louise." Liked it for a number of reasons, first and foremost being that I always enjoy Grace Moore. Her voice, yes. But, more, the warmth and ecstasy of her! She seems to love so to sing that she sweeps you up in the embrace of her enthusiasm and makes you love to have her do so. One of the most vital personalities in public life, I think.

Then—I was fascinated by the teamwork of director and photographer—the imagination of the one and the cunning of the other in getting and projecting his idea. This coördination has resulted in rhapsodic sequences that are exquisite and exciting.

Then, while I didn't in the least care for the two male leads as players I DID have sense enough to appreciate the fact that they can sing. . . . Otherwise, deponent would as soon, or, perhaps, rather, have seen "Louise" as a straight movie—"with music." [Just NO taste, that woman.]

The story? Simple.

Louise is a charming French girl who works in a Paris dressmaking establishment. She has Bohemian tendencies and a musical composer lover, Julien, who sees life through the same sort of glasses as does she. Her parents—puritanical. Very strict. Terribly against poor Julien.

Their treatment of Louise sends her flying to her lover's arms. . . . Follows for the girl a glamorous season during which she is crowned queen of Montmartre. . . . Her father's illness brings her home again. . . . The old man recovers, reverts to form . . . Louise?——

The picture shall reveal the ending.

Just 40 years ago "Louise" made its debut as an opera.

[Your turn, Edward.]

Looking at Hollywood

By Ed Sullivan

The Passing Show.

Hollywood, Cal., March 22. — Joe Penner, I see by the papers, is still doing handsomely for himself, what with pictures, a radio program, and personal appearances swelling his weekly "take" . . . Those who said that Penner, ex-Detroit choir boy, was only a flash in the pan when he won attention nationally on the Vallee program are ready to agree that their first estimate was wrong.

It was in 1934 that Penner asked Vallee "D'you wanna buy a duck?" and he's been going strong ever since. . . . The thing that amazed Penner after that first broadcast was the sudden national popularity of the phrase. . . . He'd been doing it for years of vaudeville, so when the one broadcast accomplished more than years of vaudeville, he was completely bewildered—and completely happy.

Not so long ago, at the Penners, I asked him to tell me exactly where "D'you wanna buy a duck?" first came to life. . . . He said that he used it first, quite accidentally, on the stage at Birmingham. . . . His act, at that time, was a somewhat apprehensive heckling of the master of ceremonies. . . . "D'you wanna buy a hippopotamus?" Penner would ask, hopefully.

In this particular show, Penner stumbled into the duck reference, and it got a big laugh from the audience. . . . From then on, that was 1929, he kept it in his act. . . . But he'd been doing it for five years before it made him a nationally known comic.

There's no doubt that such a catchphrase is important identification. . . . Jack Pearl demonstrated that with "Vas you dere, Sharlie?" . . . President Roosevelt did all right with "My Fra-a-nds." . . . Major Bowes, mystery of the entertainment business, clicked with his "The wheel of fortune goes 'round and 'round: where it stops nobody knows." . . . It always stopped pretty near the major's wallet.

Kay Kyser's pithy "Stud-dents" is an attention arrester. . . . But nobody ever coined a phrase that packed more wallop than Penner's, and after winning attention he was good enough to go on to substantial triumph. . . . The emigrant kid from Hungary deserves a world of credit for what he has accomplished. . . . He's a fine, warmhearted person.

Comedian Penner, familiar with the problems of getting laughs from audiences, would be a trifle puzzled to drop in on Leo McCarey and Garson Kanin, a pretty good laugh getting combination in flickers. . . . McCarey's "The Awful Truth" won shrieks of laughter, and Kanin's "Bachelor Mother" was pretty apt comedy.

From Rio de Janeiro and George O'Brien, a long letter describing the cowboy actor's adventures in South America. "They love life down here and any guy who can swim, ride, fight and dance all night is 100 per cent with Brazil. . . . Carnival was just winding up when we arrived. . . . It goes on for days, and they have fun from the start. . . . I have learned the native dances of Brazil, just as I did in Chile. . . . The favorite is the samba, which is somewhat like the rhumba but with a much faster tempo.

"Carmen Miranda's sister, Aurora, stars in one of the night clubs here and we are begging her to come to North America next winter and demonstrate the samba. . . . Incidentally, Ed, the clubs here are something like Madison Square Garden with music. . . . You could put the Victor Hugo, the Troc, Ciro's, the Cocoanut Grove, and the Stork all lumped together into one of them and still have room for 42 tables.

"One is three blocks long, with separate cabaret, lounges, bars, three dance bands, and gaming rooms. They open at 7 p. m. for dinner and close at 7 a. m., with plenty of action in the bars, the game rooms, and on the dance floors for the full 12 hours. . . . Marguerite [Churchill] and I danced the samba until 3:30 this morning and then the whole party of 40 went swimming in the surf, followed by breakfast on the beach at 7:30 a. m. . . . See you back in the saddle at RKO, Ed, and teach you the samba . . . between takes."

Lovely Flowers Add Beauty to Joyful Easter

BY REA SEEGER.

Floral offerings for the Easter parade promise enough color in corsages to rival the flowery confections in headgear. It will take an eagle eye to tell the difference between the artificial blooms in the hats and the flowers in the lapel or the beautifully mixed combines pinned on the shoulders.

Sunny yellow tulips or white or pink tulips are used for exceptionally effective bouquets. Some of the tulips spread wide, others appear as buds.

White and blue violets go with pale pink sweetheart roses or with valley lilies. White and colored orchids fashion other bouquets. Mauve and purple orchids make ideal corsages to contrast dark blue suits and coat dresses.

Multicolored corsage arrangements using from three to six different colors and buds, blossoms and foliage are this year's contributions that rival the hats in colors.

Potted plants for Easter Sunday delivery offer everything in spring beauty. Romantic gardenia plants have dozens of the buds against shiny green leaves. Red rambler and pink rose plants, dwarf azalea plants in a delectable pink coral; the usual large showing of Easter lilies, and unusual deep blue hyacinths, appear in showings of lasting blooms for the home.

White roses, butter yellow, crimson, delicate pink, and the yellow-pink roses are ready for long boxes. Snowy sprays of white stock and snapdragon, gorgeous golden orange zinnias, tulips of all shades, and gladioli in pastels and white help complete the lovely Easter flower selections.

Famous Maker of Faces.

Some music lovers were expressing their appreciation of Dr. Stock Thursday afternoon and in the group was Paul Leyssac, narrator of Peter and the Wolf at Wednesday's children's concert. The Prokofieff fairy tale, which was given recently at the Thursday-Friday concerts, was on the program of the concert played in Milwaukee this week by the Chicago Symphony orchestra. There are a number of amusing incidents in the composition at which Chicago concert goers laughed. The Milwaukee audience kept a straight face. After the first of the humorous moments passed with no evidence of amusement on the part of the listeners, Dr. Stock, at each succeeding light bit, pulled a long, dour face for Mr. Leyssac's benefit.

The Kemps, now at the Palmer House, have taken a 12,000 mile tour with the orchestra in a de luxe trailer that has a living room and a tiled bathroom. . . . Raised by Writers.

Robin Douglas, author son of famous Norman Douglas, gave some intimate and diverting pictures of his father and of Joseph Conrad, in whose home he lived for some time, in his tea-time talk, Raised by Writers, before the English Speaking union.

Conrad, in a dressing gown, a monocle screwed into his eye, walking up and down the graveled court in front of his home, Cable House, some 60 miles from London. Pretending the court was the quarter deck of a ship, he was giving young Douglas lessons in bringing a ship into port and occasionally he used the graveled court as a chart, drawing diagrams with his cane.

"It was at this time he was writing Victory," said Douglas.

* * *

There were other pictures. Norman Douglas, planning to write London Street Games, going out, his pockets filled with small toys, to spend the day asking the street gamins of London about their games; Douglas at one of Muriel Draper's musical evenings at her house in London, playing piano accompaniments for Casals.

"My father gave me a plate of food and a package of cigarets and told me to keep out of the way," said young Douglas.

He didn't see his father from 1910 to 1916, but one day when he was leaving Austria for Naples he remembered that his father was in Florence and telegraphed him suggesting they dine together.

Delighted. Shall I order dinner? Douglas wired back.

Arrived in Florence, Robin hunted for his father's name among all the Italian names on the letter boxes, found it, and knocked.

"O, there you are," said the father who hadn't seen him for six years. "Come along in."

"The first thing a child raised by writers learns is that the child is unimportant," said young Douglas. "There is one cardinal rule, 'Don't bother me'."

Jewish Feast of Purim to Start Tonight

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Purim, the Jewish feast of Lots, will be observed by synagogues tonight and tomorrow. This annual festival commemorates the deliverance of Jews in Persia from a threatened pogrom during the reign of Ahasuerus, king of Persia who was defeated in 483 B. C. by the Greeks at the battle of Salamis.

The scriptural story is related in the book of Esther. Haman, prime minister to Ahasuerus, plotted to exterminate the entire Jewish race because a Jew, Mordecai, refused him obeisance. His intrigues were frustrated by the intercession of Esther, the queen and a foster child of Mordecai. The annual celebration, ordained by the great men of the synod of which Mordecai was a member, has four principal features—reading the book of Ester, giving alms, a family reunion, and masquerading.

Congregation Anshe Emet synagogue, Pine Grove avenue and Grace street, will hear the Megillah, the scroll of Esther, tonight. Tomorrow morning the children will give "The Purim of the Wizard of Oz," a musical play written by Ben Aronin of the Sunday school staff. The Purim ball in the evening will be held in Anshe Emet community hall.

A masked Purim ball will be held tonight, sponsored by the men's club of Temple Sholom, at Frankenstein Memorial center, 3480 Lake Shore drive.

Sunday afternoon the children of the religious school of Emmanuel congregation, 701 Buckingham place, will celebrate their Purim carnival with a drama, "The Dyspeptic Ogre," and prizes will be awarded for the best costumes at the masked party in the community hall which follows the play

Children of Agudas Achim North Shore congregation, 5029 Kenmore avenue, also will give a play tomorrow, under the direction of Miss Bee Freedman. In the evening the Purim S'udah—community supper—will take place.

Students of the College of Jewish Studies, 220 South State street, will hold a carnival tonight at the Midland hotel, 172 West Adams street. A Queen Esther for 1940 will be chosen, and the grand ballroom will be decorated to represent the locale of the Purim story.

Gun Bought Grant

By Luke Short

[Copyright: 1940: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

SYNOPSIS.

Framed by Santee Bales, Sam Teacher, outlaw cowboy, shoots the bank robber dressed to resemble him. The governor offers Sam full pardon of all the crimes accredited to him if he will persuade Matt Drury to sell the railroad the right of way thru one of his canyons. Sam accepts on his own high terms of $25,000 in addition to full pardon. He gets a job on Drury's ranch and has a run-in with Drury's worthless son, Steve. Instead of firing Sam, Matt accepts his advice about reforming Steve by giving him a small stake and making him get out on his own; and he also accepts Sam's advice about making his pretty but spoiled daughter, Celia, take over the responsibilities of running the house. Steve in a huff goes down to the town saloon and gets into a crooked poker game with Sam Bales, ending up the big loser and having to go into partnership with Bales, ostensibly to raise horses, tho Bales' scheme is to get young Steve to obtain the canyon grant from his dad and double-cross the governor. Celia has a run-in with Matt and leaves home. Sam, investigating the canyon, is captured by Bales and his men. They steal his gun, tie him up, and leave him. Sam finally gets loose and goes back to town and is arrested for the murder of Steve Drury. The gun with his initials on it is found near the murdered man. Matt is determined to have Sam hanged, but his foreman, Pearly, convinced of Sam's innocence, resigns and visits Sam in jail, and then goes on a private investigation. At Steve's funeral, Matt begs Celia to return home, but she refuses.

INSTALMENT XVIII.

CELIA GOES TO WORK.

In these last three days Celia had come to believe that she wasn't worth her father's love, and that what Sam Teacher had called her wasn't far from the truth. He had been so right about Steve, she remembered. Now that Steve was gone, she missed him, but in the way that she would have missed a piece of furniture. She was used to him without having any love or liking for him.

His death meant that she would have fewer quarrels, that she would not be bullied so much, that she would not have to share anything now. Coldly and clearly she saw that Sam Teacher was right: Steve had been a worthless wastrel with nothing about him that was lovable, not even his bragging, which might have been tolerable in somebody else. And, if Teacher was right about Steve, why wasn't he right about her? He was, she was beginning to think.

Helen was still in Celia's room when she entered. "I'm leaving, Helen," Celia said.

"Going back? Good. I knew you'd patch it up."

"We haven't patched it up and I'm not going back," Celia said. "I'm going to work."

"But where?"

"I don't know. I'm going to get a job and then get a room and live by myself."

Helen came to her feet, amazement on her face. "But, Celia, you can't! Think of your father!"

"I am."

"But nobody works, no women. That's for men. Besides, what sort of work would you get. A servant's job? That's all women can do—that, and make hats or dresses."

"O, I don't know," Celia said in a low voice. "But, if I have to be a hired girl on somebody's ranch, I can do that. Let's don't talk about it."

"You're welcome to stay here as long as you want."

"Thanks. But I won't do it," Celia said, remembering with a kind of wry distaste what her father had said about wearing out her welcome. She wasn't going to do that. "I'm going job hunting."

Walking down to the plaza under the shade of the big oaks that lined the street, she took stock of her resources. She had none—except a theoretical willingness to work. With a thoroly feminine sense of reality, she knew that her looks, which never failed to attract men, and her size, which never failed to give them a desire to protect her, would be of no avail now.

And she was right. She told Harvey Miles, who owned the Emporium, that there were a hundred women who bought at his store. Then why shouldn't he hire a woman clerk, who could understand their wants and please them? Miles was an opinionated man; it showed in his close set eyes which shuttled between easy tolerance and suspicion. They were neither one nor the other as he told her that she was right, but for every yard of dress goods he sold to women, men bought 50 pair of levis; for every sack of flour bought by a woman, the ranches bought two barrels. No, this was a man's store, where men loafed, swore, swapped yarns, and bought supplies. A woman would drive them off. If it was money she wanted, he'd loan her any amount she wanted.

She tried the Elite, with the same success. Undaunted, she turned to the hotel, and was refused because all the work there was too menial. It did her no good to argue that menial work was what she wanted. Ben Luckman only laughed and refused.

On the street again, she began to get frightened and desperate. For the first time in her life she realized that she had nothing to market, that she was a woman and therefore inferior when it came to earning a living, and that, unless she wanted to swallow her words and go back to her father, she would have to break down this barrier.

It was then that she saw the sign on Double Jack Jackson's Gem café, and something clicked. Double Jack had driven a Star 22 roundup wagon for fifteen years before he had saved the money to buy this restaurant. She had ridden many a day on the seat of the chuck wagon beside him.

Double Jack's Gem café was a narrow room with a line of stools and a counter on one side, and two tables on the other, the last to bear out the sign on his window, "Tables for Ladies."

He was a grouchy looking man to a stranger, with his bald head and its thin saddle of dry gray hair, his yellow, impatient face and his truculent eyes. Celia, however, was not awed, knowing that all ranch cooks are savage looking, enormous drinkers, and really gentle men.

Double Jack came out of the kitchen at her entrance, rubbing his hands on his apron. He wouldn't speak of Steve, she knew, because he had been to the funeral and would consider it an ample concession to the decencies.

She took a stool and he said, "No jellycake, sis. But I got the sinkers you like."

"Hello, Double Jack. It's not food today."

"Not hungry?"

"All right. Doughnuts and coffee."

Double Jack got two cups of coffee and a plate of doughnuts and they both ate, he from his side of the counter, Celia from her stool. When she had praised his cooking, which was really good, and he had admitted it, she said, "I want a job, Double Jack."

He glared at her with mock ferociousness. "Punchin' cattle, maybe."

"No. I mean it."

Celia nodded. "This time for good. I'm out on my own, and I have to support myself."

"Make hats," Double Jack said. "I can give you the fried eggs to paste on 'em."

"Be serious. I want to work here."

Double Jack had a cup of coffee halfway to his mouth. He set it down slowly and said, "What?"

"I can wait table. I can make change. I can learn enough about cooking to make the coffee and the pastry. Besides that, you need some one."

"Supposin' I do. I don't need you."

"What's the matter with me?"

"Nothing, only—only—why, hell, you're Matt Drury's daughter."

Celia put both elbows on the counter. "If a strong, healthy girl, willing to work, a girl you knew you could get on with and who liked you, stepped up to your counter today and asked you for a job, would you give it to her?"

"I reckon," Double Jack said cautiously.

"Then forget about dad. I'm dead serious about needing money and work and a place to live. And I'll work too."

"I'll pay 20 a month and food. Where'll you live if you get the job?"

"I don't know. But I'll find a place."

There's a storeroom up above the café here, and it's only got one entrance, thru the kitchen. Reckon you could clean it up and use it?"

"You mean you'll give me work?"

"That's what I'm sayin', ain't it?" Double Jack shook his head. "Hell, I've had a Drury around me half my life. I might's well keep around 'em the rest of my life."

Celia leaned over and kissed his bald head, and Double Jack grinned. But as she went out his face settled into gravity again. It looked to him like he'd made a bad deal. She was a little hellion from the word go, never done a lick of work in her life. If she decided she liked the sound of plates breaking, she'd drop a hundred of them on the floor just for fun. He shrugged and turned back into the kitchen. After all, Matt Drury had been his bread and butter for 15 years, and damn good bread and butter too. He guessed he could do that much for him—and besides, hellion or no hellion, he liked Celia.

Celia was happy as she walked down the street. Pearly Gates was standing on the step of the small saddle shop that adjoined the sheriff's office and the jail.

She came up to him and he took off his hat, grinning.

"Dad said you quit, Pearly."

"Unh-hunh. I'm wore out. Takin' a rest."

"Because you think Sam Teacher didn't kill Steve?"

No Jury Society Hangs Pleasing, Clever Exhibit

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The 15th annual exhibition by members of the Chicago No Jury society of Artists opens tonight at the American Fore gallery, 830 North Rush street. The exhibit comes as a pleasant surprise because this organization, which has hung many and many a poor show, has succeeded this time in making a most likable affair of the annual. There are a majority of pleasing pictures in the show and few that are vulgar.

Wellington J. Reynolds, dean of Chicago figure painters, presents "Invisible Cow Going Up Hill," a joke on modern art that is well received. He has broken every canon of good painting but the result is an excellent parody on much of the painting going around today under the guise of good modern. Mr. Reynolds lists the canvas as "priceless."

"Three Gendarmes" by May Giruth is clever in what is left out and what is included. The artist has made as effective a use of the abstract in painting as we have found yet. "Fresh Earth" by Ralph J. Rice is a little poem, a couplet to spring. Flora Schofield shows a strong piece of drawing in "Mother and Child." Julia Thecla again shows herself as greatly gifted in the little "Silver Bell Cabaret," the head of the girl is superlatively expressed. Frances Foy shows a small "Portrait," a girl in a blue blouse. The exhibition will continue to April 7 and is well worth seeing.

Miss Schipfer Will Become Bride Today

For her marriage to Joseph S. Miller this afternoon in Christ church chapel, Winnetka, Miss Odessa Schipfer is wearing the ivory satin and duchesse lace gown in which her grandmother became a bride. The dress belongs to Mrs. Paul C. Remington, who has come from her home in Bismarck, N. D., for today's ceremony.

The wedding will take place at 4:30 o'clock, with the Rev. E. Ashley Gerhard officiating. A reception for the families only will follow at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Lloyd A. Schipfer. Dr. and Mrs. Schipfer and the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William S. Miller, are next door neighbors in Winnetka.

Altho the reception guests are limited to close relatives, the gathering will not be especially small, as the bridegroom is one of the numerous descendants of Roswell B. Mason, mayor of Chicago at the time of the great fire, and the bride is one of seven children. She will have one sister, Miss Carol Schipfer, as maid of honor, and two others, Frances and Nancy, as bridesmaids. The eldest of their brothers, Lloyd Jr., is to be an usher.

William Whipple Miller will be his brother's best man. Also ushering will be Henri V. Bouscare, Frederic A. De Peyster Jr., and Pennock Mercer of Port Huron, Mich. After a wedding trip to Jamaica Mr. Miller and his bride will be at home in Chicago.

Gossips Earn Only Enemies, Never Friends

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

If you were voting on the most disliked person in your acquaintance, what would be the characteristic to determine your vote?

Our vote would go to the individual who tells one something unpleasant that some one else has said. Our judgment is that this quality characterizes the lowliest form of human makeup, because the informant has no decent motive for passing on the bad news. There is something gnawing at her or his vitals against you, but he or she lacks the courage to come out in the open with it, so stabs you in the back with a peculiar brand of stiletto.

Certainly such informants possess a low form of breeding, for one of the stanchest principles of a person of good breeding is never to repeat an ill-favored remark to the one about whom it has been said. That's as strict a ruling as not eating with one's knife.

One never heard of a real friend, a good friend, reporting nasty remarks.

Your vote for the most disliked person might go to the individual who is oily smooth to your face but who, you know, will stab you the minute your back is turned. But this type can be avoided easily because of her obviousness.

An Easy Sewing Lesson

WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

Do you want to learn to sew? It's a valuable art, since it saves you money and gives you pleasure. Today we're presenting a pattern that serves well as a first dressmaking lesson. Furthermore, it's a dress you'll enjoy owning for your hours around home, for informal hostessing and your rôle as chatelaine. There are no sleeves to set in, since the shoulders are kimono style. There are buttons all the way down the front, but not plaits. Around the waist is a narrow, self-fabric belt, and the only trimming is rickrack braid, used on the contrasting collar and on the simple sleeve capes.

Style No. 2858 is designed for sizes 14 and 16, and 36, 38, 40, 42, and 44 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3¼ yards of 39 inch material, with ¼ yard of 35 inch contrasting.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Cooking Editor Has Food News of California

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1940: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Chicago seems somewhat gloomy and cold after a sunny California vacation. One misses those wonderful open-air markets, the mountains of grapefruit, oranges, lemons, apples, the piles of green and red cabbages, the huge bunches of green celery, so different from our habitual delicate white celery hearts, and so crunchy and good to eat.

It was fun to walk around among the heaped fruits and vegetables, selecting here and there the most enticing ones. Squash ranged in size from the huge yellow banana squash to tiny green ones which would make about four bites apiece. Chard, spinach, cress, crisp carrots, newly pulled beets, broccoli, tender asparagus, chayotes, avocadoes, persimmons, kumquats, loquats, and fresh dates helped make these markets a gourmet's paradise.

But Chicago housewives are more fortunate than California housewives in some ways. We never have the slightest difficulty in finding excellent quality meats. Meats are a problem out there, so much so that many families serve almost vegetarian meals. Fish are abundant and of good quality, except for shrimps and oysters. Pacific coast shrimps are pathetically small. Six or eight of them make a good mouthful, and their flavor is nothing to boast about. Good restaurants serve Atlantic or Gulf shrimps. Western lobsters are clawless, but excellent eating. "Eastern" hams on menus probably indicate mid-western hams, for Chicago and the middle west are "east" to the Californians.

Surprisingly enough, Florida grapefruit was found on the menu in one restaurant. This seemed strange, in a land of grapefruit.

Persimmon pudding is a favorite dessert. I collected several recipes for this delicious, spicy treat. Persimmons aren't to be found in our markets right now, so perhaps you'll save this too-good-to-keep recipe until the beautiful orange fruit again comes in season.

Persimmon Pudding

¾ cup sugar
1 teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
1 cup persimmon pulp
½ cup raisins
½ cup chopped walnuts
1 tablespoon butter, melted
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 egg, well beaten
½ cup milk

Sift flour, sugar, soda, spices together. Add raisins and nuts. Combine remaining ingredients and stir into the dry mixture until blended. Place in greased can, cover tightly, and steam for an hour or an hour and a half, or cook covered in the top of a double boiler for that long. The pudding may be baked in a covered casserole for an hour at 350 degrees. Remove the cover immediately after baking. Serve the pudding with lemon sauce or whipped cream, warm or cold.

How's this for a cross-country airplane dinner? Fresh crab legs Louis wafers; sweetbreads, chicken and mushrooms in white wine sauce with steamed rice; green peas; buttered rolls; chicory with hearts or artichoke and French dressing; deep dish cherry pie; coffee. It was as good as it sounds, and piping hot!

Pretty Hand-Knitted Gilet

Hand-knitted gilets are the gay deceivers which may accompany any suit or coat dress without a guilty conscience. Knitted of crêpe, with a band of garter stitch around the bottom, the front is done in the popular stockinette stitch. The collar is knitted in garter stitch and requires a minimum of time and material.

North Shore Guilds Hold Sales Today.

One of the nice things about the Easter sales of the woman's guild of Christ church in Winnetka and the parish guild of the Church of the Holy Spirit in Lake Forest is that each plans something special for children. The Winnetka sale will be held from 10 until 6 o'clock today at the Parish house. The Lake Forest sale will be in progress all day at a show room on Western avenue in Lake Forest.

A corner at the Winnetka sale has been set aside for children who like to do their own Easter shopping. They will find bunnies, puzzles, Pinnochios, other toys, candies, and table decorations. There will be also a "touch and take" table loaded with packages for those who like to be surprized.

A table setting contest featuring linens made by Guild members is one of the most popular features of the sale.

Luncheon will be served at the Winnetka sale by reservation only. Men are particularly invited to come to the sale in the afternoon. A group of pretty young women at home from school for the holiday will serve tea.

Lake Forest Sale to Have Grab Bag.

A grab bag, balloons, and a selection of tiny, inexpensive plants to take home to mother are lures for children at the Lake Forest sale. The lily-of-the-valley plants from the T. Philip Swift and James Norris greenhouses are tremendously popular year after year. Cineraria plants from Mrs. J. Ogden Armour's, the Stanley Fields' and Charles H. Schweppe's greenhouses also have been donated.

Miss Adele Proxmire is in charge of a group of subdebs who will help her with the children's sales.

Symphony's Jubilee Will Be Discussed at Dinner.

Invitations engraved in gold have been sent out by Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson Jr. for a dinner on Monday evening, April 1, at 7.30 o'clock at the Racquet club. Cocktails will be served at 7 o'clock. Plans for the Chicago Symphony orchestra's 50th anniversary will be presented.

Romantic news of interest has come from Mr. and Mrs. Henry Spaulding Coffin of 186 East 75th street, New York, who are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Elinor Irwin, to John Robertson Whiteside, also of New York. Miss Spaulding, who grew up on the north side, attended the North Shore Country Day school in Winnetka, Milton academy, and Les Fougeres in Switzerland.

Mr. Whiteside, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John R. Whiteside of Champlain, N. Y., is a graduate of St. Paul's school and of Harvard, class of 1924.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

Part of the advantage that an experienced player has is due to his ability to recognize typical situations at a glance. Many hands which give the beginner a problem are open and shut to the veteran. But this habit of labeling certain combinations of cards as calling for routine treatment has its dangers.

Declarer in the hand below saw an ace-queen combination and took a finesse. Had he looked a second time, he would have seen that the routine play was unsafe.

West, dealer.

Both sides vulnerable.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 heart	Double	Pass	1 spade
2 hearts	4 spades	Pass	Pass
Pass

West's opening bid was a shade weak, but with so powerful a major suit was beyond criticism. Had ne not been vulnerable, an opening three heart bid would have been in order.

West opened the king of hearts and continued with the jack. He then shifted to the ten of diamonds, declarer winning with dummy's king.

Declarer took two high spades, dropping all the adverse trumps. Next the ace of diamonds was cashed and the jack of diamonds ruffed. At this point the declarer led a low club and West played the seven. Without giving the situation careful thought, declarer finessed dummy's queen and lost the game. East, of course, won with the king and returned a club and South had no play to avoid losing the setting trick in clubs.

Had declarer stopped to think on the first club trick he would have seen that the correct play from dummy was not the queen but the eight spot. If East should win with a minor honor, a club return would be up to dummy's ace-queen; any other lead would permit South to ruff and North to discard the queen of clubs. As a matter of fact, the deep finesse of the eight spot would have knocked out the king. West could not have broken up this play by putting up a high club, since dummy would simply cover with the queen and retain a tenace over the other honor.

BRIN ACQUITTED OF FORGERY IN BOND SCANDAL

Jury Deliberates 3 Hours; Faces Other Charges.

Sam Brin, west side saloonkeeper who ran a sideline as a professional bondsman, was found not guilty of forgery last night by a jury in the Criminal court of Judge Joseph A. Graber. The jurors, 10 women and two men, deliberated for three hours. They declined to discuss the verdict.

The charge against Brin grew out of a bail bond scandal in the Municipal court of Judge Eugene L. McGarry. During the trial Brin admitted signing the name of Harold Gendon, a state witness, to eight bonds, whose security was a $97 vacant lot in Bellwood.

Bond Approved by McGarry.

One of the bonds, for $1,500, was obtained for Salvatore Luna, an accused robber, who skipped his bail and later was recaptured. With Gendon's approval, Brin testified, he signed Gendon's name and then took the bond to Judge McGarry's home at night, where it was approved.

Ten other indictments against Brin are pending, all of them in connection with bail bond irregularities. Assistant State's Attorneys William Crawford and Richard Austin said they would confer with State's Attorney Courtney before deciding what to do about those charges. Judge Graber set a hearing on them for next Monday.

The name of Judge McGarry was brought into the closing arguments by the prosecutors and the defense lawyers, Charles Bellows and Benedict J. Short.

Says Brin Was the Goat.

"Why did Brin go to Judge McGarry's home at 10 o'clock at night when he knew the bond release would have to be obtained in bond court where another judge was sitting?" asked Prosecutor Austin. "Brin knew where he could get a worthless bond accepted."

In reply Attorney Short told the jury that Brin was the goat in a political dispute.

"There was no forgery," he said. "Brin owned the lot. He and Gendon agreed to use it for bond security. Gendon would do anything for money. The state's attorney's office has paid him $100 a month and given him a comfortable living."

Judge McGarry was indicted on charges of malfeasance and conspiracy after the bond scandal broke last fall. Judge Graber later dismissed the indictment on a technicality.

KIDNAP MANAGER OF LOOP STORE; CAN'T OPEN SAFE

Joseph Kass, manager of the Kitty Kelly shoe store at 112 South State street, was held prisoner in a garage for more than an hour last night while two hoodlums unsuccessfully tried to open the store safe.

He was kidnaped by the pair in his own car in front of his home at 911 Carmen avenue, blindfolded and tied, and driven to a north side garage, the address of which he could not ascertain. There his abductors took his store keys and demanded information concerning the safe.

They departed, leaving Kass in custody of a third man. They returned later, saying they could not open the safe. They drove Kass to Fullerton and Sheffield avenues, left him in his car, and escaped in another machine. Police visited the store, found nothing missing, and placed a detail there.

MOTHER IS HELD FOR MURDER IN COURT SHOOTING

A coroner's jury recommended yesterday that Mrs. Aino Orgo Tossavainen, 25 years old, 734 Briar place, be held to the grand jury on a charge of murder for the fatal shooting of Mrs. Mabel Buchanan, who died Thursday night.

Mrs. Buchanan, 42 years old, operated a boarding home for children at 1705 West 99th street. She was shot in a Juvenile court corridor March 13 by Mrs. Tossavainen just before a hearing on the young woman's plea for custody of her daughter, Carmen Orgo. The child had been placed with Mrs. Buchanan as a ward of the court.

Mrs. Tossavainen collapsed twice during the inquest, which was conducted at Presbyterian hospital by Coroner A. L. Brodie. Her attorney, Robert E. Romano, said the defense probably would be temporary insanity.

FOUR DETECTIVES FACE JURY QUIZ ON "SHAKEDOWN"

Suspended on Charge of Operating Racket.

Philip H. Goodman.

State's Attorney Courtney said yesterday that the grand jury will begin investigation on Monday of accusations that four detectives, aided by lawyers, have been operating a shakedown racket by arresting hundreds of men on unfounded sex charges.

The detectives are members of the police morals squad. They were suspended Feb. 27 after the civil service trial board heard the report of Police Captain John Howe, who conducted an investigation for Commissioner Allman. A number of victims of the alleged racket also testified before the board, which is expected to announce disposition of the case in a week.

Lawyer Under Investigation.

Attorney Philip H. Goodman, who has offices at 188 West Randolph street, is under investigation by the Chicago Bar association on charges of conniving with the detectives to extort money from innocent men. He has made a general denial of the charges.

The suspended detectives are Francis O'Malley, 4441 Congress street, the squad leader; William J. Kearney, 1253 West 97th place; Edward Hickey, 237 South La Vergne avenue, and Elmer Johnson, 4042 North McVicker avenue. They likewise have denied any wrongdoing.

Capt. Howe will be the first witness before the grand jury. He plans to give State's Attorney Courtney a long list of witnesses to be called as the inquiry progresses.

In his report to Commissioner Allman, Howe said the detectives arrested 1,097 men between Jan. 2, 1938, and Oct. 31, 1939. Pleas of guilty were made by 611 defendants, 396 others were found not guilty, and no disposition is shown in 90 cases. Most of the arrests were made in Chicago park district territory.

Collusion Is Charged.

"The detectives are in collusion with attorneys to extort fees from these defendants, under threat of sending them to the sex offense bureau, not booking them, or giving them bad publicity," said Capt Howe's report.

Many prisoners, it is charged, were arrested in movie theaters after the policemen tried to lure or trap them into questionable actions. They were told they were in a "bad jam" and could get out for $200 to $400, Capt. Howe said.

Dr. Roy Anderson of Kansas City, Mo., who is 44 years old, father of two married daughters and a son, 17, was one of the witnesses before the trial board. He testified he was arrested in Grant park Sept. 11 and held in jail three days without being allowed to communicate with any one until he made $50 bail. He said he was urged by the detectives to retain Attorney Goodman, who came to see him, but that he refused after the lawyer urged him to plead guilty.

Continuing his campaign to place dangerous drivers behind bars, Judge Frank M. Padden of the Safety court imposed county jail sentences yesterday on five motorists.

Those jailed were:

Anderson, 3449 North Osage street, and Clarence Mastenbrook, 309 West 113th street, five days each for reckless driving.

Mrs. Louise C. Diener, 65, and her granddaughter, Miss Irmalou Toomey, 18, both of 1026 South Ashland avenue, were seriously injured yesterday when they were hit by a truck at Taylor street and Western avenue. Police said the truck did not stop and they later arrested Carl Knudson, 3314 West 60th place, the alleged driver.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 208 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 159 were killed in Chicago, where 4,482 were injured in the same period.

Speedy Burglar Breaks Into 4 Evanston Homes

A fast working burglar broke into four Evanston homes last night, stole a small amount of loot from three of them, and was chased away from the fourth. The victims were Philip Fox, 816 Milburn street, director of the Museum of Science and Industry; Joseph Brown, 1418 Noyes street, and J. S. Bannon, 815 Seward street. The thief's final visit was at the home of Joseph J. Urbancek, 1112 Grant street, but neighbors frightened him away.

Titmice Find Friends.

March 22, 1940.

Altho we have been unable to find any tufted titmice on the Du Page county farm during the last few months, readers report that they have been seeing many of them. In fact, observant bird fans who read this column have been bombarding us with letters telling of the presence of titmice around their feeding stations. A friendly little bird which is very active and aggressive, the titmouse is one of our most interesting and beneficial bird neighbors. We saw four of them on the farm last summer and fall. They stayed in the woods during the early part of the winter and then disappeared.

Tufted Titmouse.

But readers inform us that there was no lack of these birds in Chicagoland this winter. Mrs. E. S. Simmons of Elmhurst writes that she has had six to 8 tufted titmice at her feeding station for several months.

Seen in Other Suburbs.

W. G. Whitford, who lives in a heavily wooded section of Olympia Fields, says that he has had two titmice at his feeding stations along with a flicker and several other species such as the robin, brown creeper, and cardinal. St. Charles also has been the wintering grounds for titmice, according to Mrs. A. C. Carlson, who writes that two frequent her feeding station after they light on a clothesline near the house and look things over to see if the coast is clear for a meal.

Mrs. A. J. Hage and Mrs. G. H. Jones, who are residents of River Forest, both have written us about the tufted titmice in that suburb. Mrs. Hage says that her feeding station has attracted several titmice this past winter, and that the birds are so friendly they even refused to leave the food counter when she stood close to the window while talking on the telephone.

Move to Glen Ellyn.

Mrs. Ralph A. VanLone of Glen Ellyn writes that the titmice which we once had on the Du Page county farm may have moved to Glen Ellyn during the winter. Members of the Benjamin F. Gault Bird club in Glen Ellyn report that many titmice have visited well-stocked feeding stations in that suburb. Mrs. VanLone also has had a song sparrow at her feeding station all winter. Mrs. Martha Stofer, another resident of Glen Ellyn, informs us that she has been feeding tufted titmice for several winters. But the most interesting item in Mrs. Stofer's letter is the note that a pair nested in a neighbor's yard a few years ago.

Other letters telling us about the titmice have come from many towns in Chicagoland and cities some miles away. For example, letters on this handsome winter resident have been received from Miss Hilda W. McIntosh of Joliet, Miss Minerva Winter of Dixon, Ill., G. B. Adams of Beverly Hills, Mrs. E. A. Amacker of Hinsdale, Mrs. John C. Papka of East Gary, Ind., W. P. Burns of Michigan City, Mrs. Peter Marriott of Beverly Hills, and Mrs. Charles Pope of Riverside.

With but one exception all of these bird fans have been feeding titmice this winter, so it looks as if the birds that left the farm must have had plenty of food this winter if they discovered just one of the many feeding stations which Chicagoland bird fans provide for our winter birds.

CUBS WIN, WHITE SOX LOSE; RESUME CITY SERIES TODAY

DALLESSANDRO BEATS PIRATES, 7-6, WITH HOMER

Gets Long Hit in 9th to Break Tie.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., March 22.—Dominic Dallessandro's left handed homer off Lefty Ken Heintzelman's second left handed pitch in the ninth this afternoon gave the Cubs a 7 to 6 victory over the Pirates, affording the Chicagoans a sweep of their two game exhibition series with the Pittsburghers. Twenty year old Ray Campbell from Moline, Ill., who pitched sturdily in the Pirate ninth, was the winning pitcher.

Rip Russell, who has been doing some mighty slugging this spring, banged his third vital homer in the Cubs' exhibition season for the highlight of the game up till the time Johnny Rizzo knocked a homer off Clare Bertram, Cub rookie from Knoxville, with two on in the eighth to give the Pirates a 6 to 5 lead.

The Pirate edge disappeared in the Cub eighth when Barney Olsen singled with two out and the bases full.

So the Game Ends.

Heintzelman had just entered the game to pitch the ninth. He threw one wide one to little Dominic. He came in with the next one and Dominic socked it into the right center bleachers to end the game.

Russell's homer was his second extra base hit of the game. In the second inning he doubled and scored on a triple by Al Todd. That one run stood up for a 1 to 0 Cub lead until the first of the sixth when the Pirates made three more off Al Epperly, who returned to the Cubs this year via Los Angeles and Milwaukee. Then in the Cub half of the inning, Russell connected for his homer with two on to round out a four run inning against Russ Bauers.

After Julio Bonetti, Cub Los Angeles rookie, had disposed of the Pirates in order in the first inning the Cubs got in scoring position after two were out, tho the advance didn't jell. Augie Galan lined a single to right center and stole second, but Bill Nicholson supplied the third out with a grounder to Young.

Todd Scores Russell.

Bonetti also sank the Pirates in order in the second and this time the Cubs scored in their half. With one out Russell doubled to left center and scored on Todd's triple to center. Bob Sturgeon walked, but Bonetti hit into a double play.

The only hit made off Bonetti was a double with which Pep Young led off the third inning. Young was out, Sturgeon to Bob Mattick, on Ray Mueller's grounder. Bowman was safe on Russell's fumble, but L. Hand-

ANGELS FORGET SOX ARE MAJOR LEAGUERS, 3 TO 2

Rigney Faces Cubs Today in Los Angeles.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Ontario, Cal., March 22.—The Los Angeles Angels, who are known as the Cubs' little cousins, were just a bit too slippery today for the White Sox, who stopped here with the idea of warming up for renewal of strife tomorrow with their Chicago enemies. The Angels got mad at the last minute and dusted off James Dykes' tourists, 3 to 2.

Added to the exhibition defeat was the annoying fact that the Sox were not able to show the hitting power with which they have been mowing down most of their recent opponents. Luke Appling hit a homer and Bob Kennedy, the third base rookie, exploded a triple which also was good for a marker. But most of the time the major leaguers were painfully feeble after getting one or more on the bases against the pitching of Ray Prim and Emil Kush.

Sox Hurlers Do Very Well.

The Sox pitching was very good. Doc Clint Brown, the noted finisher, started for a change and, except for two hits in the first, was undisturbed in a three inning job. Jess Dobernic threw the next three and wasn't touched for even one hit, altho bothered by two blunders in the field. Then Harry Boyles appeared and he got by in the seventh on one hit, but was plastered for the tying and winning runs in the eighth. None of the Angels' five hits went to Lou Novikoff, the so-called Mad Russian whom the Cubs may drag up one of these fine days.

When the Sox go to work on the Cubs again tomorrow in Wrigley field, Los Angeles, the pitching trio will be made up of Johnny Rigney, Bill Dietrich, and Vallie Eaves, the tall, gaunt rookie. Eaves finished in the only decision of three taken by the National leaguers but yielded only one harmless run. Dietrich started the second game and was well dented, altho his mates won after he had departed. Rigney fin-

Wings Beaten by Americans' Rally, 5 to 4

New York, March 22 (AP).—Making a comeback after being two goals behind in the third period, the New York Americans defeated the Detroit Red Wings, 5 to 4, tonight to deadlock their Stanley Cup hockey playoff series at one victory apiece. They will play the third and deciding contest in Detroit Sunday night. The Boston Bruins and New York Rangers also resume their deadlocked series Sunday night.

The Americans looked like a beaten team when Connie Brown scored Detroit's fourth goal at 14:16 of the final period. Two minutes later the Americans got the break that sent them on to victory. Tommy Anderson stood in front of the Detroit goal, swung at a flying puck as Goalie Tiny Thompson juggled it, and connected for a goal. In another minute Hooley Smith fought his way free and scored the tying goal and at 19:39 Art Chapman drove in the winning counter. Lineups:

It Won't Be Long

Clearwater, Fla., March 22 [Special].—Joe Medwick, last and most important of the Cardinal holdouts, appeared to be weakening tonight. Altho he claimed he had reached no agreement, the slugging outfielder attended today's game with the Dodgers in company with Vice President Branch Rickey and seemed to be greatly interested in the doings of the club. Rickey indicated that he expected to have Joe safely under contract in a day or two.

FOUR MORE PREP QUINTETS ENTER LOYOLA TOURNEY

The addition of four teams yesterday brought the entry list to 24 schools for the 17th annual national Catholic basketball tournament starting at Loyola next Wednesday. The complete bracket will have 32 schools. Cascia Hall High of Tulsa, Okla.; Abbey High of Canon City, Colo.; Central Catholic High of Pittsburgh, and Aquin High of Freeport, Ill., are the four new teams.

The Oklahoma representatives were undefeated in Eastern conference play and won the first and third games of the playoffs from St. Joseph's for the state title. Bill O'Neil and Chuck Milam won places on the all-conference first team, while the other three starters, Steve Dillon, Mike Moore, and Lawrence Becker, were awarded places on the second quintet. All but Dillon of the starting five are 6 feet tall. The Cascians' season record is 14 won and four lost.

Abbey High will come to the national meet with a veteran team. The highlight of its season was the 36 to 24 triumph against St. Michael's of Santa Fé, N. M., which went on to win the state title last week.

Resurrection.

The comely rose that languishes and dies
As ghostly winter thru the woodland steals,
Will from its snowy winding sheet arise
When springtime's voice rings out across the fields;
The dessicated worm in somber gray
Is not entombed in its cocoon to die,
For from its broken chrysalis one day
It will arise a brilliant butterfly.

And shall the Lord who cares for worm and rose
Leave only man to perish utterly?
Or shall he, too, not rise from death's repose
To enter into his eternity,
Where he shall find tranquility at last
After the tempest of this life is past.

National Junior Track Tourney Set for April 5

PICK SWEDISH GIANT TO BEAT CHICAGO'S BEST

Due in New York on April 2.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ABOARD THE VULCANIA, March 22.—Europe's finest amateur boxers set out for the United States today. While a band supplied by the mayor of Naples blared forth a salute and a committee of sportsmen shouted bon voyage, the fighters of three nations headed out to sea for Chicago and defense of the international Golden Gloves championship on April 10.

Hanns Hieronimus.

Tomorrow morning they will reach Genoa, the first port of call, and then they will proceed thru the British contraband control at Gibraltar to Lisbon before turning out into the Atlantic on the ninth annual international Golden Gloves excursion. Because of a change in the ship's itinerary, the squad will arrive in New York on April 2, shortly before time to board a train for Chicago.

The team sailed with the best wishes of boxing enthusiasts and officials from practically every nation in Europe. Shortly before the gangplanks were hoisted a representative of the Italian Boxing federation brought aboard a farewell message from Bruno Mussolini, son of the premier and newly appointed president of the federation.

Germans Send Best Wishes.

On board the Vulcania, Steve Klaus, trainer of the team, found a message from Hanns Hieronimus, secretary of the German Boxing federation, wishing the boys the best of luck and expressing the federation's faith in their ability to retain the title, won in Chicago last year.

Another message also authorized Klaus to arrange a match between the American team and a team from the reich in Germany next September. Hieronimus proposed the match be held immediately after the world's championship tournament in Rome. German boxing officials expect to send a team to Rome for the meet.

Only two of the eight boxers are experiencing their first sailing. Olle Tandberg, Swedish heavyweight, and Karl Noren, middleweight champion, also from Sweden, never have been to America. This pair, together with Arturo Cortonesi, Italian featherweight, and Lajos Szigeti, Hungarian light heavyweight, are newcomers to international Golden Gloves competition. Cortonesi, however, fought for Italy in New York three years ago and Szigeti reached the Olympic quarter-finals in 1936.

Two Champions Return.

Three other Italians, Flyweight Guido Nardecchia; Bantamweight Ulderico Sergo, and Lightweight Egisto Peire, and the Swedish welterweight, Eric Agren, have fought and won in Chicago. Agren and Peire are defending champions.

Sergo is the only civilian in the group. The others are undergoing military training. Szigeti is a lieutenant in the Hungarian army crops and is a military career man. Nardecchia, Peire, and Cortonesi have been conscripted for the Italian artillery. Agren is a mechanic in the aviation corps. Tandberg is a marine and Noren an infantryman.

Tandberg was the center of attraction in Naples, where boxing fans have known of him for several years but never had seen him. Six feet three inches tall and weighing 210 pounds, the smiling marine is a particular favorite with the fair sex who find in his finely chiseled features, ruddy complexion and blond hair something to envy.

European boxing authorities are unanimous in their conviction that Tandberg is the finest heavyweight in the world, amateur or professional, excepting, of course, Joe Louis.

The eighth chapter of "Hoppe Rides Again," that stirring drammer of the green baize plains, was enacted last night in Bensinger's South Wabash avenue billiard theater. William Hoppe, a sharpshooting buckaroo of 52 summers, was the hero, of course, and the man he got this time was no less than Welker Cochran, the three cushion champion of the world. At curtain time, after 45 innings, the result was 50 to 29.

Hoppe, who has hunted down champions and billiard points for 40 years, was the old Hoppe thru all of last night's thrilling ride. He finished it with a record of eight victories in eight appearances in this show. He has only two more matches to complete a sweep of the first round of the production. In tonight's final, he rides against Allen Hall of Chicago and on Monday evening meets José Chamaco, the Mexican cowboy who holds the national title.

Thurnblad Rides Hard.

Last night's entertainment was really a double feature, for in the first match of the evening, Arthur Thurnblad of Kenosha, Wis., turned in the fastest ride to home of the ivory rodeo. Trailing Chamaco by 36 to 29, Arthur went to the whip and lashed out with 21 billiards in six innings, including a nine, the high run of the match. Before Chamaco could get his cue under way, he found himself a loser, 50 to 46, in 39 innings.

Hoppe threatened by the manner of his start to make the race with Champion Cochran a walkover, but then Willie must have decided to give the customers their share of suspense. He required 11 innings to make his final two points after having outdistanced Welker for 33 innings, 45 to 20.

Hoppe Starts Fast.

Cochran, riding his cue like a tenderfoot, took heart while Willie was slowing down—that is, leaving him a shot or two—and dashed up to 29 points before fouling in the 43d inning by cueing Hoppe's ball instead of his own.

Prior to all of this, Hoppe won the lag and then proceeded to romp thru the first seven innings in 23 points, an average of better than three billiards per inning.

Score by innings:

Zale Believes He Can Whip Brown Friday

Tony Zale, member of the 1934 intercity Golden Gloves team, who has scored nine consecutive victories in the last year, was a confident appearing boxer as Trainer Joe Niedwick bandaged his hands in a dressing room in Trafton's gymnasium yesterday preparatory to his working out for a 10 round bout against Ben Brown, southern middleweight champion, in Chicago Stadium next Friday. Brown is No. 4 challenger for the title, ranked below Ceferino Garcia, Ken Overlin, and Zale.

"Understand Promoter Nate Druxman's option on your services for a championship contest with Champion Al Hostak in Seattle, Wash., will expire next week," a reporter remarked.

"No, that's not true," Zale returned. "Druxman's contract specifies that I can fight Hostak in a return engagement whenever the champion is ready." Earlier Zale rose to the heights by beating Hostak in a 10 round nontitle battle in the big west side arena. In the fifth round Al suffered a hand injury which his manager claims contributed to the champ's defeat.

Tony scoffs at the alibi.

"Inasmuch as you are assured of a championship match what is your reason for accepting such a dangerous opponent as Brown?" Zale was asked.

"Well, I'll tell you," the Gary slugger responded. "The N. B. A. insists Garcia deserves the next crack at Hostak's title and in order to strengthen my cause I hope to force Overlin and then Garcia into the ring against me by eliminating Brown, who holds a draw decision against Overlin. At the same time I want to prove to skeptics my Hostak victory was no fluke."

After meeting Tommy Pallatin, St. Joseph, Mich., welterweight, in a 10 round headliner in Marigold Gardens Monday, Bobby Britton will oppose Dick Demarey in an eight round event in Minneapolis next Friday.

PAYCHECK LOOKS BLITHELY TO HIS BOUT WITH LOUIS

Johnny and One or Two Others Say He'll Win.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pompton Lakes, N. J., March 22.—Johnny Pacek, sprightly Polish lad from Chicago's South side, who won the Golden Gloves heavyweight championship in 1933 and then knocked out Paddy Mulligan of Ireland in the international matches in Soldiers' field, sincerely believes he will be the next heavyweight champion of the world.

Now known to professional pugilism as Johnny Paycheck, the name he assumed when he resumed his career two years ago in Des Moines, Ia., after 18 months of idleness, the former Chicagoan went thru five practice rounds today in Dr. Joseph Biers' indoor gymnasium.

Next Friday night in Madison Square Garden Paycheck meets Joe Louis, a 1934 Golden Gloves champion, who will be engaged in his ninth defense of his heavyweight title.

Few, Very Few, Say He'll Win.

Paycheck is confident of his ability to weather Louis' attack and to win in 15 rounds. With the exception of his manager, Harold Steinman, his trainer, Harold Jacobs, and paid employés, all others are arrayed against the challenger. Even Benny Leonard, who is directing the ring maneuvers, hasn't said definitely he

MIZE HITS THREE HOMERS IN ROW; CARDS WIN, 10-6

Combines with Orengo to Drive In Nine Runs.

Clearwater, Fla., March 22 [Special].—Johnny Mize, St. Louis Cardinals' first baseman, hit three successive home runs off Hugh Casey to drive in a total of five runs today, while young Joe Orengo lofted two others over the short right field fence, one off Casey and the other off Vito Tamulis. All this clouting accounted for nine runs as the Cardinals beat the Brooklyn Dodgers, 10 to 6, to even the series.

John Mize.

Terry Moore drove in the only other Cardinal run when he singled to score Don Gutteridge from second base in the seventh.

The boys appeared to be playing a game of "home run or no count" as the first two Brooklyn tallies came on homers. Pete Coscarart hit one off Bill McGee in the second with none on, and Dolf Camilli, playing his first game since signing, hit one off the same pitcher in the fourth.

Mize's first blast came in the opening inning with two out after Enos Slaughter had walked. His second was a 350 foot drive with none on in the fourth, and his third followed a single by Slaughter in the sixth. Max Lanier, a southpaw, took over for the Cardinals to start the fifth and hurled three hitless innings. Score:

St. Louis	200	103	400	10	10	0
Brooklyn	010	100	040	6	8	1

Batteries—McGee, Lanier, Roe and Owen; Casey, Tamulis and Franks, Hartje.

ROCHESTER, 5; CLEVELAND, 1.

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 22 (AP).—The Cleveland Indians could get only five hits today off two Rochester pitchers, Mike Ryba and Bill Seinfoth, and the Redbirds won, 5 to 1.

Bob Feller started for the Indians and fanned two men in each of the four innings he pitched. He yielded two hits, one a pop fly that fell safe in the pitcher's box.

The Red Wings had a field day in the eighth, with Earl Center, rookie up from New Orleans, doing the worrying on the mound. Center yielded only one real hit, but a pair of passes and two errors helped give Rochester three runs. Score:

Cleveland	000	010	000	1	5	2
Rochester	000	001	13*	5	8	5

Batteries—Feller, Stromme, Center and Hemsley; Hegan, Ryba, Seinfoth and Beal, Klutts.

BEES, 4; GIANTS, 3.

Winter Haven, Fla., March 22 (AP).—In seven innings of their exhibition game today the Boston Bees were held hitless and runless with a minimum of 21 men going to bat, yet they defeated the New York Giants 4 to 3. They scored on one hit in the first and in the fifth Rookie Bob Loane hit a home run with two mates on base after two were out. Score:

New York	020	000	100	3	6	0

Battries—Strincevich, D. French and Masi; Schumacher, Joiner, Lynn and O'Dea, Hayworth.

DETROIT, 7; BUFFALO, 5.

Plant City, Fla., March 22 (AP).—Frankie Croucher, possible heir to Charley Gehringer's second base job, tripled to drive in two runs in the eighth and then scored to lead the Detroit Tigers to a 7 to 5 verdict over the Buffalo Bisons today. Croucher also hit a single and a double. Score:

Detroit	000	012	031	7	11	0
Buffalo	013	000	001	5	9	3

Cubs Defeat Pirates, 7 to 6, in 9th Inning

ley hit into a double play started by Sturgeon.

Epperly took over at the start of the fourth and had no trouble in that session except that he walked P. Waner. The Cubs were held to another hit by Todd in their end of the fourth.

Epperly retired Elliott, Young, and Mueller in order in the fifth. Epperly opened the Cub half with a single to left, but Mattick hit into the Pirates' third double play and Herman grounded to Vaughan.

Pirates Take Brief Lead.

The Pirates grabbed a 3 to 1 lead in the sixth. Bowman opened the inning with a single to center and E. Handley ran for him. L. Handley beat out a slow bouncer to Sturgeon and, when Sturgeon threw past first, E. Handley reached third and L. Handley second. E. Handley scored on P. Waner's infield single. Vaughan singled to center, L. Handley scoring and P. Waner taking third. P. Waner scored on Rizzo's fly to Galan. Vaughan stole second while Epperly held the ball, but Elliott popped to Sturgeon.

Bauers started pitching at the start of the Cub sixth and Galan opened with a single to left. Nicholson walked, after which Dallessandro singled to center, scoring Galan and putting Nicholson on third. Russell then banged one over the left field wall, scoring behind Nicholson and Dallessandro. Stan Hack batted for Todd and bounced to Bauers, and Sturgeon bounced to Young.

Cavarretta Gets a Hit.

Cavarretta batted for Epperly and singled to center. Mattick also singled to center. Herman walked, loading the bases, whereupon Sewell replaced Bauers. Galan, up for the second time in the inning, flied to Rizzo.

Bertram was the third Cub pitcher, starting work in the seventh. He retired Gustine, Mueller, and Sewell in order. The Cubs also went out one, two, three in their half.

Bertram was nipped just as he seemed about to wade out of a tough spot in the Pirate eighth. L. Handley walked and stopped at third on Fletcher's double to right. Paul Waner popped to Herman and Vaughan struck out. Then Rizzo knocked his homer over the left field wall, scoring behind L. Handley and Fletcher, to put the Pirates ahead, 6 to 5.

B. Olsen Ties Up Game.

In the Cubs' eighth Collins walked, but was forced by Sturgeon. Gleeson batted for Bertram and popped to Gustine. Mattick singled and Herman walked, loading the bases. Barney Olsen smashed a single off Lee Handley's glove, Sturgeon scoring the tying run. Sewell threw three wide ones to Nicholson, then two called strikes, after which Bill bounced out to Fletcher.

Campbell went in at the start of the ninth and tho bothered by wildness escaped without bruises. Gustine fouled to Dallessandro, and the pinch batters, Davis and Bell, walked. Lee Handley then popped to Russell and Fletcher flied to Nicholson.

WhiteSox Lose to Angels, 3-2; Battle Cubs

ished the same game but wasn't disturbed to any extent.

Brown Starts Strong.

Brown started his three inning breeze by fanning Carpenter and then encountered the only hits made during his régime. Mayo doubled to left, and the second out was registered on Stringer's fly to Kreevich. Collins slapped a ground hugging liner directly back at Brown, but the good doctor didn't have time to get his glove in the right spot, so the ball slipped into center for a single, Mayo scoring. A moment later Collins was more than slightly embarrassed to discover he had been picked off first base on Turner's quick throw to Kuhel. Only one other Angel saw base during Brown's stretch. That happened when Appling dropped a popup.

The Sox created a 1 to 1 tie in the second, this being the result of Appling's hitting a 375 foot homer over the fence in left. Later in the inning McNair singled off Prim, but nothing happened.

The Tie Is Broken.

The Sox broke the tie with a run in the seventh, but should have had more. Kush took over the Angels' pitching duties and promptly walked Wright. Kennedy, who came in with the shock troopers, rifled a triple into the right center field corner, where there is a 421 foot sign on the fence, Wright scoring. Kennedy received no aid from Silvestri, who fanned, Metha dashed up to bat for Dobernic and popped a foul into Mayo's hands. Kolloway also fouled out, Collins making the catch.

The Sox were guilty of another oversight in the eighth. Stringer fumbled Leiter's grounder and Rosenthal followed with a single to right. Cromer bounced to Kush for a double play, after which Webb flied to Donaldson. Then the Angels stepped up in their half and went ahead. Hernandes tripled and Manager Jigger Statz, who ran for him, scored on Kush's long fly. Carpenter walked, moved to second on an infield out, and counted on a single by Stringer.

Wright singled to open the Sox ninth, but Kennedy bounced into a double play and Silvestri was tossed out by Stringer to end it all.

HEAFNER, HOGAN ARE FAVORITES AT GREENSBORO

Greensboro, N. C., March 22 (AP).—Clayton Heafner, a boy they all know around here, and Ben Hogan, a comparative stranger, were made co-favorites today on the eve of the third annual $5,000 Greensboro Open golf tournament.

Heafner, a California product only two years out of the caddy ranks, is one of the local prides. Rated a 10 to 1 shot when the betting books were opened for the 72 hole test, he was brought down to 6 to 1 thru the combination of an anticipated heavy play on him and the fact that he's likely to win any tournament he starts in if he plays consistently.

Hogan, winner of the North and South championship at Pinehurst yesterday with a record 277, came down from 12 to 6 on the strength of that brilliantly gained triumph.

HARTNETT, TIRED OF IT ALL, SIGNS LEIBER HIMSELF

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., March 22.—Manager Gabby Hartnett of the Cubs, weary, perhaps, of the kibitzing corps, the ballyhoo brigade, movie cayuses and radio guitars, and a short roster, today signed holdout Hank Leiber with no fanfare, trapeze performing or extraneous publicity tieups whatsoever. Leiber will go into training tomorrow.

Leiber had been running around Los Angeles since Sunday, more or less incog. Bigger and better disguises were being thought up for him and there was every evidence that even a more ambitious script than that used in the Dizzy Dean routine was being prepared.

While all this buildup was going on, Gabby last midnight grew tired of the interminable sideshow and decided to take charge of his own business, that of assembling the best possible ball team in the shortest possible time.

Instead of thundering ultimatums at Hank, Gabby called him up at his reported hideout, a hotel four blocks from the one in which the Cubs are billeted. A pleasant chat ensued and Gabby made arrangements to call on the big Arizonian this morning. After a little visit Hank signed and arrangements were made for him to join the team tomorrow when it goes to Wrigley field to play the White Sox.

No terms were announced, but it is known that Leiber signed for several thousand dollars less than the $17,500 for which he was supposed to be holding out.

The signing of Leiber ended the biggest and most prolonged holdout siege since the stand of Vic Aldridge almost two decades ago.

NEWS OF FINANCE AND COMMERCE

YEAR'S PROFITS OF GOLDBLATT UP TO $797,381

Increase Is 71.7 Pct.; Sales Expand.

Morris Goldblatt.

Goldblatt Bros., Inc., operator of a chain of department stores in the Chicago area, had a net profit of $797,381 in the fiscal year ended Jan. 31, 1940, an increase of 71.7 per cent over the $464,285 reported for the preceding year, Morris Goldblatt, president, reported yesterday to stockholders.

Net profit after preferred dividends was equal to 93 cents a share on the common stock, compared with 47 cents a share in the preceding fiscal year. Net sales for the year totaled $47,975,422, an increase of 5.9 per cent.

Operating Cost Rise Small.

"The net profit showed a substantial improvement over the results achieved in the preceding fiscal year, due not only to an increase in sales and to a slight increase in gross profit margin, but also to close control exercised over store and operating expense," Goldblatt said. "As compared with an increase in sales during the year of 5.9 per cent, store and operating expenses increased but 4.2 per cent.

"Inventories last year increased only $57,304, or 0.83 of 1 per cent, well below that of Chicago department stores generally, based on available comparative data. Moreover, this increase should be considered in relation to advances that occurred during the year in the price level of department store goods generally. Stocks of merchandise at the close of the year were in a satisfactory condition, both as to amount and character."

State Street Store Progresses.

Goldblatt said that progress was made with the company's State street store, which had a gain of 11 per cent in net sales over the preceding fiscal year. He said the gain was the largest achieved by any one of the company's 10 department store units.

Improvements in the company's store at Lawrence and Broadway are expected to result advantageously, he said. Leases on the company's warehousing facilities expire in May, 1941, he reported, and the management expects to reduce rent and operating expenses further by occupying quarters either owned by the company or leased by a subsidiary.

Goldblatt said the company contemplates newly constructed facilities embracing approximately 835,000 square feet of space. This will make possible the concentrating of all garage and practically all warehousing activities under one roof.

Current Assets $10,139,021.

As of Jan. 31 current assets totaled $10,139,021 and current liabilities $4,638,953. Long term liabilities were reduced $475,494. Goldblatt said that in the three years ended Jan. 31, 1940, the company reduced long term liabilities from $3,392,290 to $1,667,146, or 50.9 per cent. Outstanding preferred shares were reduced from 60,000 shares to 50,237 shares, or 16.3 per cent.

Goldblatt said it is expected that Frank M. Folsom, formerly with Montgomery Ward & Co. and recently appointed executive vice president of Goldblatt, will be elected a director at the annual meeting on April 15, succeeding Edward Simon, who resigned.

STORES' SALES GAIN 6 PER CENT OVER YEAR AGO

Washington, D. C., March 22 (AP).—The federal reserve board today estimated that department store sales in the week ended March 16 were 6 per cent larger than in the corresponding week of last year.

Sales in the week ended March 9 were 11 per cent larger than last year, and the average gain over last year for the four weeks ended March 16 was 7 per cent.

Increases in sales for the week ended March 16, as compared with the 1939 week, by federal reserve districts, included: Boston, 29 per cent; New York, 2; Philadelphia, 3; Cleveland, 9; Richmond, 5; Atlanta, 17; St. Louis, 17; Kansas City, 4; Dallas, 12, and San Francisco, 6 per cent.

Sales in the Chicago district held even with last year.

WAR AND SUGAR.

Has the war in Europe helped domestic sugar refiners, such as the American Sugar Refining company? What did the company earn last year as compared with previous years?—O. S.

Answer: Refined sugar exports from the United States in 1939 rose to 111,000 long tons, an increase of 56,000 tons over 1938 exports. Because of England's sugar conservation program, neutral countries like Norway, Finland, Switzerland, and Greece have been unable to obtain their sugar requirements from English refineries and have gone elsewhere for supplies.

American Sugar Refining company, largest domestic cane sugar producer, received a substantial share of this increased export business last year. The company indicated in its latest annual report that American refiners are handicapped in their competition for export trade by exchange difficulties and by the more advantageous positions held by foreign refiners because of their countries' barter or trade agreements.

Refined sugar prices soared last September after the outbreak of the war as housewives rushed to stock up against higher prices. The market subsided as it became apparent that there was an abundant supply of sugar available.

Earnings of the company and its subsidiaries in 1939 were more than six times those of 1938. The large increase was attributed by the management to a larger margin of gain from refining operations, increased income from investments in beet sugar firms and improved results from Cuban operations.

Consolidated net income, earnings per common share after provision for the preferred stock, and dividends paid per common share compared as follows in recent years:

	Net income.	Earned per share.	Dividends per share.
1935	$3,571,000	$1.94	$2.00
1936	4,353,000	2.67	2.00
1937	4,143,000	2.21	2.00
1938	407,000	*6.10	1.25

*Loss.

Dividends on the company's common stock were paid each year from 1926 thru 1938 and from 1891 thru 1921. Regular dividends have been disbursed to holders of the preferred stock.

The company's capitalization consists of 450,000 shares of 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock and 450,000 shares of common stock, both of $100 par value.

American Sugar Refining was incorporated in 1891. It owns numerous refineries, and, thru subsidiaries, extensive timber lands, a large cooperage factory, Cuban sugar plantations, and has investments in important beet sugar firms.

Current assets at the end of 1939 of $36,554,915 were more than five times current liabilities of $6,851,485.

ACTION URGED ON LOOP STORE, SUBWAY LINKS

State street merchants were urged yesterday by Philip J. Harrington, commissioner of subways and superhighways, to formulate plans now with his office if they want to construct direct store connections with the subway stations.

Outlining the method of building the subway thru the business district, Harrington spoke in the Palmer House at the annual meeting of the State Street council. He assured the business men an effort will be made to keep the sidewalks open all during the year.

Members of the council elected Elmer T. Stevens, president of Charles A. Stevens & Co., as council vice president, and Walter L. Gregory, vice president of the Palmer House, as treasurer. New members chosen for the executive committee are M. C. Penticoff and Seymour Shane. To fill vacancies, George R. Quin and Shane were named directors. All other officials were reelected.

Plane Makers Lash Rails for Rate Hike Step

Charges that the railroads are attempting to take advantage of the war boom in aviation by increasing freight rates on aircraft a total of about $4,000,000 a year were made here yesterday by representatives of nearly every phase of the aviation industry.

Their statements were made before the consolidated classification committee of all the nation's railroads—a freight rate fixing body within the railroad industry itself. The hearing was held in Union station. It was the second at which the aviation industry was heard. The first was held earlier in the week in New York City.

Large Increases Proposed.

The protest and committee hearings grew out of the publication on March 2 of a docket announcing the reclassification of aircraft engines, airplanes, propellers, and aircraft parts. The change would jump rates for planes 50 per cent or more, and in the case of engines the increase would run from 75 per cent on carload shipments to 336 per cent on less than carload shipments.

Among those who presented evidence yesterday were: Fowler W. Barker, secretary of the Air Transport Association of America; Walter Perkins of the Aircraft Traffic association; E. Van Bechten, chairman of the ATA Purchasing committee; Harry Hatch, chairman of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce traffic committee; Lawrence Lawyer, executive assistant of the Aircraft Owners and Pilots association, and Vincent Ford of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce.

Threaten to Quit Rails.

The speakers declared that the aviation industry cannot bear the increased costs. The manufacturers and air line operators said that the railroads would lose revenue if the rates were raised because the aviation industry would fly its products to destinations or overhaul bases rather than pay the increased rates.

"The industry and the public," said Barker, "must construe this attempt of the railroads to cash in on the war boom."

Hitherto aircraft engines have been classified with Diesel, tractor, and automobile engines merely as "internal combustion motors."

CHICAGO JOBS, PAY ROLLS SHOW FEBRUARY DROP

February pay rolls in Chicago shrank 1.1 per cent below January levels and employment declined 0.7 per cent the Illinois department of labor reported yesterday. The report is based on information gathered from 3,968 companies employing 390,386 persons.

Increases in both employment and pay rolls were reported for six of the 12 manufacturing groups. These included transportation equipment, wood products, chemicals, textiles, clothing, and the miscellaneous manufacturing groups.

For the manufacturing groups as a whole, however, employment was down 0.4 per cent and pay rolls 1.2 per cent.

In the nonmanufacturing industries, only building construction and contracting groups showed increases in employment and pay rolls, the entire manufacturing group showing a loss of 1 per cent from January.

LAND BANK CHIEF REVEALS HE WAS 'INVITED' TO QUIT

Washington, D. C., March 22 (AP).—Albert S. Goss told the house agricultural committee today that he resigned as Federal Land bank commissioner after his immediate superior suggested Goss would be "happier" if he quit. Goss turned in his resignation to President Roosevelt last week.

The official who made the suggestion about his resigning, he said, was Dr. A. G. Black, Farm Credit administration governor who replaced F. F. Hill last December.

Some two months before his resignation, Goss said he had an afternoonlong conversation with Secretary of Agriculture Wallace at which, the former commissioner said, he failed to win Wallace over to the idea that FCA should be administered by an independent board.

MARKET HOLIDAY

With the exception of the Chicago live stock market and a few others, the leading commodity and security markets of the world were closed yesterday in observance of Good Friday. A number of the markets, including the New York Cotton exchange, will remain closed today, but most of the domestic stock and commodity exchanges will open for the usual Saturday sessions.

5.9% BUSINESS GAIN PREDICTED FOR MIDWEST

Shipper Unit Issues 2d Quarter Figures.

Shippers in the territory served by the Midwest Shippers Advisory board yesterday predicted an increase in business of 5.9 per cent in the second quarter of this year over the second quarter of 1940. The board estimated that shippers in the district, which includes the Chicago region, will require 660,116 freight cars to carry their products as compared with 623,567 actually loaded in the second quarter of 1939.

In only three groups are declines expected—fresh fruits; gravel, sand, and stone, and lime and plaster.

Largest Gain in Autos.

The largest gain among products which are carried in large volume is the 25 per cent increase expected for automobiles and trucks. Farm implements, ores and concentrates, fertilizers, and live stock were listed among the other groups expected to show substantial gains.

Among the groups expected to show no change are iron and steel, machinery and boilers, cement, and flour.

The board's estimate of cars needed for the first quarter of this year was 781,713, compared with 692,308 actually loaded in the first quarter of 1939.

PLEADS GUILTY TO OIL STOCK FRAUD CHARGE

Superior, Wis., March 22 (AP).—John R. Clausen, Minneapolis, pleaded guilty in federal court today to a charge of defrauding Wisconsin investors in what the government asserted was a wildcat oil stock swindle.

G. F. and G. E. Fisher, both of Oklahoma City, and George Yount, Menomonie, Wis., pleaded nolle contendere to similar charges in the same case.

Judge Patrick T. Stone stayed sentence for 90 days so an inquiry could be made to determine if the defendants' holdings would repay investors' losses.

The government charged the four men misrepresented Oklahoma properties as being producers of oil and sold leases to Wisconsin residents amounting to $60,000.

Int. Business Machines' '39 Net $9,092,692

Net income of International Business Machines corporation in 1939 amounted to $9,092,692, or $10.63 a share, compared with $8,660,033, or $10.12 a share, in 1938, the company reparted yesterday.

The profit was figured after reserves for the full amount of the company's blocked foreign net profits, which could not be transferred because of exchange restrictions.

Lower crude prices and increased development costs largely accounted for a decrease in the 1939 earnings of Argo Oil corporation, A. E. Johnson, president, said in his annual report. The report hsowed net income of $59,068, or 8 cents a share, last year, compared with $391,388, or 52 cents a share, in 1938.

Production Increases.

Argo's production in 1939 was 2.12 per cent larger than in the preceding year, he said, and oil produced on royalty interests owned by the company was 4.38 per cent more than in 1938.

Johnson said the petroleum industry has been called on time after time to bear the burden of increased taxes. The industry is again being considered as a possible source of additional revenue, he said, and urged stockholders use their influence toward heading off further levies.

Arkansas-Missouri Power corporation announced net income of $261,813 for 1939, against $221,108 in 1938. James Hill Jr., president, said business conditions in the territory served by the company were favorable last year.

UPHOLDS NLRB ORDER AGAINST TANNING FIRM

A National Labor Relations board order directing the J. Greenebaum Tanning company of Chicago to cease allegedly unfair labor practices was upheld yesterday by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. One portion of the board's order, however, was set aside.

The order, issued Feb. 5, 1939, instructed the company to reimburse employés for dues paid into an employés' mutual benefit association. The court found the board had no power to make such a requirement. The association was ordered disestablished. Another section of the NLRB order stipulated that the company rehire three workers, who had been discharged for union activities. They are to receive back pay.

Judge Walter Treanor wrote the appeals court decision, with Judges Evan A. Evans and Otto Kerner concurring.

Greenebaum employs 650 workers in its two Chicago plants and has a factory in Milwaukee.

HOGS DECLINE; REFLECT LAG IN PORK DEMAND

Lowest pork prices in about six weeks helped to weaken the hog market yesterday. Receipts of hogs were light thruout the country, but the depressed condition of the pork trade more than offset the effects of the small receipts. Both the top and average prices of hogs at the Chicago stockyards were off 5 cents at $5.50 and $5.15, respectively.

Little change occurred in the market for cattle. The supply of less than 500 head on the open market was too small to put quotations to a test in all classes.

Slaughter lambs advanced unevenly 10 to 25 cents. The top was $10.50.

ILLINOIS GROUP BEGINS DRIVE ON TRADE BARRIERS

Completes Survey of 8 States' Bans.

The Illinois Chamber of Commerce yesterday launched an intensive campaign to remove interstate trade barriers. L. E. Leverone, chairman of the legislative division of the chamber, announced the attack would be made thru the chambers of commerce of the other states.

L. E. Leverone.

Leverone said the Illinois chamber has just completed a study of the barriers existing between this state and Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, and Wisconsin. The chamber will call a meeting of representatives of all these states as soon as preparations are completed.

Survey Sent to Chambers.

Both Wisconsin and Illinois chambers are setting up special committees to confer on the problem.

After more than three months of research, the Illinois chamber has completed a 58 page brochure listing trade barriers existing between these eight states. Comparable laws are listed side by side for easy analysis.

The chamber is sending copies of the brochure to each chamber of commerce and to the members of the intergovernmental coöperation committee of the Illinois legislature. The chamber is coöperating closely with the council of state governments, leading foe of state trade barriers.

Fewer trade barriers exist between Illinois and Wisconsin than between most states, Leverone said. He declared that Illinois should use every measure of precaution because it is an "exporting" state.

Assail Conflicting Rules.

Washington, D. C., March 22 (AP).—Spokesmen for motor carrier interests contended before the monopoly investigating committee today that conflicting state regulations have imposed heavy burdens on interstate truck transportation, but officials of two states defended their rules as a necessary exercise of police power.

Proposals for coöperative action among states and localities to permit smoother flow of commodities on the highways, and protests against multiple and nonuniform taxes and regulations were submitted by John V. Lawrence, American Trucking associations; Leon F. Banigan, National Council of Private Motor Truck Owners; and Park M. Smith, National Association of Motor Bus Operators.

Kentucky defended its limit of 18,000 pounds on the gross weight of loaded trucks, its representative asserting that "where there are as many traffic hazards as there are in Kentucky, the admission to state highways of trucks larger or heavier than those now allowed would not remove any imaginary 'trade barrier' but would rather create an insurmountable barrier to traffic."

Sterling, Canadian Dollar Strengthen at New York

The British pound sterling and the Canadian dollar yesterday made small gains in terms of American money in foreign exchange dealings at New York. Trading was thinned by the Good Friday holiday in securities and many commodities markets. Quotations were mostly nominal. The pound rose ⅜ cent and the Canadian dollar ⅛ cent.

ARMY ORDERS 3,365 DODGE TRUCKS OF 4 WHEEL DRIVE TYPE

Detroit, Mich., March 22 (AP).—Chrysler corporation today announced it had received an order from the United States army for 3,365 Dodge trucks. The order included two types—half ton vehicles on 116 inch wheel bases and one and one-half ton units on 133 inch wheel bases.

All the vehicles will be four wheel drives with transmissions so designed that the front wheel drive can be cut out and able to maintain a top speed of 45 miles an hour.

K. T. Keller, president of Chrysler corporation, said the latest order brings the total army purchases from Dodge in the last few months up to 10,786 vehicles.

STEEL SCHEME FOR BONNEVILLE AREA ASSAILED

The New Deal's proposal to establish a Pacific coast steel industry using cheap electric power from the Bonneville dam at Bonneville, Ore., is impracticable, Iron Age said yesterday in an article titled "And President Roosevelt said, Let There be a Pacific Coast Steel Industry."

The magazine, which is a leading journal of the steel industry, declared that the Bonneville area, which is near Portland, Ore., fails to meet a major requirement for economic steel and iron production—the centering of manufacturing operations at a point where the assembly of raw materials is at a minimum in relation to the consuming market served.

"Investment in a purely electric smelting installation having the capacity to produce 330,000 tons of pig iron yearly would be nearly twice as large as the investment needed for a single coke blast furnace rated at 1,000 tons per day," the article said.

Iron Age declared that another obstacle to the development of a Pacific coast steel industry by "governmental decree' is an almost complete lack of coking coal deposits in the Pacific coast states.

GREATER CHICAGO PLAN GETS BIG AID FROM BUSINESS

Oscar G. Mayer, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, announced yesterday that the committees of the Greater Chicago Plan now have 1,123 business and professional leaders serving in active capacities.

In addition to the 35 functional and 58 divisional committees, representatives of more than 200 other civic minded groups are coöperating with the association, Mayer said.

The Greater Chicago Plan, sponsored by the association, is being conducted for the development of Chicago's commercial and civic affairs.

Cheer up—the sun's gonna shine some more! And when it does it's good for you to get out in it and walk to your office instead of spending so much time commuting. You can do that down here and do so many things you like to do and still get a good night's sleep. It's not unusual to have a living room 2 stories high or one 37 feet long. We try to have things unusual but delightful and we like that sort of a tenant too—the kind that likes fireplaces and such things. A few furnished and some marvelous layouts for combining your home and business.
